SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson I.—First Quarter, For Jan. 2, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts 1, 1-14—Memory Verses, 10, 11—Golden Text, Eph. 4, 8—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

Luke tells us that in his former treatise, his gospel, he had written of all that Jesus began to do and teach, and this book, which we begin today, might well be called the record of that which Jesus continued to do and teach through His apostles, notably Peter and John and Paul and the evangelists Stephen and Philip. Note the order of the words "do and teach" and the many places where the order is the same or the parallel words "seen and heard." The doings are seen and the teaching is heard (Mark vi, 30; Acts iv, 2; John i, 3). We cannot properly teach what we have not first learned to do. The day in which He was taken up carries us back to the taking up of Enoch and Elijah and on to the taking up of all true believers at His coming to the earth for His people (1 Thess. iv, 16-18). In the forty days between His resurrection and His ascension He showed Himself alive at least ten times and after His ascension twice to Paul, also to Stephen and John. The same Holy Spirit who controlled Him before His death spoke by Him after His resurrection and, as always, concerning the kingdom of God (verse 2, 3).

Note how this book, like the whole Bible, begins and ends with the kingdom of God (Acts xviii, 23, 31), but observe that the kingdom always means dominion over all things on the whole earth, given to Christ by the Father and by Christ shared with His redeemed. It was at hand and preached by John the Baptist and the Lord Jesus and the twelve and the seventy, but being violently rejected and the King crucified it was postponed till He should come again, according to Luke xii, 11, 12; Acts iii, 21. The disciples understood, and rightly, too (verse 6), that the center of the kingdom will be a restored Israel, for apart from a righteous Israel and the throne of the Lord at Jerusalem the long postponed kingdom cannot be. The kingdom being rejected and postponed and the time of the King's return known only to God, He is gathering from all the world an elect people who shall reign with Him when He shall come again to set up His kingdom. This is the mystery hidden in the ages past and revealed specially to Paul (Eph. iii, 3-6). To this, end the Holy Spirit has been specially sent to testify of a risen and glorified Christ, who is waiting at the Father's right hand for the building of His body, the church, His Eve, who shall share with Him the dominion as truly as Rebecca and Ruth shared with Isaac and Boaz all their wealth.

The disciples were to wait for the special power for this service and, witnessing the power of the Holy Spirit, then bear witness to the Lord from Jerusalem unto the uttermost parts of the earth.

The great testimony is that Jesus Christ is risen and alive forevermore at the right hand of the Father and gladly receiving all who come unto God by Him and are willing to live in the power of His resurrection life and help to gather from all nations His holy church.

Here human wisdom cannot grasp His purpose, nor can the best scholarship understand or be of any use to Him apart from the only power and the only teacher, the Holy Spirit. When He had spoken His last message to them, while they beheld Him was taken up from them, or as it is written in Luke xxiv, 50, 51, "While He blessed them, He was parted from them and carried up into heaven." With what utter amazement they must have seen Him ascend from their midst and how steadfastly they must have gazed upon Him until the cloud hid Him from their sight!

We do not know that any one said he was swept away in a whirlwind with hooves and chariot of fire. This was a quiet, visible taking as He talked with them and blessed them, suggestively to the fact that He is still blessing or ready to bless.

As they, in wonder and awe, watched the cloud that hid Him from their view two men stood by them and said very plainly that He had gone up into heaven, as it is written in Luke xxiv, 50, 51, "While He blessed them, He was parted from them and carried up into heaven." With what utter amazement they must have seen Him ascend from their midst and how steadfastly they must have gazed upon Him until the cloud hid Him from their sight!

One result of this message was that they worshipped Him and returned to Jerusalem with great joy and continued in prayer and praise (verse 14, 15; Acts xxv, 52, 53). There is no more joyful topic than that of the coming again of the Lord Jesus to the earth to welcome His people and then back to Olivet with His people to set up His Kingdom, with the throne of David as its earthly center (Zeph. iii, 14, 15; Zech. xiv, 4, 5; Luke i, 32, 33). There are no more joyous messages than these, and they are the only ones that will ever be given to this world, as in Gen. xii, 2, for which we are waiting.

PITTSBURGH BANK FAILS TO OPEN

State Department Closes Old Institution.

FUNDS OF 41,000 PUPILS

The Deposits Are Nearly $1,000,000 and the State Will Liquidate the Assets.

Christmas cheer in Pittsburgh received a setback when the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, one of the best known institutions in the city, failed to open for business.

Tacked to the front door was a notice which said that it had been closed by order of the Pennsylvania banking department, and G. H. Getty, bank examiner, had been appointed temporary receiver.

It was known in the financial district that the bank had been unable to weather the storms it has encountered since the failure of James S. Kuhn and W. S. Kuhn, said to have been identified with the bank in 1913. It was at that time continued several days, but strong interests went to its assistance, and the doors were not closed.

Recently, it became known that the banking department was playing particular attention to the bank, and an effort was being made to interest bondholders who hitherto had not been identified with the institution. Old stockholders surrendered their holdings, and it was understood a month ago that the situation was much improved. The announcement came as a distinct shock.

The Pittsburgh Bank for Savings was chartered in 1862 with a capital stock of $300,000. In 1901, it absorbed the Real Estate Savings bank, and in 1908, the capitalization was increased to $500,000 by a stock dividend from surplus.

