WILSON NOT TO REST BEFORE SESSION

MAY TAKE SEVERAL WEEK-END TRIPS IN MAYFLOWER, HOWEVER.

CONSIDERS APPOINTMENTS

President to Give Time Preceding Convening of Congress on Important Administration Affairs—Working on Annual Message.

Washington.—President Wilson has decided not to take a vacation before Congress convenes, but may go on one or more week-end trips down the Potomac River on the naval yacht Mayflower. He was urged to go to a Virginia resort for a brief stay, but reached the conclusion that it would be impossible. The President has almost completed the selection of members of the tariff commission and shipping board created by Congress last session and probably will make an announcement of the personnel of both before Congress meets. He has made but little progress, however, in the selection of members of the board to administer the workmen's compensation act for Federal employees. One typewritten page of the annual message to Congress has been finished by the President and he is devoting all of his spare time to this work.

PROCLAMATION ISSUED FOR THANKSGIVING DAY.

President Sets Apart November 30 as Day of Praise For Blessings of Peace and Unbroken Prosperity.

Washington.—President Wilson has formally by proclamation designated Thursday, November 30, as Thanksgiving Day. Here follows the President's proclamation:

"It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful Autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us and the Nation.

"The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but the whole face of the world has been darkened by war. In the midst of our peace and happiness, our thoughts dwell with painful disquiet upon the struggles and sufferings of the Nations at war and of the peoples upon whom war has brought disaster without choice or possibility of escape on their part. We cannot think of our own happiness without thinking of their pitiful distress.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, the 30th of November, as a day of National thanksgiving and prayer, and urge and advise the people to resort to their several places of worship on that day to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity which He has bestowed upon our beloved country in such untold measure.

"And I also urge and suggest our duty, in this our day of peace and abundance, to think in deep sympathy of the stricken peoples of the world upon whom the curse and terror of war has so pitilessly fallen, and means to the relief of their sufferings.

"Our people could in no better way show their attitude towards the present struggle of the Nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which war has brought in its train.

"In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this 17th day of November in the year of Our Lord, 1916, and of the Independence of the United States, the 51st.

"WOODROW WILSON,
Secretary of State."

MUCH PROGRESS MADE BY W. C. T. U. REPORTS SHOW.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Reports showing good progress in the forming of new branch organizations during the past year were made at the opening session of the annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union here. Figures showed that 660 new legions of the Loyal Temperance Legion branch had been organized, and that nine states had been awarded honorable mention for the number of new legions formed.

BORDER CONFERENCE ADJOURNS DEADLOCKED

Atlantic City, N. J.—The Mexican-American joint commission adjourned for a few days with the conference in what is regarded as a deadlock. When the meetings are resumed this week, it is expected the representatives of the two governments will be fully informed as to the wishes of their chiefs. Luis Cabrera, chairman of the Mexican commission, successfully interferred with the adoption of a plan for border control.

Great Atmosphere. Everyone can enter into the atmosphere of greatness, and gain its vision. It is simply a question of believing in the best things, and in our power to attain them.—Hamilton W. Mabie.

FOREIGN SITUATION CHIEF STUDY NOW

INTERNATIONAL ISSUES BEFORE PRESIDENT BOTH COMPLICATED AND PRESSING.

MUST DECIDE VERY SOON

From Now on President Expects to Deal With All Foreign Questions Without Embarrassment and Without Delay.

Washington.—A portentous and complicated international situation now faces President Wilson and for the next few weeks will engage his attention and that of his advisers to the practical exclusion of all but the most urgent of domestic subjects. In the last days of the campaign Secretary of State Lansing frequently spoke of the necessity of postponing action on the more delicate international questions because of the uncertainty of the outcome of the political contest had a direct bearing on the success or failure of some of the administration policies.

