

Life Was a Misery

Mrs. F. M. Jones, of Palmer, Okla., writes: "From the time I entered into womanhood . . . I looked with dread from one month to the next. I suffered with my back and bearing-down pain, until life to me was a misery. I would think I could not endure the pain any longer, and I gradually got worse. . . . Nothing seemed to help me until, one day, . . . I decided to

CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"I took four bottles," Mrs. Jones goes on to say, "and was not only greatly relieved, but can truthfully say that I have not a pain. . . . It has now been two years since I took Cardui, and I am still in good health. . . . I would advise any woman or girl to use Cardui who is a sufferer from any female trouble.

able material such as is used as fuel for the gasoline or steam car and the electric wiring required for the electric vehicle sometimes is responsible for fires. Most fires caused from these sources may be traced directly to carelessness and there are numerous ways of safeguarding the building. Gasoline stored in an underground tank cannot cause a fire, and this method of storing the fuel is the most sensible from every viewpoint. Carefully installed electric wiring, safeguarded by fuses against excess current and insulated physically and electrically from the building cannot cause a fire. The garage may, in addition, be made fire-resisting by carrying up the walls in concrete and covering all woodwork with cement plaster. The garage, properly built, is really no more to be dreaded than the kitchen. It is usually a rather difficult problem to design a house with a garage attached which will have a satisfactory appearance. Since the garage does not require a great deal of headroom and yet it must be placed at least down to the grade line, it is necessary to build the house above it. The question becomes centered in what part of the house may be built above the garage without causing a disturbance in the room arrangement. A separate room is usually the best solution since the floor level does not coincide with either the first or second floor of the main structure, as a

The entire house and garage are finished in stucco with dark wood trim. Low arch type construction is used in the porch with roofers are built as flat as is consistent with good construction. A pergola roof above the sun parlor adds a note of distinction. The entire exterior is impressive and elegant.

The details of interior finish are fully in keeping with the general excellence of the design, and the room arrangement is all that the particular home-builder could ask for in convenience and elegance. The reception hall is fitted with a seat and has a wide closet conveniently located. The opening between this hall and the living room is cased. The entire side wall of the house in the living room is occupied by the fireplace and two bookcases. A wide cased opening at the rear of the living room leads to the dining room. The buffet in the latter room is built below four windows, in a square bay. There are five other windows in the room.

The sun parlor is five steps above the living room and the seat built into the nook just inside the case opening from the living room is a very pleasant detail. The garage is reached by a passage between the living room and the kitchen. Between the kitchen and the dining room is the butler's pantry. The opening on the kitchen side is cased and on the dining room side there is a double-acting door.

The stair from the sun parlor leads to a stair hall on the second floor. All rooms on this floor open from the hall. There are four bedrooms, a parlor and with generous closet space, and a bath. All rooms on this floor are well lighted and full height. The house is intended for a rather large family or it may be used to a very good advantage by people who are in the habit of inviting guests for extended visits. There is an abundance of room on each floor and the many special features which have been incorporated into the design are sure to leave a good impression with anyone who might have the opportunity to examine the house carefully. The design is an excellent example of one method by which the garage may be made a part of an attractive house without taking anything from its attractiveness.

GREED MET PROPER REBUKE

Incident on Street Car a Case of Rites and Embarrassment.

The day was stormy and the car carried only a limited number of passengers. The Woman who saw spied a shining coin glistening on the floor, just in front of a fashionably dressed woman who might have posed for a Daily News. From a flash, she was helpless as her feet, despite the rain delay. Every eye bespoke affluence and reckless expenditure, and the necessity to add to her probable store of ready money was not apparent. However, she was eyeing the coin as a cat does a mouse, ready to pounce on it as the first favorable opportunity. Simultaneously the gaze of an impudent elderly gentleman, seated next to the Woman who saw, lighted upon the glittering object. It would have been an easy matter to have stooped and possessed himself of it, but the eagle eye of his fellow passenger followed his every movement, betraying her desire to appropriate the coveted prize. After a moment's irresolution he reached down and literally grabbed the lucky find. Opening his closed hand he took one glance at the treasure. A peculiar expression crossed his face, and his fingers closed tightly again. This was too much for the well-dressed woman, who could restrain herself no longer; greed took possession of her, and leaning forward she addressed the finder in icy accents: "Fardon me, sir, that belongs to me. I just dropped it."

