Commander of Engineers Who Fought at Cambrai

Col. C. H. McKinstry, who commands the New York engineers in France, many of whom participated in the Cambrai battle, fighting side by side with the advancing British. Some of the Americans were caught when the Germans broke through. They escaped by flying in shell holes, and when the British drove back the enemy they borrowed rifles and fought valiantly. They were highly commended by the British commanding general.

LACK OF GUNS IN CAMPS

ADMITS THAT TROOPS HAD BEEN SUPPLIED WITH FRENCH MACHINE GUNS.

Responsibility Rests on Secretary Baker. Training of New Army Will Not Be Seriously Retarded on Account of Equipment.

Washington.—Leaders of the senate military committee subjected Major General Crozier, chief of ordnance, to three hours of sharp cross-examination, seeking explanation of delays in providing the war army with weapons. At the executive session they will press questions which the general objected to answering in the open hearing.

Throughout the examinations General Crozier insisted that there had been and would be no delay in equipping soldiers sent abroad. He admitted that because of a shortage of machine guns the American troops in France were supplied with weapons of French make, and that there was a lack of both machine guns and rifles in the training camps, but declared that the training of troops would not be seriously retarded.

Responsibility for the machine gun situation was placed by the general squarely upon Secretary Baker, who he said, had taken a personal interest in the matter and ordered an investigation which resulted in the adoption in June of a new gun known as the Browning type. This statement came when Chairman Chamberlain said he was not satisfied with the explanation that the delay had been caused by investigation.

"Neither am I satisfied," responded the witness, "but I am not personally responsible." Nearly every member of the committee joined in the examination and questions were fired across the table as rapidly as the general could answer.

Chairman Chamberlain took exceptions to the conclusions drawn from General Crozier's testimony that congress, by failing to make prompt appropriations, and labor troubles, were largely responsible for the delay. General Crozier said he had not intended such an interpretation, and that millions of dollars appropriated had not been expended.

U. S. DESTROYER IS SUNK IN WAR ZONE

GERMAN U-BOAT TORPEDOES AND SINKS BIG AMERICAN DESTROYER.

MOST OF THE CREW IS LOST

David Worth Bagley Commanding Officer is Among Saved—Jacobus Jones Was One of Largest Vessels of the Destroyer Type.

Washington.—Lieutenant Commander David Worth Bagley and Lieutenant Norman Scott were among the survivors rescued after the sinking of the American destroyer, Jacob Jones, by a German submarine in the war zone last Thursday night. The navy department was so advised by Vice Admiral Sims.

These two officers, two warrant officers, and two enlisted men were named in the admiral's dispatch as survivors in addition to the 27 previously reported saved. It is now established that the five line officers on the destroyer were rescued. Gunner Harry R. Hood and 63 men are missing.

Admiral Sims' report said that Commander Bagley and the five other men saved with him got away in a motor boat and were picked up and landed unharmed at the Scilly Islands.

The other four survivors reported besides Commander Bagley and Lieutenant Scott were:

Chief Boatwain's Mate Clarence McBride, wife Florence McBride, Syracuse, N. Y.

Coxswain Ben Nunnery, father Fred A. Nunnery, Edgemoor, E. C.

Fireman Joseph Kromacki, mother Anna Kromacki, Survive, Russia.

Vice Admiral Sims up to a late hour had been able to supply only meager details in reply to urgent messages from Secretary Daniels, whose brother-in-law, Lieutenant Commander David W. Bagley, commanded the lost vessel, and was first reported among the missing. Three officers and 34 men were picked up by other vessels from life rafts to which they clung, but the names of only ten of these had been transmitted to Washington.

The Jacob Jones, one of the largest and newest American destroyers operating in the Atlantic, was the first American warship to fall victim to a German submarine, but was the second American destroyer to be lost in foreign waters. The Chaucey sank with her commander, Lieutenant Commander Walter E. Reno, two other officers, and 18 enlisted men, after being cut in two by the transport Rose early on the morning of November 20.

NO ATTEMPT TO CHECK UP LIST OF HALIFAX DEAD

Morgue Officials Hold to Estimate of Four Thousand.

Halifax, N. S.—No official attempt was made here to check up or revise the long list of dead and injured resulting from Thursday's disaster when a munitions ship's cargo exploded in the harbor.

The morgue officials held to their estimate of 4,000 dead, but other observers said that estimate was too great by half.