From now on the President expects to deal with all foreign questions without embarrassment and he is receiving from his advisers a summary of the outstanding issues so essential to taking stock of the basic situation which must be met now that international relations have returned to their place of prime importance. While it is not evident that there will be any fundamental change in policy, freedom from fear that any move at all would be misinterpreted as inspired by an internal political struggle has been removed. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing feel themselves able to act with a single eye to the international situation and their immediate conferences on the President's return to Washington, indicate how pressing they feel the situation to be.

The President must decide how the United States shall meet the German submarine question on that one hand, the Entente Allied trade restrictions on the other, whether the retaliatory legislation shall be enforced, whether the traditional theory of isolation shall be abandoned for concerted neutral action, and whether the country shall have an aggressive or a passive policy toward the peace conference; the war after the war, and the Permanent League to Enforce Peace which the President has accepted in theory, and during the reaction of the war shall America's attitude be governed by a decided benevolence in the interpretation of international law according to its own best interests or shall it be strictly legalistic, regardless of whom it affects?

SEC. LANE IS TOLD TO END BORDER PLAN CONFERENCE.

Diplomatic Settlement of Disputes Awaiting is Remote Unless Commission Agree on Arrangement Already Submitted.

Washington.—Armed with President Wilson's complete approval of his course, Secretary Lane returned to Atlantic City Monday determined to bring the session of the American-Mexican Joint Commission to an early conclusion. He is still hopeful that an agreement as to the border situation can be reached but it was clearly indicated in official circles that the joint conference in entering on its final phase, agreement or no agreement.

If the commissioners find it impossible to formulate a plan the question taken here will be that the prospect of settling border disputes through diplomacy will be remote. Secretary Lane is understood to have found President Wilson, Secretary Lansing and Secretary Baker in full accord with him on every point when he laid before them in a three-hour conference at the White House a review of the efforts the American commissioners had made to reach a settlement. Mr. Lane said he was well pleased with the results of the White House conference but would not otherwise comment.

SECOND INAUGURATION OF WILSON SIMPLE.

Washington.—President Wilson's second inauguration probably will be a comparatively simple affair. He is known to desire that there should be little ceremony. It is accepted as certain by officials that there will be no inaugural ball in spite of the hope of Washington citizens for such an event. The recent death of the President's sister, Mrs. Anne Howay, the fact that March 4 falls on Sunday next year, are reasons for simplicity.

GIRL BREAKS AIR DISTANCE RECORDS BY LONG FLIGHT.

Binghamton, N. Y.—Attempting a non-stop flight from Chicago to New York, Miss Ruth Law, guiding a Curtiss biplane of the military scout type, shattered all American long-distance aviation records for a single flight last Sunday, when she flew from Chicago to Hornell, N. Y., a distance by railroad of about 660 miles, bettering by about 160 miles the record made by Victor Carlstrom on November 2.

WAR CENTER AGAIN SHIFTS TO ROMANIA

FRANCO-SERBIAN CAMPAIGN RESULTS IN CAPTURE OF MONASTIR BY GERMAN.

ALLIES WIN IN MACEDONIA

On the Danube Front in Dobruja Artillery Engagements Are in Progress—German Artillery Busy in the Somme Region.

London.—With the end of the first stage of the Franco-Serbian campaign, which resulted in the capitulation of Monastir by the Bulgars and Germans, and a diminution of hostilities in the Somme region of France, except for bombardments and isolated infantry actions, Rumania again has become the center of interest.

Driving eastward through western Wallachia, the Austro-German forces now are reaching out for Craiova, the Danube town of Orsova, Hungary, and Bucharest. This maneuver apparently places a menace in the rear to the retreat of the Rumanian fighting in the north on Hungarian soil and disputing with the Austro-German passage of the Transylvanian Alps leading to the plains of Wallachia.

In the Jui Valley region the retirement of the Rumanian continues, and in the Campulung sector Petragrad reports that further Rumanian attacks against the Teutonic Allies have been unsuccessful. On the Danube front in Dobruja artillery engagements are in progress from Silistria to Oltina.

The fighting in Macedonia from the Cerna River to Lake Presha has ended in a complete victory for the Entente Allied troops, says the Paris War Office. The Serbs have not yet entered Monastir, the town having been virtually destroyed, according to official accounts. The Entente forces have occupied villages to the north of the town and are declared to be still in pursuit of the Germans and Bulgarians.

