TRIBUNE TO SUSPEND.

Last week's Graham Tribune contained the following:

"After this issue the Graham Tribune will suspend publication for a while, perhaps permanent. Conditions are not considered hopeful for the establishment of the paper on a paying basis."

Some might think, because the Tribune is of a different political faith to The Gleaner, that we would take a sort of pleasure in making the announcement. But it strikes us differently. The field is large enough for both The Tribune and The Gleaner and amply able to support both papers—not to the extent of making Nabobs of the owners, but yielding a comfortable income commensurate with the investment and labor expended on them.

It does not reflect credit on any progressive community to allow a newspaper to go out of business for lack of patronage. It would be hard to find a newspaper not worth the subscription price and without adequate value to its constituency. It must, however, have patronage—subscriptions and advertisements, or it cannot exist, if dependent on these.

It behooves every community to give its newspaper liberal support, and in doing so the community will be the chief beneficiary. And in this connection this community might well consider what it is losing by failing to exploit itself to a reasonable extent through the newspaper medium, and at all times it will have returned much more than it invests in the paper.

CONGRATULATIONS.

Mr. Hughes sent his congratulations to President Wilson yesterday on his reelection. He explained that the closeness of the vote in California caused the delay, as he was waiting for the official count. Well, after 15 days "watchful waiting" Mr. Hughes has concluded that his opponent and not himself will be the next President of the United States.

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria-Hungary died Tuesday night at nine o'clock. He was 86 years old, born Aug. 18, 1858, and had been on the throne for 68 years. The great European war now on was brought about largely by his determination to avenge the death of his heir, Archduke Francis Ferdinand, who was assassinated on June 28, 1914. Archduke Charles Francis, grand-nephew of the dead Emperor, will succeed him to the throne.

The Deutschland left Tuesday on her second return trip for Bremen. She went out in the day time.

The Little $2,000,000 collected by the Republicans by popular subscription is merely a little joke. At best we can only surmise, but it is probably nearer $50,000,000 if the truth were known. The Republicans were pledged to repeal the Underwood Bill. The phraseology of the Republican platform was an accident. Repeal, meant repeal of the income tax, which is over $200,000,000, nearly all of which comes out of the multi-millionaire Republicans, as there isn't so such animal in the Democratic party, so you can see they would be making a good investment, to spend fifty millions and get the income tax repealed and save over two hundred millions every year. Fine idea, eh?

Well, we do not worry if the Democrats do not control the next House of Representatives. On every measure that President Wilson recommended, there were from 40 to 70 progressively inclined Republicans supporting it and they will do so again, and we have the Senate by at least 12 votes. Republicans in the Senate are still necked, but in the House they are afraid to oppose progressive measures.

The Democrats are going to contest the seats of four newly selected—not elected—Republican Senators. New and Watson in Indiana, Sutherland in West Virginia, and McLean in Connecticut. All of these States were carried by Republican money and these Senators should be unseated on account of election frauds, of which there is ample proof. Just to think, the Republicans spent over $35,000,000 in Hartford, Connecticut alone.

Miss Margaret Locke Erwin, daughter of Mr. W. A. Erwin of Durham, was married to Mr. James Walter Glenn of Winston-Salem last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. Her father is well known and highly esteemed in the county. He lived and did business in Burlington a number of years ago.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

President Wilson Friday issued his formal proclamation setting apart Thursday, November 30th, as Thanksgiving Day. The proclamation reads as follows:
"It has long been the custom of our people to turn in the fruitful autumn of the year in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for His many blessings and mercies to us and the nation.

"The year that has elapsed since we last observed our day of thanksgiving has been rich in blessings to us as a people, but the whole of the world has been darkened by war. In the midst of our peace and happiness, our thoughts dwell with painful disquiet upon the struggle and sufferings of the nations at war and of the peoples upon whom war has brought disaster without choice or possibility of escape on their part. We cannot think of our own happiness without thinking of their pitiful distress.

"Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Thursday, the 30th day of November, as a day of National Thanksgiving and prayer, and urge and advise the people to resort to their several places of worship on that day to render thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of peace and unbroken prosperity which He has bestowed upon our beloved country in such unstinted measure.

"And I also urge and suggest our duty, in this our day of peace and abundance, to think in deep sympathy of the stricken peoples of the world upon whom the curse and terror of war has so pitilessly fallen, and to contribute out of our abundance of means to the relief of their sufferings.

"Our people could in no better way show their real attitude towards the present struggle of the nations than by contributing out of their abundance to the relief of the suffering which war has brought in its train.

