LOCAL NEWS.

Alamance Motor Co. has just installed an up-to-date gasoline and oil station in front of its garage on W. Harden St.

Since the 2nd the weather has been of a mixed character, with the cold and disagreeable preponderating. Maybe the ground hog's not seeing his shadow until after 12 o'clock has had something to do with it.

Graham is to have a soap factory. A member of the company was here the first of the week and rented a building, and the work will start as soon as the machinery arrives and is set up.

The Ban Off.

From notices elsewhere in this issue, signed by Mayor R. L. Holmes and Health Officer Dr. J. J. Barefoot, it will be seen that the churches can hold services on Sunday next, and that schools may resume and places of amusement open on Monday.

Among the Sick.

Mr. J. J. Snyder, who has been very sick from flu and pneumonia is improving slowly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ren. B. Holt's baby is still very sick.

Mr. Ernest Thompson, who had a severe attack of flu, is able to be up, but not out.

Mrs. Jesse Shepherd, at Travora who had flu, is not able to be out yet.

Mrs. J. S. Cook is still confined to her room from the effects of flu.

Thomas E. Redmon Dead.

Mr. Thomas E. Redmon died at his home here at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday night, aged about 55 years. He had been confined to his bed about two weeks. Cancer of the stomach, from which he had suffered a long time, was the cause of his death. The funeral takes place this afternoon and the interment will be in Linwood Cemetery. He is survived by his widow, who was a daughter of Mr. T. P. Bradshaw. A sister living in Person county also survives him.

Commendable.

The flu situation in Graham has vastly improved, due in some measure to the change in the weather, and in a greater measure to the precautionary steps taken in closing all public gatherings to prevent the spread. Graham has had lots of cases, but only three deaths, so far as learned, traceable to flu. This time, however, both doctors and people knew better how to cope with the malady. No praise is too good for the young women who braved the dangers to nurse the sick, many of whom worked like professionals. Nor would we forget those who prepared and sent out nourishment to the sick. The community has worked together like a family, be it said to their credit.

Republicans Making Early Start.

The Republicans of Alamance county will hold a convention in Graham on Saturday, February 28th, to nominate candidates for county offices, elect delegates to State and Congressional conventions and to attend to any other business that may come before the convention. Primaries will be held at 3 p. m. on Saturday, 21st, in all townships, except Burlington, Graham, Haw River and Mebane, in which the primaries will be held at 7:30 p. m. on Friday, 20th.

On Wednesday, March 3rd, the Republicans will hold a State convention in Greensboro to elect a State executive committee, to elect delegates-at-large to the National convention, to recommend a State ticket.

Morton Thompson Kills Andy Gibson and Gives Himself Up.

About 3 o'clock last Saturday afternoon Morton Thompson shot and killed Andy Gibson. Both colored. The tragedy occurred in the house of Thompson's mother over on the North side of the railroad. Without warning Thompson picked up a shot gun and fired on Gibson, who was only a few feet away. The load took effect in Gibson's back and he died almost instantly. Thompson left the house at once and came to town. He got on a dray and rode part of the way and told what he had done and said he was going to the court house to surrender himself to the Sheriff. A coroner's jury held an inquest and the verdict was that Gibson came to his death by shooting at the hands of Morton Thompson.

Just before the shooting Thompson is said to have hit his sister and children and run them out of the house, and that Gibson was trying to befriend them which infuriated Thompson. There are other reports about Thompson to the effect that his mind has not been right at times for the past two years and that he acted in a queer manner. At times he would get up suddenly and leave, sometimes bareheaded and sometimes without his coat. There seems to be some question about his mental condition.

We agree with The Gleaner in having lived to a good old age without interruption. We read one of the first copies sent out and have been reading it ever since and not much interruption. What makes us remember the first sample copy, the P. M., on looking slightly exclaimed: Well, here is a new paper called the "Almanac Gleaner." We have always found it to be a good, reliable county paper and hope for it a much better patronage in the future than in the past. We think it perfectly necessary for everyone to take their county paper.

NORTH CAROLINA CROP WEALTH IN 1919

Mounts to Over 683 Millions—Stands Fourth Among the States.

The Chapel Hill News Letter has the following about the great crop wealth in North Carolina in 1919:

Six hundred and eighty-three million dollars! That's the value of the 1919 crops of North Carolina, as estimated by the federal department of agriculture.

The total taxables of the State in 1918 were 942 million dollars. But in a single year our farmers create a volume of crop wealth equal to two-thirds of the property values we have been able to accumulate on our tax books in 250 years.

When the values created by our forests, factories, foundries, mines, and quarries are added, the total of primary wealth created in North Carolina in one year overtops the taxable wealth of two and a half centuries by many million dollars.

Ten years ago eighteen States stood ahead of North Carolina in total crop values. In 1914 and 1915, our rank was 15th. In 1916 and 1917, it was 11th, in 1918 it was 5th, but in 1919 only Texas, Iowa, and Illinois stood between us and the top of the column.

Ten years ago our total crop values were 143 million dollars; last year they were 683 million dollars—which is nearly a 5-fold increase since 1909. Our tobacco crop alone represents a 12-fold increase in value, our cotton nearly a 4-fold increase; corn, wheat, and potatoes a 3-fold increase each, with hay and rye each a 6-fold increase in value.

All told the farmers got three and a half times as much for their food and feed crops, and six times as much for their cotton and tobacco crops as in 1909. The general average increase in value of what the farmer had to sell was 5-fold in the ten years. Not even the farmers will contend that what they have to buy has increased 5-fold in price. Which means, that the farmers of North Carolina have more money today than ever before in the history of the State; and they do not have a single cent more than they are fairly entitled to.

A Voice For Wilson.

Charlotte Observer.

Opie Read, author and lecturer, happened to be in Lumberton in fulfillment of an engagement at the time the Wilson-Lansing volcano broke forth, and the enterprising editor of The Robesonian was not slow to get an interview with him. It is refreshing to know that Mr. Read made contention that President Wilson "was right." He said that "if law and Government be matters of precedent, the President was wholly in the right." His argument is that "while the average politician was making cross-roads speeches, pandering to the prejudice of the present, Mr. Wilson devoted himself to the work of delving into the very bosom of statesmanship. That he should have aroused antagonism is not in the least astonishing. Narrowness cannot comprehend breadth, and ignorance is always positive in its wisdom. It appears that Mr. Lansing, able international lawyer that he is, too often assumed the prerogatives of a judge. But the clerk of a court, during the illness of a judge, would go far were he to confer with the jury relative to a prospective decision. The President was within the sanctuary of the Constitution. It seems that Mr. Lansing broke a window and looked out."

After awhile, perhaps, we may find others summoning courage to see the matter in a constitutional light and coming to the defense of the President. It may turn out, as the sifting-down process is advanced, that President Wilson is not standing quite so severely alone in the view he has taken in the situation, as may have appeared.

Twins Born in Different States, Years, Months and Days.

Philadelphia Grit.

When the midnight train on New Year's eve was nearing the Wabash river, which is the line between Illinois and Indiana, the conductor ran through the train calling for a doctor. One responded and he was taken back to a day coach where a woman was in distress.

Just before the train reached the big bridge she gave birth to a baby boy, and the time was a few minutes before midnight. Just after crossing the river, she gave birth to another, making it twins. This time it was after midnight and in another State. One twin was born in Illinois and in the month of December and in 1919. The other was born in Indiana, in January, 1920. They were born in different States, different months and in different years yet they are twins.