RESERVE BOARD COUNCIL REPORTS BUSINESS GOOD.

Advisory Council of Federal Reserve Board Holds Quarterly Conference.

Washington.—Prominent bankers from nearly every section of the country, composing the advisory council of the Federal Reserve Board met here for the council's quarterly conference. They discussed foreign credit, discount rates, the gold situation and business conditions generally and submitted recommendations at a joint conference with the Reserve Board.

A preliminary session W. P. G. Harding, governor of the Board of Reserve Bank, outlined the board's findings and said the board's reports show business conditions to be good generally throughout the country. After the joint session, the council met in executive session.

AGREE WITH MEXICAN MINE OWNERS ON TAX RATES.

Atlantic City, N. J.—Luis Cabrera, Minister of Finance, announced here that at a conference in New York he had reached an agreement with representatives of a large group of mine owners on a new schedule of taxes which the mine owners admitted would enable them to reopen their properties. On the gold and silver ore the reduction was from 10 to 8 per cent and on bullion from 8 to 5 per cent.

33,000 MILL OPERATORS TO GET WAGE ADVANCE.

New Bedford, Mass.—The cotton manufacturers' association of this city voted to grant a 10 per cent increase in pay to their 33,000 operatives to be effective for a period of six months beginning December 4. The increase, the third within this calendar year, brings the total advance within that time to 27 1/2 per cent, and will increase the total annual payroll of the mills from about $17,300,000 to approximately $19,000,000.

MUST COVER ARMS

DISTINCT CHANGE OF FASHIONS IS TO BE NOTICED.

Short Sleeves No Longer Recognized as "in the Mode" by Those Who Are Trusting Design Women's Garments.

None of the best winter wraps have elbow sleeves; all show the arms covered right down to the wrists. And this is an excellent idea. Last winter, when it was so much the fashion to have elbow sleeves on smart wraps, coats huge muffs were popular, and the latest coat models designed by Paquin and Worth, showed large cape-collars which gave almost a full effect. When collars of this order are introduced the only other fur trimming on the wraps takes the form of wide bands on the sleeves. Long Russian blouses, made of soft-faced cloth and bordered with fur, will be fashionable for girls.

These will be knee-length and cut almost straight from neck to hem, a wide ash of embroidered and fringed silk banding them in at the waist. The Russian-blouse-coates are extremely becoming to slender figures, and they look most attractive when worn over long-length plaited skirts. Premet is one of the important dressmakers who has made the Russian blouse popular this year.

She is making the loveliest indoor costumes in this style, with the long tunic blouse in crepe de chine and the skirt underneath in accordion pleated satin. Rich borders of fur are introduced on the tunics and the most costly embroideries in which silver and gold threads play an important role.

An exquisite Premet model was expressed in navy blue chiffon and charmeuse in the same color. The knee-length Russian-tunic was made of the chiffon, and it was bordered all around with intricate embroideries worked in platinum threads. At the extreme edge there was a border of skunk, and the charmeuse skirt was closely plaited.

An effective sash made of puce-red Indian silk was wound round the waist, and a bright crimson rose being stuck into its folds. All women, and girls, will be glad to know that long straight tunics are once more fashionable. The Parisian dressmakers call these garments "chemise-tunics," and it is an excellent model which are really cut like a very full chemise.

Everything depends on just how such tunics are worn, and how the sash—always of some strongly contrasting color—is tied.

Fur trimmings are more popular than ever; for coats, dresses, hats and wraps. All the newest millinery models show effective bands of fur—some where. Take for example the original model which I have sketched this week.

This is a Lewis design and Chinese in type. The hat itself was made of black panne, and the trimming consisted of a narrow border and, on the top, a cabochon of ermine. It was an amazingly chic model and one which should be worn pulled right down over the forehead.