"I, therefore, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done at the City of Washington, this 17th day of November in the year of our Lord, 1916, and of the independence of the United States, the 11st.

"WOODROW WILSON, President of the United States.

"ROBERT LANGSUN, Secretary of State.

FOOTBALL IN RALEIGH THANKS-GIVING DAY.

Game Between A. & M. College and Washington and Lee.
Cor. of The Gleaner.
West Raleigh, Nov. 22.—The interest of the sport lovers of North Carolina is fully entering into the Thanksgiving football game between A. & M. College and Washington and Lee at Raleigh. This will be the biggest gridiron battle to be staged on North Carolina soil this year, and the first Thanksgiving contest to be played on the turf of the Tar Heel State.

The largest attendance to ever witness a football struggle in the Tar Heel State is expected on this occasion. The State Teachers' Assembly, the meeting of the general alumni of A. & M. in the morning, and the coming of the Duke Homers accomplished what no other team, with the exception of the Navy in the early part of the season, has done in the Tar Heel State. From now on Hartsell will work his men with the one idea of getting the line team to win the Virginia aggregation. The General's eleven is generally conceded to be one of the best in the country to-day, the football fans are assured of an unusual exhibition when these two teams meet on Thanksgiving.

"OPEN WINDOW WEEK."

Something Everybody Can Do To Observe Tuberculosis Week.

N. C. Health Bulletin.

"Open Window Week" is to be observed next month in New York City in connection with Tuberculosis Week. This movement was inaugurated by the City Health Department to call attention to the value of fresh air in the prevention and cure of tuberculosis. The date of "Open Window Week" has been fixed from December 4 to 10, inclusive, the same as that of Tuberculosis Week.

Special feature days during the week will be observed as follows:
Open Window Day—Monday, December 4.

Medical Examination Day—Tuesday, December 5.

Walk to Work Day—Wednesday, December 6.

Sanitary Workshop Day—Thursday, December 7.

Child Health Day—Friday, December 8.

Sunshine Sabbath—Saturday, December 9.

Sunshine Sunday—Sunday, December 10.

To make Tuberculosis Week popular and its observance feasible and at the same time worth while to everybody is the idea of "Open Window Week." Everybody can open their windows on Monday, walk to work on Wednesday, clean up shop on Thursday and get out in the sunshine either Saturday or Sunday. And when all of this is done in one week with the idea in mind that it prevents and cures tuberculosis, it will be found to be worth while, and tuberculosis will be found to have been set back not a little distance.

The Election; its Significance.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 30, 1916.—The only vital issue that the Republicans tried to raise was the old Tariff Issue, and their defeat on this means that the country is satisfied with Mr. Wilson's method of handling this great subject. While, of course, our great export trade is due to some extent to the European war, yet it must not be forgotten that by letting down the bars to European goods, we are enabled thereby to sell them more American products. For instance, our exports to Great Britain have jumped up from $700,000,000 to the enormous sum of $1,600,000,000 for the year ending July 1st, 1916, and our purchases have increased from $300,000,000 to $650,000,000. In other words, we are buying twice as much as formerly from Great Britain and she is buying more than twice as much from us. This is freedom of trade and brings prosperity to both nations.

The most notable result of the presidential election is the joining hands of the West and the South. President Wilson was re-elected by the votes of the West and the South, which he emancipated from the Wall Street yoke. He is the only man since Andrew Jackson who has defied the money power of this country, and Woodrow Wilson has emancipated the business men of small means, and the farmers, from the yoke of Wall Street, and it was largely an appreciation of the beneficial results of the Great Federal Reserve Act, and the Rural Credit Bill that enabled Wilson to sweep the West the way he did.

The public never knows how much money is contributed to the Republican campaign funds. What is reported by the Republican National Committee is merely a drop in the bucket, which they reported at a little over $2,000,000. The real Republican campaign money is that which is taken up secretly from the great money masters of the country and which no doubt is far in excess of $25,000,000. Fake the vote of Indiana for instance, Roosevelt and Taft received 312,000 votes in Indiana in 1912. Mr. Wilson received 282,000. The figures this year are Wilson 333,000 and Hughes 310,000. The 50,000 votes that came over to Wilson came from the Progressive vote of 1912, so that leaves the Republican vote of 1912 minus the 50,000 Progressives who went over to Wilson in 1916 only 262,000 votes. So the Republican party must have carried over 50,000 negroes from the South into Indiana and voted them there. Every one knows that the Democratic party has not enough millionaires from which to raise a great campaign fund. It is desired to do so, so the claim of the colonization of negroes in such States as W. Virginia, Ohio and Indiana are therefore well founded. The Republican National Committee did their utmost to swing the State of Ohio back into their column but the Wilson flood was so overwhelming that it swept all before it.

