Maj. Stedman to Retire.

Hon. Chas. M. Stedman gave out last week that upon the completion every homesteader. of his present term in Congress he would retire. He has hosts of friends in this great district that will regret to hear the announcement. His place in Congress is unique, so far as we are advised being the only Confederate soldier in the House He represents the glory and chivalry of the Southland and is a concrete example of the Southern gentleman. Not only this, but whenever he spoke in the halls of Congress he commanded the attention and respect of all by the force and wisdom of his speech. For our part we were perfectly willing for him to stay in Congress just as long as he might wish. When he leave the national legislative halls for the last time he will leave behind him a record of an honorable career and of fidelity to duty and his country not surpassed by that of any of his

Survey Shows 71,132 People Sick Throughout the Year.

That North Carolina has mor sickness than she is due to have is the conclusion reached by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company on completing a sickness survey in North Carolina in April of last year. The survey can-vassed 14,112 families containing mountain district in and around Asheville, the middle upland district in and around Charlotte, Greensboro, Salisbury and Raleigh, and the coast district in and around Wilmington and Washington. Contrary to expectation the lowest sickness rate was found in the coast counties, while the next was in the middle upland counties and the highest in the mountain and the highest in the mountain counties. The rates are 26.5 per 1,000 population, 28.6 and 37.4 re spectively.

The figures further showed that more colored people were anable to work than white people and that more women than men were constantly sick until the age of 65 is reached, when the reverse is true. The diseases that was found to be more than any other the cause of inability to work was rheumatism in its various forms. and after rheumatism were pneu monia and grippe, tuberculo malaria, pellagra and various nervous diseases. Colds were also a prominent factor causing sicknes

Counting 300 working days per year, it means that there are 3,753,600 days of dsiability for work from white men alone There are 16,835 white women sick all the time, also 8,693 colored women 12,973,200 days. The average cost of sickness per day for the wage earner, including medical and nursing service and loss of time from work, has been estimated to be $2. From these figures North Carolina's loss from sickness can easily be determined.