Big velvet lamp-shades are fashionable as ever, and they are universally becoming. The most comfortable models are those made on generous lines, with an invisible band of elastic to hold the cap in place on the head. These hats—and, indeed, hats and caps of all kinds—are worn pulled down over the forehead, slightly tilted over one eye.

Director shapes in neutral-tinted felt are popular with the smartest Parisiennes. These little hats are almost always accompanied by a circular veil made of cobweb net and bordered with fine metallic embroidery.

Fur-trimmed veils are to be worn and they are extremely attractive with autumn hats. Sometimes they are edged with a single band of fur, sometimes with three narrow bands.

"Before taking Chamberlain's Tablets my husband suffered for several years from indigestion, causing him to have pains in the stomach after eating. Chamberlain's Tablets relieved him of these spells right away," writes Mrs. Thomas Casey, Geneva, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere. adv.

Anyway the election betters on both sides got a ran for their money.

SOLDIERS CAME WITHIN ACE OF GETTING VILLA

Bandit Was Isolated When Order for Movement to North Was Given.

MOST OF RAIDERS ARE DEAD

Of the 485 Men Who Invaded Columbus 400 Are Dead, Wounded or Captured—Record Marches Made by Troops—Story of Hard Luck.

Field Headquarters, American Punitive Expedition in Mexico.—Regimental narratives of the cavalry regiments that participated in the search for Villa, which have just been brought to date and submitted to headquarters, show in detail how near the American troops came to accomplishing the full purpose of their expedition. They show that just after the Parral fight, on April 12, less than a month after the expedition had entered Mexico, it immediately prior to the order to withdraw northward from the Parral district, the Americans had run Villa, sorely wounded, to earth, and had cut off every avenue of his escape to the south into Durango.

When Maj. Frank Tompkins' hundred men were attacked at Parral, Villa, disabled, had hidden at Santa Cruz, Maj. R. L. Howze, with his hard-riding squadron of the Eleventh cavalry, close on the bandit's trail, had run by his quarry. General Pershing was at Satevo, directing operations for the cooperation of other branches of the Tenth cavalry; Col. H. T. Allen, with two picked troops of the Eleventh cavalry; Major Tompkins and Major Howze, four cavalry columns in all, were between Villa and the haven of safety he was seeking in the Sierra Madre, ready to beat the brush for him. Wounded, virtually alone, he apparently had little chance to evade capture or death. Orders for withdrawal came, however, after Parral, and the highwater mark of the expedition passed.

From the beginning of the border trouble it was to the cavalry that fell the responsibility of disposing of the Columbus raiders. That this task was accomplished is evidenced by figures showing that of the 485 men who raided Columbus four hundred have been killed, wounded or captured. Full credit is given in the narratives for the cooperation of other branches of the service, notably in establishing advanced bases and maintaining the line of communication, but the fact remains that it was the cavalry that drove Villa in head-long, panic-stricken flight into Durango, five hundred miles from the American border, scattered his band to the four winds, and set new records for marches under terrific handicaps. It also fought the four engagements that had an important bearing on the campaign:—Dodd at Guerrero, March 28; Tompkins at Parral, April 12; Dodd at Tomoche, April 21, and Howze at Ojos Azules, May 4. It was the victor, too, in the tragedy of April 21 at Carrizal.

MARCHES OF THE TROOPERS.

Two of the five cavalry regiments now in Mexico, the Seventh and Tenth, crossed the line at Culberson's ranch early in the morning of March 16. Their dash to Colonia Dublan has been a record, for they covered 100 miles in 10 days, and set new records for marches under terrific handicaps. It also fought the four engagements that had an important bearing on the campaign:—Dodd at Guerrero, March 28; Tompkins at Parral, April 12; Dodd at Tomoche, April 21, and Howze at Ojos Azules, May 4. It was the victor, too, in the tragedy of April 21 at Carrizal.