With a courteous bow the gentleman replied: "Permit me to restore your property, madam, and be placed in the immaculate gloved hand, now eagerly extended, a shining tobacco tin."

WILL ATTRACT THE TOURIST

City of Guayaquil Making a Bid for Travelers Who Delight in the Picturesque.

Ecuador will soon be ready for a greater business with the world and for the tourist. Guayaquil, the country's chief port, is now undergoing a thorough sanitating. Streets are being modernized, and otherwise the city is improving. The ancient capital of Ecuador, Quito, lies nearly 300 miles by railway from Guayaquil. A few tourists have used the new railway "along the roof of the world" and visited the interesting old city.

Guayaquil lies up the Guayas river 60 miles from the ocean, so the average ship passenger does not even secure a passing view of the second port of importance on the west coast of South America. However, on clear days, when the ship is not many miles from shore, it is possible to sight Cotacachi or Chimborazo, the former sending to the sky a smoky column from its snow-white cone.

Northward 840 miles we sight the foliage-backed islands in the Bay of Panama, and shortly thereafter drop anchor near the entrance to the world's greatest canal.

MOTOR DRIVERS GIVEN WARNING

INSURANCE COMMISSIONER JAS. R. YOUNG CALLS ATTENTION TO NUMEROUS ACCIDENTS.

Automobile Accidents Are Too Numerous.—Toll of Human Life is Fearful—What Shall We Do?

Calling attention to the great number of serious and minor accidents to automobilists which become so maddening as the summer weather approaches, Insurance Commissioner James R. Young says:

"Automobile accidents are too frequent and there must be some means by which they may be checked. Our newspapers every day give accounts of accidents to automobiles but especially is this true of the Monday and Tuesday morning newspapers. They carry the accounts of the accidents that occur to the Sunday motorists. The toll of life is fearful. What shall we do about it?"

"The speed mania seems to be the cause of the greater part of the accidents. It appears that as soon as a person learns to handle the steering wheel well enough to keep the car in the road he immediately begins to bend his efforts toward the maximum of speed. The speed limit of automobiles on the country roads in North Carolina is 25 miles an hour. But there isn't always a traffic officer in sight and the utter disregard of law is appalling to say nothing of the greater danger to human life.

"It seems to me that the first thing an auto motorist should do is to learn to have perfect control over the automobile. This is necessary, not only for the safety of the motorist himself but for those who are forced to stand in constant peril of the reckless driver. Twenty-five miles an hour on a straight stretch of country is all the speed that average persons need, and when the careless motorist attacks from forty to sixty and takes the curve ahead at practically the same speed he is flying in the face of Providence. If no one suffered but the wild driver himself it might be just as well if the inevitable happened and got rid of him. But the worst part of it is the same citizen driving in a buggy at a decent rate of speed, or worse still the child or aged person who may be just around the curve, must stand in danger always.

"No truer saying was ever uttered than that 'Safety first is Man's Humanity to Man.' If the reckless driver has no fear for his own safety he shows it to his neighbor to be careful of the neighbor's life and property."

SAFEGUARD THE NATION'S PRECIOUS FOODSTUFFS

(By T. Alfred Fleming, Fire Marshal of Ohio.)

These are war times; he who conserves and protects the food supply now is a patriot, just as much as the man behind the gun. On the food supply of America depends the success or failure of the Titanic conflict that has torn the earth asunder. The day's march of an army is proportioned to the food supply of that day and the day before.

Are You Doing Your Duty? It is the duty of the elevator man, the warehouse man, the cereal manufacturer, and all others engaged in the production of raw material and finished production—who are "doing their bit" at home—to safeguard the precious foodstuffs, to protect the factories, the mills, the elevators and the storage warehouses. They have no more or less limited by its peculiar position, but there are enough uses for the space to warrant its being made a part of the house. The space is peculiarly adapted to a sun parlor, sewing room or den.

In the illustrations a design is shown which makes the garage a part of the house and utilizes the space above the garage for a sun parlor. The house is built upon a terrace and the driveway, leading to the garage, is brought straight in at the sidewalk level, allowing only enough slope to provide good drainage.

The entire house and garage are finished in stucco with dark wood trim. Low arch type construction is used in the porch with roofers are built as flat as is consistent with good construction. DOUBLE LOAD ON GOOD ROAD

Farmers Haul Two Wagons Hitched Together to End of Improved Highway—Single on Poor Road.

