INTERNATIONAL HEALTH MODEL.

That's the Place North Carolina Seems to Occupy Now.

Charlotte Observer.

A commission composed of nine men from Czechoslovakia will be shortly circulating through North Carolina making a study of rural health work in this State. It is a tribute to the efficient system of the Board of Health that this State has been singled out as the locality of the most profitable demonstration of public health work in the United States. As a matter of course, other parts of the country will be visited and health conditions studied, but North Carolina appears to be the only State selected for study of results in rural communities, the stopping points in the itinerary being staged at cities like Baltimore, Washington, Boston, Albany and Saranac. The visit of these medical men is due to the enterprise of the International Health Board of the Rockefeller Foundation, which finances the tour. The nine men who have come over to study health regulations and systems in North Carolina and other parts of the United States are obligated to bind themselves to serve their own countries for from three to five years after their return home. This is a manifestation of the Rockefeller Foundation's determination that the people of Czechoslovakia shall be assured of the benefits of the education their representatives have secured over here. It is rather a comfortable thought that North Carolina should have been selected as the model from which health conditions in that foreign country should be reconstructed.

Care of Pigs in Spring.

Spring is an unhappy time for many pigs and sows in North Carolina, according to W. W. Shay, of the North Carolina Extension Service, who says pigs will be found sleeping in wet beds, following the sow through mud and nursing from an udder caked with mud and filth. As a result of these and other abuses, such as overfeeding the sow during the first two weeks after farrowing, sudden changes in feed, and allowing feed to ferment in a dirty trough, trouble develops, the first indication usually being scours in the pigs.

"Keep charcoal and wood ashes before the sow at all times, decrease her feed and add heaping tablespoonful of flowers of sulphur; wash and disinfect the udder; clean and disinfect the pen; provide for plenty of sunshine, and avoid drafts. Feed parched or scorched shorts or meal to the sow, also to the pigs, if old enough to eat.

"Plans made now will to a great extent determine whether this year's pork production is to be profitable, or otherwise."

Cataract Cannot Be Cured

with Local Applications, as they cannot reach the seat of the disease. Cataract is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions, and in order to cure it you must take an internal remedy. Hall's Cataract Medicine is taken internally and acts thru the blood on the mucous surface of the system. Hall's Cataract Medicine was prescribed by one of the best physicians in this country for years. It is composed of some of the best tonics known, combined with some of the best food purifiers. The perfect combination of the ingredients in Hall's Cataract Medicine is what produces such wonderful results in curable conditions. Stand for testimonials, free.

Son's Failure Shows Dad Worth of Purebred Stock.

This is the story of a pig-growing contest that centered between two boys of Onslow County, N. C., sent to the United States Department of Agriculture by a county agent, as an illustration of the value of purebred stock as against scrub animals.

Leslie Williams and Herman Gurganus are boys of the same age, living near together and attending the same school. They became interested in the pig-raising competition in the local boys' club, and enlisted the services of the county agent to induce their fathers to buy them purebred pigs to start with.

One father ordered the blooded porker; the other gave his son an apparently promising homegrown animal of uncertain ancestry, agreeing that if any other boy in the club beat his son's record he would buy a purebred pig.

The two boys kept expense accounts and weighed their pigs once a month. The purebred pig weighed 37 pounds at the start, May 10, and the other pig 50 pounds.

The final record was made five months later, October 10, three days before the county fair. The purebred pig had consumed $17.60 worth of middlings, corn, peanut meal, and tankage, and made a gain of 131 pounds. The other pig consumed $15.90 worth of corn and gained only 26 pounds, costing more than 60 cents a pound.

The unsuccessful young pig owner was keenly disappointed, but took heart when his father made good his agreement and put in an order for a purebred pig, not only for the boy but for himself.

Mottos for the Year 1921.

I would be true, for there are those who trust me.

I would be pure, for there are those who care.

I would be strong, for there is much to bear.

I would be brave, for there is much to dare.

I would be friend to all—the foe, the friendless.

I would be giving and forget the gift.

I would be humble, for I know my weakness.

I would be forgiving, for there are those who trespass.

I would be patient, for there is much to endure.

I would be loving, for it is evil that hates.

I would be kind, for it pays best in the end.

I would look up, lift up, help, and smile always.

If everybody would try and live up to these few and simple resolutions, wouldn't we and all our friends be a happy lot. So let's try—it is better to have tried and failed, than to have never tried.

Atlantic Coast Inventors.

