Lieut. D. G. Sullivan Dead.

The news of the death of Lieut. Sullivan was a shock to everyone who knew him. He was taken sick Saturday, and died about noon Monday in a hospital in Raleigh. Lieut. Sullivan at the time of his death was in service with the Supply Co. of the 3rd N. C. Reg. He was born in Gibsonville. When a boy his family moved to Burlington, and in his teens he enlisted in the U. S. Army, serving two enlistments in Cuba and the Philippine Islands. While in the Philippines he was in nine engagements. When he came out of service he enlisted in the Infantry of the 3rd Regiment. He moved to Graham, living here about two years; then to Reidsville, where he was a police officer and a faithful service he was appointed chief of police and held the job until the call came.

Four years ago he was promoted to Serg.-Maj. of the 3rd Reg. When the call came June 19, 1916, he was the first man to report to his commander and at once reported for duty. He was promoted to Lieut. of the Supply Co., going to El Paso, Tex. When the Reg. returned his company was not mustered out and when he died he was still in service. Being one of his tent mates while in service, always had a cheering word for everyone. He always tried to make the boys feel good and happy. He will be missed by both officers and men. His remains arrived at Burlington Monday evening.

The funeral was conducted by Rev. T. S. Brown and his remains buried in the Pine Hill Cemetery, with military honors by Co. I, 3rd Reg.

Make this Beauty Lotion Cheaply for Your Face, Neck, Arms and Hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quart of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier by squeezing the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in this lotion will be fresh for months.

Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and make up a quart of this sweet, fragrant lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, and hands. It is marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.

Birthday Celebration.

Mr. J. D. Cooper celebrated his 67th birthday on Saturday, May 19th. A large number of relatives gathered in honor of the occasion. The following interesting paper was read on the occasion by Miss Myrtle Cooper of Graham:

As we meet here today to celebrate the 67th birthday of our respected kinsman, it is fitting that the youngest of his nieces or nephews, give you a brief history of the ancestry of the Cooper family.

J. D. Cooper's great grandfather on his mother's side was Coonrod Ringstaff. He served in the Revolutionary War and was at Yorktown, Va., when Lord Cornwallis surrendered to General Washington. He was a man of splendid physical powers and many interesting stories are told of his powers as a boxer and prize fighter. He was seven feet tall. He died May 19th, 1850, at the age of one hundred and ten years.

James Ringstaff, Coonrod's son, served actively in the war of 1812. He had three sons who fought bravely in the war between the North and South. He himself lived to be 91 years old.

Mark Cooper, J. D. Cooper's grandfather, came from the State of Virginia. Tradition says that he was a descendant of the famous Princess Pocahontas and John Rolfe. He was educated in Virginia and came to North Carolina as a school teacher and was counted one of the best scholars in the State at that time. He balanced a great sum of figures at Hillsboro that many experts had failed to balance. He wrote with a goose quill pen and was master of sixteen different languages. He also served in the great Revolutionary War.

Richard Cooper, son of Mark Cooper, was too old for the Civil War but sent one son, William H. Cooper, to die for the South. This brother of J. D. Cooper was mortally wounded at the battle of Gettysburg and was taken prisoner by the Federal troops. Captain Smith said of him that he was one of the bravest men that died for the Confederacy.

The late A. G. Cooper was in the Confederate reserve corps at the age of seventeen.

And so, my friends, you can see that the record of the Cooper family has been a record of soldiers. Since Mark Cooper's emigration from Virginia the family has applied itself to farming in the Southern part of Alamance county.

Now in the greatest war that the world has ever known, J. D. Cooper's youngest nephew, Thos. Duncan Cooper of Graham, has enlisted as a volunteer for the French aid corps. Today nations grapple with nations in the most gigantic struggle the world has ever witnessed. Men hurl themselves at each other's throats and annihilate thousands at one blow from their deadly weapons. Think, my friends, of the vastness of it! Why, in this war we have known the Germans to capture and put out of commission in the South more soldiers than the entire force of the Civil War. So let us not think that we have done our part. Let us not think that our brave ancestors have done our fighting for us. But let us remember that our country needs us now, and even though we cannot engage in actual service we can do "our bit" at home. Just now our Governor calls for the farmer to volunteer his services. Just now our motto is, "that every upturned furrow shall reach into the French trenches and every blade of wheat shall be a spear."

And let us resolve that whether we go or stay we will render to our country such service that our patriotic ancestors shall not be ashamed of.

Mr. Wm. Spoon died at his home near Oakdale on the night of the 22nd, and was buried at Mt. Zion on the 24th. He had been in declining health and his death was not unexpected.

Dr. H. B. Foster and H. B. Jr., spent Saturday night with his father's family.

The cool nights are a little discouraging to the farmer though he still keeps plowing and planting expecting summer later; he can't afford to sit and whine when the weather is cold nor when it is hot as some people do. There is a class who whine at everything, and there isn't anything in the world more disagreeable than a whining person. It is just a habit they have gotten into, and a bad habit, too. The thing to do is to brace up, go to work, be something, stand for something, fill your place in the world. Be proud of what you are, and be a model citizen. Make something of yourself; reach up to the stars of a strong ennobling manhood.

Mrs. A. G. Hackney and children of the 24th are spending the week at her father's farm near Oakdale.