A joint appeal by the mayors of Halifax and Dartmouth was made to the Canadian public for money for the relief of the homeless and the reconstruction of that part of the city which is in ruins. It was said that between $20,000,000 and $25,000,000 would be required.

A heavy rainstorm interrupted the systematic search for bodies, but by night 95 additional bodies had been placed in the morgue, and the several deaths occurred among the injured.

The task confronting the relief committees seemed almost hopeless but later in the day the skies cleared and cheering word came from the physicians in charge of the tents in which 600 of the homeless had found shelter. The tents had withstood the storm and the occupants were as comfortable as could be expected.

No civilians are permitted to travel along the Rhine and the German frontier remains closed.

"MERRY CHRISTMAS EVERYBODY!"

Where Did Santa Claus Come From?

THESE post-Christmas days shine with a light softer but perhaps more comfortable than that of the great feast itself. Particularly is this true of the first day after Christmas, especially when that day is Sunday. In England, of course, as in the time of the late Samuel Pickwick Esq., who brought about the Christmas of Christmas, this is called Boxing Day, not because it is the occasion of little encounters, but because it is the time appointed for the distribution of those more or less spontaneous expressions of good will which are called Christmas boxes. Its more orthodox title is St. Stephen's day. It is, you know, the day on which the illustrious King Stephen was slain, and the day on which his noble almoner, St. Nicholas, did his noble almoning.

We are not old English kings, so instead of having our page bring fresh and wine to the poor man on St. Stephen's day we give a dollar to the youth from the still vested Bernhumes who clatters the elevator in our apartment house, and for weeks before Christmas we affix to the flaps of the envelopes containing our letters little stamps bearing so called "not really of St. Nicholas of Bari. Theoretically this last process provides a medium of Christmas cheer for certain carefully selected and organized poor people.

However this may be, the fact remains that the day after Christmas is very good day indeed. The excitement of giving and receiving has passed and there remains the quieter joy of sober contemplation. And when the day after Christmas is Sunday this contemplation will not be disturbed by the arrival of the postman, who, a relentless bill collector, is like the Greek despite the humorists are better than a man buys for himself. It is a pleasant meditation, for its subjects are things given and things received, good deeds done and good things experienced.

It also contains, this day after Christmas feeling, a quality of reconciliation, of reconciliation with ancient enemies—this was all orthodoxly attended to on Christmas eve—but of reconciliation with friends, of readjustment.

Where Bayberry Candles Come From.

It was the women of Hingham, that quaint old Massachusetts town, that first brought down from their attic and began making the sweet smelling green bayberry candles for a few appreciative people who wanted them to burn in homes furnished in antiques. The women of charming old Deerfield, in the same state, shortly followed suit, and then the housewives of Cape Cod saw their opportunity, all of them using the molds that had been in the towns for generations.

Wrapping the Gifts

Are you among the fortunate number who have completed their Christmas purchases and have them all neatly and daintily wrapped and labeled and placed in a large box or a drawer to await the proper moment when they are to be started on their way by mail, messenger or, perhaps, a personal delivery? If you are not, what are you doing with the little gift which you purchase or complete each day and add to the growing pile? Are you carefully wrapping each one after inclosing a pretty Christmas greeting card with soft white or gray decorated Christmas paper? One cannot help but feel that those little remembrances which are received, all thoughtfully and artistically wrapped with a bit of holly or poinsettia paper and holly ribbon and choicely labeled and sealed with the numerous attractive little stickers which come for this purpose, mean more in their detail of taste and care than all the handsome and wonderful gifts which time and money can produce without these final touches. Then make the offering as simple and inexpensive as you choose, but if you would convey to your friend an atmosphere of thought and remembrance take a little time each day to complete the arrangement for each friend before laying it aside with the other gifts. Not only will the preparation of the gifts take an additional interest to you, but it will make the last days of haste and excitement less anxious, and then, too, you will not be filling into the postoffice or the express office all your various bundles at one time, but will be prepared to start many of them on their way in advance of the last rush and thus avoid the often inevitable delay which means belated greetings and, worse than all, packages which give the appearance of hasty arrangement and lack of thought.

Resolution Adopted is Identical With That Passed Last August Except That It Gives Seven Years Instead of Six to Ratify.

Washington.—Nation-wide prohibition was in the house and only the adjustment of slight difference in resolutions between the house and senate now stands in the way of submitting to the federal constitution for ratification the federal constitution for beverage purposes in the United States or its territories.

