

STOMACH TROUBLE FOR FIVE YEARS

Majority of Friends Thought Mr. Hughes Would Die, But One Helped Him to Recovery.

I have now been taking Black-Draught for three months, and it has cured me—haven't had those awful sick headaches since I began using it.

Pomeroyton, Ky.—In interesting advices from this place, Mr. A. J. Hughes writes as follows: "I was down with stomach trouble for five (5) years, and would have sick headache so bad, at times, that I thought surely I would die. I tried different treatments, but they did not seem to do me any good. I got so bad, I could not eat or sleep, and all my friends, except one, thought I would die. He advised me to try Theodor's Black-Draught, and quit

On "Back to the Soil With Wall Street"

When Wall Street wants good business men she usually goes back to the soil to get them. That financial thought is said to be honeycombed with men who have plowed barefooted, who have drunk branch water, eaten cornbread and molasses and slept on the floor in their early days. A man is more capable of holding the reins of business who knows how to drive a team of mules, shear a sheep or put a ring in a shoat's nose. A man is better equipped to meet the problems of life who in his youth has walked the log across the creek to get to school, courted the girls at husking bees and pitched horse shoes Saturday afternoon. A man who has spent the moonlight nights of his youth possum hunting, going to protracted meetings and occasionally turning down the community at a spelling match has the right sort of stuff in him to make a good business man. The active officials of most of the large business organizations of America do it in a very few exceptions, raised on the farm, and could swim the creek, pitch hay, chop wood, milk the cows or slip the hogs as easily as they can run world-wide business institutions.

The farmers look to these capable and loyal sons of the soil to assist in the solution of the business problems of agriculture. Wall Street is reputed to be capable of financing everything from a Y. M. C. A. to a war, so why not finance agriculture? It is not sufficient to lend money to a correspondent to lend to a local banker, to lend to a broker to lend to a merchant, to lend to the landlord to lend to a farmer. Such a financial system sounds like the house that Jack built, and is just about as useful. Neither is assistance complete when money is furnished buyers to "move the crop." What the farmer wants is money to hold the crop. What better security is there than a warehouse receipt for a bale of cotton, a sack of wheat or a bushel of corn and why will such securities not travel by the side of government bonds?

The American farmer is a capable plowman. He always has filled and always will fill the nation's granary, larder and wardrobe, but he has nothing to say in fixing the price of his products. The problem confronting the farmer of this nation today is marketing and its solution depends first upon the farmer organizing for concert of action and the co-operation of the financial interests in marketing the crop. Agriculture is the biggest business in America and the only one that has not a financial system adapted to its use.

TEUTONIC ALLIES MAKING PROGRESS

WARSAW HAS BEEN STRIPPED OF EVERYTHING OF MATERIAL VALUE.

TRYING TO BOTTLE RUSSIANS

A Retreat Will Not Be Possible if Operations of Austro-Germans Meet With Success.

London.—The armies of the Teutonic Allies have made appreciable progress in their campaign to capture Warsaw and drive the Russians from Poland or capture them, according to the latest official communication issued by the German War Office. In the admirably important strategic sector of Chelm-Lublin Field Marshal von Mackensen is declared to have pierced the Russian positions and reached the Chelm-Lublin railway, taking many thousands of prisoners during the movement. In addition, it is asserted that the front between the Vistula and the Bug has been shaken by the attacks of the Austro-Germans and that the Muscovites have evacuated their positions along the entire line, while General von Woyrach has forced a passage of the Vistula to the south of Warsaw and is now engaging the Russians on the right bank of the great waterway.

In the southeastern theater Berlin asserts that the Russians are now resisting the Teutons only to the north of Grubehow, which lies on the west bank of the Bug some 50 miles southeast of Lublin. The German armies to the north of Warsaw seemingly are marking time, possibly with the intention of allowing the Austro-Germans to the south and southeast to bring their lines farther north in the process of enveloping the Polish Capital before Field Marshal von Hindenburg again takes up vigorously his drive south and southeastward to effect a junction with and bring to a climax the Polish campaign. The situation in the north, according to Berlin, is at present unchanged.

BECKER MEETS DEATH BOLDLY

Walked Composedly to Electric Chair Murnaring a Prayer. Sing Sing Prison, Ossining, N. Y.—Charles Becker was put to death in the electric chair here for the killing of Herman Rosenthal, the New York gambler. The former New York police lieutenant retained his composure and protested his innocence to the last. He went to his death with a photograph of his wife pinned on his shirt over his heart. Three shocks were given before the prison physicians pronounced Becker dead at 5:55 o'clock.