The following patents were issued last week to Atlantic Coast inventors, reported by D. Swift & Co., Patent Lawyer, Washington, D. C., who will furnish copies of any patents for ten cents apiece to our readers.

Va. Horace L. Dodge, Richmond; Barber's comb, Charlie C. Hickam, Portsmouth; Envelop, Columbus K. Lassiter, Richmond; Milling—cutting.

N. C. Julius C. Moore, Raleigh; Fluid—measuring device.

S. C. William H. Austin, Greenville; Automobile—lock, Franklin T. Parker, Columbia; Reinforced press cloth.

People call this a "general peace." It might be better if it were a trifle less general and a trifle more specific.

Secretary Baker invites everybody who wants to do so to register a kick. Is there anybody left who has not done that already?

VILLAGE OVERRUN BY DOGS

Housewives of Silver Lake, New York, Had to Guard Kitchens From the Hungry Animals.

The hamlet of Silver Lake, on the outskirts of White Plains, N. Y., is all "hot" up because of the large number of dogs that have migrated to that section, according to the New York Evening Sun. In the daytime they forage through the town and at night they make sleep impossible by their howling.

Silver Lake has a population of about 500 persons, and it is said that there are 141 dogs, one lap poodle and half a dozen hounds by actual count. A staid old resident says that there is every kind of a dog imaginable in Silver Lake—small ones, big ones, short ones, long ones, dogs with no tails and one eye, lean ones and fat ones, but mostly lean ones.

This great influx of dogs to Silver Lake has created many nuisances. In fact, the housewives don't dare leave their kitchen doors unlocked or half a dozen hungry mutts will be roaming around trying to find something to eat. The story is told of how one woman baked a raisin pie for supper for her husband. She left it on the kitchen table to cool while she went about her household duties. A little later she heard a great commotion, and when she went to the kitchen she found half a dozen hungry canines, big and little, fighting for the last raisin of her pie. She struck them with a broom, but that did not do any good, because they had her pie.

ENGLISH TERMS ARE ADOPTED

French Take Kindly to a Number of Expressions That They Learned During the War.

We all know what an army of French words has billeted itself permanently upon the English language. Not so many of us think of the interchange of prisoners, so to speak, between French and English, of the numerous English words naturalized in France. In sport, of course, this English contingent was to be expected. "Champion," "ring," "knockout," "coming man," "angles," "football," "touring club," "skating rink,"—long is the list of such English words in French. Even the French labor dialect has suffered some English infusions—"trade union," "lockout," "leaders." There is even the lovely verb "lockout-er," "Whisky" and "pale ale" and other exported names of sin must mostly remain unmentionable here.

The war has introduced "boy scouts" hardly to be recognized in its French pronunciation, "scouts," "tanks" and "nurses" are familiar words in contemporary French. At a theater or railroad office you are almost as likely to get a "ticket" as a "billet." "On the golf links," wrote an English collector of French Anglicisms last year, "one may hear 'J'ai droppe une balie,' instead of the clumsy 'j'ai misse tomber.' " "Lavatory" has suffered a sea change. In Paris it means a barber shop where you can get a shampoo.

Get Busy!

Real development lies in arousing the potential worth that has been lying dormant in your character. The first step is in starting something that will challenge the whole being to activity. Many a man does not feel equal to the tasks of the day. But circumstances are such that he has to make the start. The first few strokes of the pencil may not mean much, but the fact that he starts something arouses him to keener thinking, and before long he may be doing his best work. And each idea begets another until the fellow is aroused to full capacity. Yes, and there are occasions when the very stress of necessity makes a man rise to the superman that lies within each of God's creatures waiting the challenge worthy of it.—Grit.

Coal in Mexico.

The only state in Mexico producing coal is Coahuila. Normal production is about 900,000 tons a year, but at present only about half that quantity is obtained and none is exported. The shortage is supplied from the United States. Coal is not needed for heating purposes and charcoal is used for cooking.

Velocity of Light.

Physicists never tire of efforts to increase the accuracy of their knowledge of the fundamental facts of science. A redetermination of the velocity of light by the Fizeau toothed wheel method was made at Nice. These experiments were remarkable on account of the great distance over which the beam of light employed was transmitted. Previously such a beam had been caused to travel about fifteen miles, but on this occasion the reflecting mirror was so placed that the total distance traversed by the beam, going and returning, was fifty-seven miles. The mean of 1100 observations gave for the velocity of light 186,225 1/2 miles a second.