The marches of the Fifth were summarized as follows:—Naniquilpa, April 16; San Geronimo, April 23; Lake Tascente, April 24; San Antonio, May 3. About the time of the Scottsbluff conference the regiment was given a district, with Satevo as headquarters, which it was ordered to search intensively for bandits. Each cavalry regiment was allotted a similar sector of southern Chihuahua. The beating of the brush for Villistas, however, was never fully done. The Fifth, on May 10, made part of a provisional cavalry brigade to cover the withdrawal of the expedition northward at a time when 4,500 Carranzistas were reported to be within 200 miles of the Americans. Since Carrizal it has been engaged at El Valle, The Scottsbluff conference, its dash to Colonia Dublan at General Pershing's column, proceeded post haste to San Miguel, where Villa was reported. Poor guides caused delay and the bandit escaped. It then started toward Guerrero. That town was reached by forced marches 12 days out from the border, with a daily average of 32 1/2 miles. The longer day's march was on March 17, when 58 miles were covered. The route chart shows that the regiment and detachments on reconnaissance covered 5,500 miles.

Mention is made that during Colonel Dodd's historic ride his men many times had only parched corn to eat. Nearly three hundred miles was made in a single file, the troopers leading their mounts, and a number of them leaving stained footprints on the rocky trail, for their shoes had worn out. Officers and men lent their own money to buy food and forage, but it was not until the end of April that clothing could be obtained. By that time the men were in a pitiable state. Two fights stand to the record of the Seventh—Guerrero and Tomoche.

The Thirtieth, which arrived at Colonia Dublan on March 17, furnished the two picked troops which Major Tompkins commanded in his dash after Villa and which were halted at Guerrero. The itinerary of the re-

WEAR "Y" ON STOCKINGS

Not to be outdone by the fair Misses of Harvard, Yale's fair rosters have decided on a Y for their stockings.

In this way Yale hopes to offset the effect of the Harvard brand of rooting in the big game. When the big game opens the two rival teams will be represented by fair rosters with history adorned with emblems. These new college stockings which originated at Harvard through lack of forage and on March 25 they were further disabled when their shoes began to wear out. The first supply of coffee, hard bread and bacon received since March 18 was furnished the men on April 20. During that time the command subsided almost entirely on beef killed on the range and corn ground in small hand mills. No details are given concerning the scouting expeditions in which Troop C, from Ojo Federico, and Troop K, from Dublan, were engaged when cut up at Carrizal.

When Maj. Frank Tompkins' hundred men were attacked at Parral, Villa, disabled, had hidden at Santa Cruz, Maj. R. L. Howze, with his hard-riding squadron of the Eleventh cavalry, close on the bandit's trail, had run by his quarry. General Pershing was at Satevo, directing operations for the cooperation of other branches of the Tenth cavalry; Col. H. T. FINDS BABY PARALYSIS GERM

Medical Achievement is Attributed to Dr. E. C. Rosenow of Mayo Foundation at Rochester, Minn.

New York.—Medical men showed their interest when word reached this city that Dr. Edward C. Rosenow, head of the bacteriological department of the Mayo foundation at Rochester, Minn., had finally succeeded in isolating the germ which, judging from the invariable results of many experiments, is the cause of infantile paralysis.

One important result of Doctor Rosenow's work here during the summer he went back to Minnesota only a few days ago was the discovery that invariably the germ which has been isolated was found in the tonsils of children suffering from infantile paralysis. Doctor Rosenow's experiments here showed that children suffering from poliomyelitis who were not making a good recovery showed striking improvement after the tonsils had been removed.

Truly Remarkable Find. "Found an honest man yet?" we asked of Hoagness. "I can across a phenomenon today that interested me almost as much. A lady giving up housekeeping was running around trying to find a situation for a good cook," Louisville Courier-Journal.

Pride Before a Fall. Vanity of vanities. All is vanity. A rich New York woman who wanted to prevent her daughter's marriage to a penniless suitor failed as preventer because her heavy, handsome car could not catch the elopers' tin lizzie on a hilly road.

Monopoly. "That man prides himself on being a conversationalist." "Yes," replied Miss Cayenne. "It's never so happy as when he makes a string of people miss their trains while he monopolizes the bureau of information."