Two Bluejackets Are Killed

Washington.—Two American bluejackets were killed in an attack by natives on Port au Prince, Haiti, held by Rear Admiral Caperton with 400 men from the cruiser, Washington. The attacking party was beaten off without having approached closer than the outskirts of the city and order was maintained in the city itself. No sailors were wounded and the loss of the attacking forces was not reported. The dead: William Gompers, seaman of Brooklyn; Cason S. Whitehurst, ordinary seaman, of Norfolk, Va.

Reinforcements had been ordered to Haiti before word of the fighting was received. The battleship Connecticut has sailed from Philadelphia with a regiment of marines, numbering 600 men. The Navy transport Hancock, now being overhauled at Philadelphia, also will go to Haiti. It is said, although it is not known what force she will carry.

England May Buy Cotton

London.—Whispering action in British Government takes with regard to cotton—whether it merely be kept out of Germany or declared contraband. The Spectator in an editorial article expresses the opinion that the Southern cotton growers of the United States should be recompensed. The pressure of this newspaper goes on to say, "which the enormous cotton industry of the democratic south can bring to bear on the democratic president, is indeed the crux of the situation."

Difficult Demands by England

Washington.—Consul General Skinner at London notified the state department of a new British regulation requiring masters and sailors on neutral ships visiting British ports to be provided with passports or identification papers and to present such papers for registry if remaining more than 24 hours in British waters. A large proportion of the crews of American ships are neither native Americans nor naturalized Americans and cannot receive passports from the United States.

Employees Get Bonus

Hartford, Conn.—Employees of the Colt Patent Firearms Company were informed that a bonus of 12 1/2 per cent would be paid to all, based on wages earned and dating from May 1 last. The action was voluntary, on the part of the company.

Cotton Receipts

Galveston, Tex.—Cotton receipts here for 1914-1915 season amounted to 4,029,022 bales, the largest ever recorded here. The previous record was in 1913-1914, 4,036,009 bales.

Labor Supports Wilson

Washington.—After a two-day session here a convention called by Labor's National Peace Council and composed of representatives of organized farmers and labor bodies adopted memorial pleading the convention's support of the national administration in every patriotic effort and urging that every means be employed to keep the country out of the European war. Copies will be sent to President Wilson, his cabinet and members of congress. Aver Williams presided at the convention.

FARM ANIMALS

PROPER CARE OF BROOD SOW

Animal is Often Neglected Before and After She is Bred—Furnish Her With Separate Pen.

The care of the brood sow is too many times neglected before and after she is bred. Many times they are kept in the same lot with the fattening hogs, which is a sad mistake and almost sure to result in a weak bunch of pigs. Good care at this time means much towards a good crop of strong, healthy pigs.

Pigs in Clover.

"I'll wander around quite a little if the weather is nice, and pick up a good deal of their living. Another important part at this time is the feed. Their feed should be of rather a bulky ration. Corn should be fed moderately along with alfalfa hay, some mill feeds, and a small quantity of oil meal or tankage. The sows should be kept gaining slowly from the time they are bred till farrowing time and care should be taken that the feeds are not too fattening. A week or so before farrowing time, each sow should be shut by herself and watched closely. Her feed should be reduced a little. If this plan were followed more closely, the average of the pig crop would be somewhat larger.

SHEEP AND SOIL FERTILITY

Everything Possible Should Be Done to Bring Ewes to Vigorous Condition at Mating Period.

As the country ages and the fertility of its fields becomes exhausted its appreciation of the sheep will increase. Early maturity of the sheep is of important quality to consider in selecting sheep. Whether you are keeping sheep for pleasure or profit, your desires will be more fully met if your flock is of superior quality. A strong sheep does not necessarily have to mean a large one; in fact, a majority of the strongest ewes are medium in size. Every sheep owner should keep a purebred ram, but every man is not qualified to keep purebred stock. Everything possible should be done to bring the ewes to a vigorous, flesh-forming condition at the mating period. Sheep are excellent farm cleaners, weed killers and fertilizers.

HOGS SUBJECT TO DISEASES

Mange is Difficult to Eradicate Because of the Burrowing Habit of the Parasites.

Hogs are subject to a variety of skin diseases. Two of these, although quite different, are both known as mange. Pitch mange is not a true mange, but rather an eczema, and affects hogs that are not in vigorous health and when kept in filthy pens and bad surroundings. Light-skinned hogs appear somewhat more susceptible to this than others. The skin is at first red and perhaps swollen. Small red spots appear and subsequently change to blisters, which dry and form crusts. The main treatment needed is simple cleanliness and the sort of feed that will make the hog healthy and vigorous. It usually means a complete change of surroundings and plenty of good food.

