AMERICA'S LOVE FÓR IRVING High Regard In Whiloh the writer
Was Hold Made Dosp mpree

In Americe the love and regard or Irving was a national sentiment. It seemed to me, during a years travel in the country, as All men held their hands from that harmless, friendly peacemaker. I had the good fortone to see him a New York, Philadelphis, Baltimore and Waahington, and remarked how in every place he was honored and in every place he was honored and welcomed. Every large city has its welcomed. Every large city has ite "Irving House." The country takes pride in the fante of its men of letters. The gate of his own charming little domain was foreyer swinging before visitors who game to him. He shut out no one, I had seen many scriptions of it, in both of which it was treated American exaggeration. It was but a pretty little cabin of a place; th genteman of the press notes of the place, . . . visited the whole house in a couple of minutes.- "rom Wille Man Make