As our election system now stands it will be easy in the future to ship negroes from the Gulf States up into the close middle Western States. The Congress of the United States should pass a law requiring that every one who wishes to vote in November should be compelled to register on June 1st, and that no national political conventions shall be held in this country until after June 1st, so by this means it would be very difficult to transfer these negro voters from one part of the country to another, before nominations are made, as there would be no national committee organization, and furthermore, the Republicans could not fry so much fat out of the millionaires before the candidate is nominated. This law should be passed at once for purifying our elections.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases you together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. It is now constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven that it is a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Instruction to Teachers.

1. As Dec. 2nd comes in the same week with Thanksgiving, and as some teachers may want to attend the Assembly at Raleigh and others may want to spend the week-end at home, the first group meeting for the teachers has been moved up from Dec. 2nd to Nov. 25th.

2. Attendance at group meetings is definitely required, and attendance or non-attendance at such meetings will be reported to the Superintendent by the Secretary. If it is impossible for a teacher to attend, a written excuse of absence is required to be sent to the Superintendent.

3. Supply yourself with and bring to the meeting, a note book.

4. Come prepared to enter freely into the discussions.

5. Make special study of the subject of spelling.

6. Bring to the meeting, Actual Census 6-21, 8-12; Actual enrollment 6-21, 8-12; average daily attendance 6-21, 8-12; percent of attendance 6-21, 8-12; number tardies, whole school. Each teacher is expected to bring this information to each group meeting without fail.

7. Teachers attending the Teachers' Assembly at Raleigh are given Friday following Thanksgiving, but it is not given for any other purpose.

STORY OF A TEXAS OUTLAW

"The Lone Star Ranger," an intensely interesting narrative of life and adventure in the Southwest.

Of the picturesque and turbulent life along the Mexican border back in the seventies, Zane Grey writes entertainingly in his latest work of fiction, "The Lone Star Ranger," which we have secured as our next serial. Book reviewers almost in unison have declared it the best story of its kind ever written. This is what some of them say:

Winter Likely to Increase Death Rate.

A bulletin from the State Board of Health puts us in mind again that as our windows go down and stay down this winter, our death rate will go up and stay up. The diseases mentioned as those whose spread and severity are most affected by foul air and indoor living are tuberculosis, diphtheria, measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, pneumonia, influenza and all sorts of infectious colds. So dependent are these diseases for their spread upon foul air that they have been named the foul air diseases.

And yet, says the bulletin, these diseases are not to be the common fate of all during the winter months, no more than was typhoid or malarial fever the lot of all during the summer. People know how to prevent them. They know that living a shut-in life without exercise or fresh air, or without observing temperate living habits as to eating, sleeping, exercising and bathing predisposes one to any of these diseases. They know also, that these diseases, one and all, are spread directly by sneezing, coughing and spitting and that to avoid the disease is to avoid the careless sneeze, cough or spitter. In addition to this, it is urged that sunshine and fresh air be admitted into the home, particularly into the sleeping, working and living rooms. The universal remedy for foul air diseases is fresh air day and night.

SUNDAY SCHOOL

Lesson IX.—Fourth Quarter, For Nov. 26, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Rom. xii, 1-6. Memory Verses, 6-9—Golden Text, Rom. xii, 1.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This is our last study in the epistles for some time to come, but the believer who desires to grow in grace and walk with the Lord will study them constantly. In our lesson of two weeks ago we gave some attention to the whole of this epistle, but a little repetition will be helpful, with some additional thoughts. The epistle, as a rule, are for believers or saints or saved sinners to build them up and fit them for service, that God may be glorified in them and other sinners saved to help complete the church and bring the time of the kingdom. The first eight chapters of this letter teach most fully and clearly that all, without exception, Jews and gentiles, are sinners and guilty before God and that salvation is a wholly of grace, apart from any works of ours, and that, being justified freely by His grace, we are made children of God, joint heirs with Jesus Christ, in the love from which nothing can separate us; that, while we wait for our redemption bodies and the deliverance of the whole creation from its bondage and groaning, we have all things freely given us in Christ and all things are working together for our highest good.