LIVE STOCK

HOW TO RAISE ORPHAN COLTS

Foal May Be Raised on Cow's Milk in Case of Accident—Attendant Must Be Patient.

In this record of the division of the kingdom and its cause we still see God over all controlling and in all working, for He has foreseen everything from the beginning and provided for every so-called emergency and always tells the final outcome. This division of the kingdom has never been hented till this day, but it will be in His time, according to Ezek. xxxvii, 21, 22, "I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all, and they shall be 'no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all.'"

The foal grows, gradually increasing the amount of milk fed and lengthen the intervals between meals. In a few days food may be given six times a day and, later, four times daily. The foal will soon learn to drink from a pail, if allowed to suck the attendant's fingers at first.

Until the bowels move freely give rectal injections night and morning. The foal scores, at any time give two to four tablespoonfuls of a mixture of sweet oil and pure castor oil shaken up in milk, and stop feeding milk for two or three meals, allowing sweetened warm water and lime water instead. Let the foal lick oatmeal as soon as it will eat and gradually increase the amount and add wheat bran. In five or six weeks some sweet skim milk may be given and the amount gradually increased daily until, in three months or so, it may be given freely three times a day in.

place of new milk. The foal at this age also will be eating freely of grass, grain and bran.

BREEDING CRATE FOR SWINE

Stout Frame Made of Two by Four Stuff, Closed in Front and Open Behind, is Useful Device.

In answer to a query for an illustration and description of a breeding crate for hogs, one is taken from "Swine in America," by Coburn, and is given herewith:

"It is a stout frame made, say, of two by four inch stuff, closed in front and open behind, with a bar adjusted to slip behind the sow above the hocks, and a two by four inch strip attached to the forward end of the crate on either side at about where the sow's head comes, and extending to the rear and bottom where it is fastened. These strips are for the sow's forward feet to rest upon and hold his weight off the sow. A very good size for such a crate is five and one-half or six feet in length, two feet four inches in width, and three feet high. Cleats can be nailed crosswise of the crate floor to prevent the sow's slipping. When necessary, in breeding a small boar to a large sow, a raised platform for his hind feet, such as the illustration shows, can be produced."

HORSE CARE

Don't whip the horse if he is afraid. Talk gently to him. Don't forget his salt. Don't put a rough, dirty bit in his mouth, nor a frosty one. Don't hitch him in the cold unprotected by blankets, and hitch him so the wind will not be in his face. Notice how horses in lot always turn tail to a cold wind. Give him enough to eat of good, wholesome food, and all the good water he wants.

FOR A SPRAINED ANKLE

If you will get a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and observe the directions given therewith faithfully, you will recover in much less time than is usually required. Obtainable everywhere.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson VI.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 8, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, 1 Kings xliii-48. Memory Verse, 18—Golden Text, Prov. xvi, 18—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In this record of the division of the kingdom and its cause we still see God over all controlling and in all working, for He has foreseen everything from the beginning and provided for every so-called emergency and always tells the final outcome. This division of the kingdom has never been hented till this day, but it will be in His time, according to Ezek. xxxvii, 21, 22, "I will make them one nation in the land upon the mountains of Israel; and one king shall be king to them all, and they shall be 'no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all.'"

The cause was from the Lord, that He might perform His saying, which the Lord spoke by Ahijah, the Shilonite, unto Jeroboam, the son of Nebat. "Thus saith the Lord, Ye shall not go up to fight against your brethren, the children of Israel; return every man to his house, for this thing is from Me." (1 Kings xli, 23, 31; xlii, 15, 24). Even the devil cannot touch a child of God without God's permission, as we see in the case of Job and of Simon Peter.

The believer who aims to walk with God in humility and obedience may live in continuous peace and quietness, assured that all things are God's best for him and that no real evil can ever befall him. But if there is disobedience or willfulness God will in love and wisdom chasten for our good. Solomon being dead, Rehobam, his son, reigned in his stead, all Israel having made him king at Shechem (xli, 1; II Chron. 1). When Jeroboam heard in Egypt that Solomon was dead he returned and, with a deputation, waited upon Rehobam with a request that he would lighten the burdens which his father's magnificent reign had caused to be placed upon them. He asked for three days to consider their request, and meantime lay in wait with the old men and then with his young men. The former advised moderation and that he speak kindly to the people, but the latter advised increased severity. So when the third day came and Jeroboam and the people came again for his reply he spoke to them as the young men had advised, for the Lord was by their very counsel.