(From the United States Department of Agriculture.)

To see what really happens at the end of the good road, a public road specialist, recently, the department recently had observations made in different sections of the country. The observers noted many country-bound teams who drove two loaded wagons, hitched one behind the other, to the end of the good road, and then found it necessary to leave one wagon by the roadside to be returned for later, while all the power of their teams was devoted to hauling a single wagon over the unimproved road.

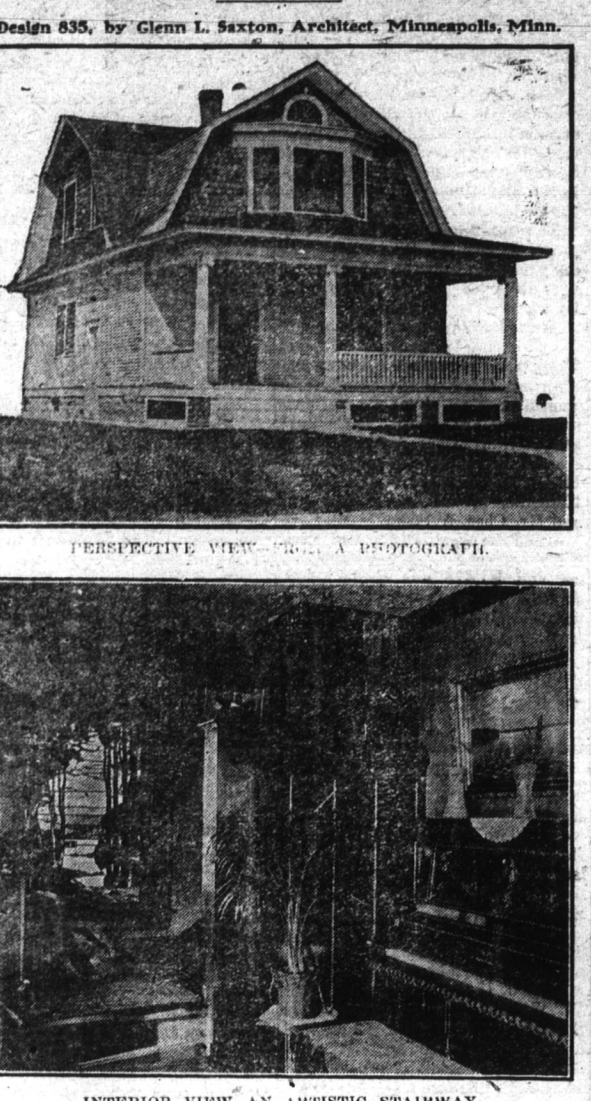

Farmers bound for the market frequently were seen to haul wood and similar products to the beginning of the good road, there dumping them, and returning for a second load. When this arrived, the two loads were consolidated and easily hauled by a single team.

The Elsie was bound from Boston to the west coast of Europe with a cargo of wheat. The Eendyk was a Dutch steamer bound for London with a cargo of wheat.

From a Great Diary.

Evenly, the great diarist and counter, is blind to many things which his readers would gladly have had him notice and record.

He tells us nothing of the condition of the mass of the people, rarely speaks of poor persons or servants, rarely mentions the clothes he wore or the food he ate, never, at any rate, with that pleasure of memory unshamed which gives such details the smack of life in Peep's or Boswell's.

He never gossips; tells us little of his neighbors' vices, and nothing of their follies; would assuredly not have recorded, if there had been any such matters to record, his wife's jealousy or his attentions to her maid; gives no such touches of rude veracity as that of Peep's sister, for whom a husband must be found at once as "she grows old and ugly," or that of poor Mr. Pechell, "whose red nose makes me ashamed to be seen with him, though otherwise a good-natured man."

Break your Cold or LaGrippe with new cures of 666.

Vegetables for the table and for market purposes are going to be scarce as well as high in price during the coming season unless there is a great increase in the number of home gardens planted this spring, says specialists of the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service. Irish potatoes have already reached the highest price in the history of the crop, and there is a probability of other staple truck reaching a similar level.

Killed by Broken Wheel.

Lumberton.—Luther Townsend, a young white man, was struck by a flying wheel and instantly killed while working at a saw mill near Moss Neck, this county. When the governor belt on the engine came off the engine ran so fast the large driving wheel flew off. This struck Mr. Townsend, breaking his neck and one arm. Hector Duncan, a laborer at the mill, was slightly injured.
