THANKSGIVING.

The American people have much to be thankful for to-day. The war is over and they have been spared the invasion of their gio-rious country by a cruel foe. Many have made the supreme sacrifice for their country and loved ones and the whole nation is devoutly thankful for the heroic spirits that gave and risked their all. Homes have been saddened because the rave boys will not return again, but they will thank God for such heroes and the heart of the nation will de-voutly join with them in sympathy and thanksgiving.

The Government will utilize the airplanes for mail service. The late Mr. Joseph P. Caldwell, when he edited the Charlotte Observer, said that they would fly like birds. This was before navigation of the air had made any appreciable success His prediction has been literally

And she chopped it all up and added three cupfuls of sait and two of pepper so as to be sure not to forget the Then-because she knew that must have lots of variety-she put in a glass of olive oil, two table fuls of grated nutmeg, two pack ages of Saratoga chips, a can of sal-mon and a half cake of bitter choco-