The vote in the house, taken after a day of debate before crowded galleries, was 282 to 128, with the parties dividing almost evenly. The margin for prohibition was eight votes more than the two-thirds vote.

Both wets and drys had been predicting victory all day, and it was not until the last few names had been called that the anti-prohibition forces conceded their defeat. When Speaker Clark announced the result, the victors were joined by the galleries in such a demonstration as is rarely permitted in the house. Former Secretary Brydson, an interested spectator nearly all day, appeared on the floor and joined in receiving congratulations with Representative Webb of North Carolina, who had led the fight.

The resolution adopted by the house is identical with that passed by the senate last August, except that it gives the states seven years instead of six in which to ratify the amendment.

The President's approval is not required and the state legislatures may act as soon as they please after Vice-President Marshall and Speaker Clark have signed the resolution.

Following is the resolution as adopted:

"Resolved, by the senate and house of representatives that the following amendment to the constitution be, and hereby is, proposed to the states, to become valid as a part of the constitution when ratified by the legislatures of the several states as provided by the constitution:

"Article—Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"Section 2. The Congress and the several states shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

"Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the constitution by the legislatures of the several states, as provided in the constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the states by the Congress."

While Shepherds Watch'd

WHILE shepherds watched their flocks by night, All seated on the ground, The angel of the Lord came down, And glory shone around.

"Fear not," said he, for mighty dread Had seized their troubled mind; Glad tidings of great joy I bring To you and all mankind.

"To you in David's town this day Is born of David's line The Saviour, who is Christ the Lord, And this shall be the sign:

"The heavenly Babe you there shall find To human view displayed, All meanly wrapped in swathing bands And in a manger laid."

Thus spake the seraph, and forthwith Appeared a shining throng Of angels praising God, who thus Addressed their joyful song:

"All glory be to God on high And to the earth be peace, Good will henceforth from heaven to men Begin and never cease."

STRONG OFFENSIVE IN WEST

General Allenby Occupies Jerusalem, Bolshevik Forces Reported to Have Attained Heavy Losses in Fighting With Cossacks.

The Germans, following their heavy artillery preparations of recent days, have attempted to drive a wedge into the British line west of Cambrai, but although they used numerically superior forces, their effort brought them only a minor gain.

The attack, launched between Bullecourt and Quenest, was similar to that adopted by Crown Prince Rupprecht's troops when they pierced General Byng's front southwest of Cambrai nearly two weeks ago and caused a retirement of the British on the salient General Byng previously had driven toward Cambrai. The British held tenaciously to their ground, except at one point, where the enemy penetrated a front-line position.

As in their previous attempt to wedge the Cambrai salient, the Germans lost heavily, the British mowing them down with machine gun and rifle fire in the fighting, which lasted from dawn until 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

Notwithstanding their failure, the Germans are keeping up an intensive bombardment of British and French positions all along the western front and daily are receiving additional reinforcements in men and guns from the eastern theater.

Snow is falling heavily in the mountains along the northern Italian front, and optimism prevails among the Italians that this will aid them definitely in holding the Austro-German back from the Italian plain. Amid the first furries of the storm on Tuesday the enemy resumed his attack among the hills and was rewarded by the capture of several positions. Later, however, the Italians in a counter attack regained their lost terrain, after which the artillery duels were resumed, but with less strength than had previously been shown.

The Cossacks, under General Kaledin, and the Bolshevik forces are reported to have met in at least two fights, with the counter-revolutionists the victors in both. The engagements occurred at Moheliv and at Tamonovka, and the Bolshevik losses are declared to have been heavy.

General Allenby, commander of the British forces in Palestine, has entered Jerusalem and taken over control of the Holy City. The populace greeted the British commander cordially. In a proclamation, he told the inhabitants that all sacred buildings and holy places would be protected and maintained. Meanwhile, the British army continues its successful operations in Palestine, having captured several additional positions from the Turks.

CONGRESSMAN FIRED CANNON AT AUSTRIANS.

Italian Army, Headquarters in Northern Italy.—The first American shot against Austria was fired by Representative Tinkham, of Boston, on the lower Piave when Mr. Tinkham pulled a string firing a large 149 millimeter gun, sending a shell hurtling across the Piava to the Austrian positions at Conto. A huge cloud of black smoke marked the place where the shell burst.