Depositors of the bank include many persons with savings accounts, although the institution did a general business. Deposits on September 15, 1915, were $1,045,713, according to the report made to the banking commissioner. On the same date the surplus was reported at $402,514.

It was stated that the bank had approximately 75,000 depositors, of whom fully 30,000 lived in other parts of the country, as the bank was among the first to take savings accounts by mail.

The savings of some 41,000 school children are included in the bank's deposits. By this plan, school children would take their money to school on a certain day of each week, and a collector for the bank would call at various school buildings, giving them credit on their books for the amounts deposited. This practice was in effect for years, and many thousands of dollars had been deposited by the children. It was said that scores of successful persons in the city, who began saving in this way have continued their business relations with the institution ever since.

Three Girls Hit by Train.

Three girls were injured, two probably fatally, when they were struck by a D. L. & W. passenger train at Forty Fort, near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on Saturday afternoon.

The girls, Helen Honick, Marie Jones and Helen Honick, each seventeen years old, were walking along the tracks on their way to work in a mill. They stepped from in front of a freight train directly in the path of the passenger train. The Honick girl will recover.

Army Secret Service Stolen.

A reversible telescopic indirect firing sight, the property of the United States army, the design of which has been carefully guarded by the government, disappeared from three-inch field gun in the armory of the second field artillery of the National Guard, it was stated. Its intrinsic value is small. The supposed theft has been reported to the police.

An Explosion Friday a Week.

In the Municipal Election in Rochester, N. Y.

In November John G. Thomas, Republican, was elected on the face of the return, James D. Smith, Democrat, who ran against Thomas, contested on the ground of errors in the count and the courts have decided in his favor.

He was waiting to board a train to the shops when an engine on another track knocked him under the train. The victim was 35 years old and leaves a widow and three children.

Liberty Bell in Coal.

Senator C. A. Snyder, of Pottsville, Pa., has had replicas of the liberty bell made from anthracite and will send to friends these unique souvenirs of the bell's trip to San Francisco.

The bells have been carved out of solid coal by James Cunningham, of Summit Hill, and upon the top is the initial letter of the surname of the recipient, set in sulphur gems, from the mines, which have the beautiful mellow color of old gold.

Nothing has been omitted to make the souvenir a perfect copy of the bell, the famous crack being reproduced with fidelity.

Why You Are Nervous

The nervous system is the alarm system of the human body. In perfect health we hardly realize that we have a network of nerves, but when health is ebbing, when strength is declining, the same nervous system gives the alarm in headaches, dizziness, dreamlike sleep, irritability and unclean conduct.

To correct nervousness, Scott's Emulsion is exactly what you should take; its rich nutrient gets into the blood and makes the body healthy. It is the only tonic the whole system responds to in its refreshing tonic force. It is free from alcohol.

ALLIES LEAVING THE DARDANELLES

London Announces Evacuation of Positions.

END OF DISMAL CAMPAIGN

British Forces Are Sent "Elsewhere," Probably to Egypt or the Balkans.

Allied troops are being withdrawn from the Dardanelles campaign, it was officially announced by the war office in London, in a statement. It was said that all troops on the Anzac and Suvla bay fronts were being sent "elsewhere."

The hardest infantry fighting at the Dardanelles has taken place on the fronts of Anzac and Suvla bays, on the western side of the peninsula. Farther to the southwest, near Krithia and Seddul-Bahr, the operations were confined chiefly to artillery duelling.

It was reported concurrently with the war office announcement that part of the troops withdrawn from the peninsula will be sent into Egypt. If all the allied troops are withdrawn from the peninsula it will remain a Turkish army of approximately 250,000 men for service in some other field of action.

Some of the British fighting at the Dardanelles has been reported as the "Anzac" front, but it is a scene of furious attack, the allies were able to achieve no striking successes, being held by the Turks to the east of the peninsula, and the allied fleet. The loss of life at both these positions has been very heavy.

The official statement says that "the troops, together with their guns and stores, have been successfully transferred, with insignificant casualties."

"Thank God, they are safely out of there without serious loss," is an expression frequently heard in London in connection with the transfer of the Anzac troops, although this is invariably coupled with regrets that it should have been regarded necessary to evacuate the large footholds on the peninsula, obtained at such a heavy cost in casualties.

No mention is made in the announcement of the transfer of army troops from the top of the Peninsula, at Seddul-Bahr and other positions. It is said that the statement leaves the public to draw its own conclusions as to the destination of the Australian and United Kingdom forces, which must be well over 100,000 strong, now withdrawn, but it is widely conjectured that any southward sweep of the Teutonic or Bulgarian armies of the Balkans, whether from the north, west or east, will sooner or later come in contact with them, and that the transfer is connected with a determination on the part of the entente powers not to remain on the defensive in the near future, but to make a dash for it, and to require to assure the success of a forward march.

Calomel Dynamites A Sluggish Liver

Crashes into sour bile, making you sick and you loose a day's work.

Calomel salivates! It's mercury, Calomel acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver. When calomel comes in contact with sour bile it causes it to caustic gripping and nausea.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just get your digester and get a 50c bottle of Dr. Cassell's Liver Tonic which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't give you relief, return your money back.

If you take calomel today you'll be sick and nauseated tomorrow; besides it may salivate you, while if you take Dr. Cassell's Liver Tonic you will wake up feeling great, full of ambition and ready for work or play. It's harmless, pleasant and safe to give to children; like like!