Chapters ix, x, xi may well be called an epistle within an epistle concerning Israel and its future. In our lesson chapter and onward we are told how we ought to live here in the glory of God because of all that He has done for us through grace. "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God," because of His great grace, His great love, His great salvation, the great glory of the kingdom to which He has called you, all that He has done for you, in doing now and will yet do. Let Him have your body to live in, to make a mansion of, while He is preparing your mansion in glory. In Rom. viii, 28, 29, 30, we learn that the Father, Son and Holy Spirit are all for us, and in John xv, 17, 23, we learn that they will make their home in us if we are willing, making each of us a mansion for the indwelling Trinity while our mansion in heaven is being prepared. Let us be "aboundant" in John xii, 23, are the same word in the Greek, a little noun of only four letters, and used nowhere else.

The same truth is stated a little differently in Eph. iii, 17, "that Christ may dwell or make His home in your heart by faith." The living sacrifice consists of our being willing to die to all that is of self for His sake. It cannot be self and Christ. It must be "Not I, but Christ" (Gal. ii, 20). "We who live are always delivered unto death for Jesus" says that the life of Jesus might be manifest in us through each of us (II Cor. iv, 10, 11). As it is written in Rom. viii, 35; Ps. xlv, 22, "For Thy sake we are killed all the day long." Being made accepted in the Beloved at such infinite cost, so great a sacrifice on His part. It is a reasonable service that we owe Him, both in word and deed, that He may be seen in us and known through us (Phil. iv, 18; Heb. xiii, 15, 16). We have been called out of the world to continue in it, but not of it. The whole world lieth in the wicked one. It is an evil world, and ways and customs are all opposed to God, and the only correct attitude for the believer is crucified to it and it to us (Gal. i, 4; vi, 14; John v, 19).
The works of God are beautiful, but men at enmity with God are under the control of the devil, and the condition of the world is not good, unless we have some idea of what he can do. He is a deceiver, a liar, a destroyer, a murderer, and all who are not in Christ and on His side are on the side of the devil. How can a child of God be willing to be conformed to such a world?
The word that is translated "transformed" is used only four times and twice in the account of our Lord's transfiguration (Matt. xvii and Mark 16). The other place besides here is in II Cor. iii, 18, where the translation is "are changed." Our lesson verse says that the change must be inward, the renewing of our mind, that we may be able to receive the Lord Jesus and thus become new creatures in Christ; then as we continue beholding Him we are changed by the Spirit day by day, proving more and more fully how good and acceptable and perfect the will of God is.

All that follows in our lesson chapter is the varied manifestation of the fruit of the Spirit, which He will work in us if we are yielded to Him. Verses 3:16 to 4:1 of a lowly mind and a lowly self, not thinking anything of ourselves or seeking great things for ourselves. There is a privilege in a ministry for each member of the body, as the Spirit may decide, and no room for envy or jealousy (verses 4-8). In the service of the Lord there must be diligence, with joy and patience and prayer and love; a readiness to forgive and to esteem others better than ourselves (verses 9-12). Verse 15 says that it may not be possible to live peaceably with some people, and such circumstances will need special grace and wisdom and guidance, which God will not fail to give.

The Smithfield Hams.

According to Miss Edith A. Roberts, specialist in home economics, who is operating in Virginia under the management of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, hams can be cured to the Smithfield perfection anywhere in Virginia as well as in Southampton county. In one of the documents from the V. P. I. she says:

Hams to be thus cured are best taken from moderately fat young hogs, weighing from 150 to 175 pounds.

The hogs are killed and allowed hang overnight, and then cut up next morning. The hams as soon as cut and while still moist, are lightly sprinkled with saltpeper on the fleshy side. This is well rubbed in with the hands. Enough saltpeper is sprinkled on to give a slightly frosted appearance. When all the hams have been cut and treated, dry salt is put in a tub, and the hams, one at a time, are well rubbed with this salt on all the cut surfaces. The hams are then taken from the tub with as much salt as possible adhering, and placed skin down in piles upon the smokehouse floor, so that the air can circulate freely about each ham. Care is taken that all cut surfaces and cracks are filled with salt as the pile is built up, and a thick layer of salt is placed between the layers of hams and on top of the pile.

If the weather is cool, not freezing, the hams are taken out in 3 or 4 weeks, washed, and rubbed while moist with finely ground black pepper, and then hung for smoking. Smoking is usually begun next day after hanging the hams, and a smoke is made each day until the right color is attained, a bright brown being usually desired. Green history and apple wood make a good smoke, and the fires are usually smothered with hard, fallen hardwood, or wet hardwood, and the hams are left hanging until needed for use. They are not at their best until about twelve months old.—Exchange.
