VOL. XLVII

GRAHAM, N. C., THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1921

NO. 4

Legislature Fixing For the Closing.

$5,745,000 FOR STATE INSTITUTIONS—GOOD ROADS LAW ENACTED.

Walter Murphy Looms for Congress-man-at-Large.

(By Maxwell Gorman.)

Raleigh, March 1.—By the middle of next week the 1921 session of the General Assembly will have passed into history. It is too early to judge its work fairly. That will be done later in the cool dispassionate manner of a critical review of some things done and others omitted.

At this writing it appears that the House is a lap ahead of the Senate. Representative Dough-ton, of Alleghany, father of the House, and the man who has done more valuable legislative work for North Carolina than any other man in the State, tells us he feels sure the House can clean up Tuesday, March 8th.

Senate Leader Varner, of Robeson, has announced to Senators that they must come to an agreement early this week to stop all new legislation, as the Senate will be compelled to remain in session two or three days next week to complete the work already in hand.

The most interest is felt here today in the two-year maintenance and building program contained in the report of the committee on appropriations to the Senate, just submitted, and which will call for prompt action this week. The bill is only three quarters of a million dollars in excess of the budget commission's recommendations, already referred to, and a bond issue of $5,745,000 is provided for, to be issued half in 1921 and half in 1922. There will be a fight over the bill by the educational commission.

The widest departure from the recommendation of the budget committee came in the appropriation for the State Hospital, necessitated by reason of the repeal of the act authorizing the transfer of the State Prison building to the State Hospital. The State Hospital, under the measure, is to get $550,000 to construct and equip buildings to take care of 575 patients, in lieu of the $300,000 authorized for use in the conversion of the State Prison into a hospital in addition to the amount recommended by the budget commission.

The State Hospital for the Insane at Goldsboro, the State School for the Deaf at Morganton, the State School for the Blind at Raleigh, the University of North Carolina, the East Carolina Teacher Training School at Greenville, all receive the identical proportion of the fund recommended by the budget commission. The same is true of the negro normal schools and the negro reformatory for boys. Other institutions get slight increases.

Improvement Appropriations.
The permanent improvement appropriations for the several institutions carried in the bill as against the amounts recommended by the budget commission follow:

State Hospital for the Insane, Morganton, $150,000 against $100,000.

State Hospital for the Insane, Goldsboro, $300,000 against $300,000.

State Hospital for the Insane, Raleigh, $765,000 against $775,000.

North Carolina School for the Deaf, Morganton, $20,000 against $20,000.

North Carolina School for the Blind, Raleigh, $250,000 against $250,000.

North Carolina Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Sanatorium, $330,000 against $300,000.

State Home and Industrial School for Girls and Women, Sam-cand, $165,000 against $150,000.

Stonewall Jackson Training

School, Concord, $140,000 against $100,000.

Caswell Training School, Kingston, $240,000 against $230,000.

University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, $990,000 against $990,000.

State College of Agriculture and Engineering, Raleigh, $550,000 against $500,000.

North Carolina College for Women, Greensboro, $575,000 against $540,000.

East Carolina Teacher Training School, Greenville, $325,000.

Cullowhee Normal and Industrial School, Cullowhee, Boone, $200,000 against $200,000.

State Normal School for Negroes, Elizabeth City, Colored Normal School, Fayetteville, and Slater Colored Normal School, Winston-Salem, $400,000 against $400,000.

Negro Reformatory for boys, $25,000 against $25,000.

Total, $5,745,000 against $4,995,000.

The bill appropriates to institutions for which no recommendation was made by the budget commission as follows:

North Carolina Orthopaedic Hospital, $100,000.

The complete Agricultural Department building, $75,000.

Confederate Soldiers' Home, $30,000.

Negro A. and T. College, $115,000.

The bonds authorized will be five per cent, forty-years, non-taxable bonds in denominations of $1,000 and $500, in the determination of the State Treasury, not to be sold below par.

Movie Picture Censorship

The war over movie pictures has been prolonged, and the subject will consume some more time this week—with the House committed to an unfavorable report (that is, against State censors) the Senate with a majority of the committee the other way. It is predicted that, like the workmen's compensation law wrangle, the legislature may adjourn without having enacted a law on either subject.

Congressmen-at-Large

One is hearing expressions concerning the extra man from North Carolina in the Congress to be elected next year. Ex-Speaker Walter Murphy, of Salisbury, who has served some dozen or so terms in the General Assembly, is regarded as among the first of men equipped for legislative work and he would make a serviceable Congressman his friends all agree. He is a fine fellow personally, and if a Congressman-at-large is to be named, Walter Murphy will be strongly supported for the nomination.

Enactment Good Roads Law.

Ratification of the big piece of legislation, the road law, with its $50,000,000 bond provision, will be effected early this week, the Senate having passed the House bill Saturday night and sent it back to the House for concurrence in two small amendments. A conference will early and quickly adjust the slight differences.

The only amendment that is going to cause the proponents of the bill any trouble is that about the method of collecting the gasoline tax. The eastern people want the measure so worded that it will be possible for the fishermen and other users of gasoline in motor boats, sawmills, cotton gins, and peanut pickers not to have to pay the tax. The proponents think they have the general provision in the bill, but will probably make some modification or explanatory amendments to provide for the methods for these users to get the rebate of one cent the gallon.

A bill was adopted after a running debate between Senator Varner and the opponents of the bill. Varner had the figures and was able to tell the various counties how much money they could get out of the bill for roads in their particular counties.

Penitentiary Bill

The bill repealing the 1919 law requiring the State Prison to move out of the penitentiary building and turn it over to the insane asylum, passed without a dissenting vote. Provision for increased care of insane to number of some 1,000 is made through another measure.

CHAMP CLARK DEAD.

Champ Clark died in Washington yesterday in his seventy-first year and within two days of his retirement from the House of Representatives after a service of 26 years.

Death was due to an attack of pleurisy and a complication of diseases incident to his advanced age. Up to ten days ago, however, when he developed a severe cold, Mr. Clark had shared actively in proceedings of the House as Democratic leader.

To his last conscious moments the former Speaker's mind was engrossed with memories of his long legislative career. Just before he lapsed into final unconsciousness yesterday those at his bedside heard him whisper, "The question is on the adoption of the conference report."

At Mr. Clark's bedside when the end came were Mrs. Clark, their son, Bennett Clark, and their daughter, Mrs. James M. Thomson of New Orleans. Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed, but the body probably will be sent to the old home in Bowling Green, Missouri, where the former Speaker had expected to retire after the end of his congressional service.

Mr. Clark presided over the House throughout the World War, relinquishing the Speakership after eight years, when the Republicans regained control last year as a result of their victories in the 1918 congressional elections. He then was chosen as Democratic leader in the House.

During the present session it was apparent that the former Speaker's health was failing. He walked slowly, with a dragging step. While he usually was on the floor and followed precedents closely, he rarely engaged in debate. On one or two occasions, however, he spoke at some length on important questions.

Close friends believe his death was hastened by the death a year ago of his only grandchild, Camp Clark Thomson, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Thomson. He was passionately fond of his grandson, and associates say that after the child's death they noticed a perceptible change in his condition, which in the spring of 1920 alarmed his family.

Smallpox Prevalent.

County Health Officer, Dr. W. R. Goley, has received the following letter from the Health Department in Raleigh and it is about a matter in which all the people are concerned:

Smallpox is very prevalent. Remember to notify your schools when it is reported, and that out of towns 10 notices are to be posted in the community.

To give you an idea that may help in educating the people, I quote from a letter of Dr. L. J. Smith, Health Officer, Wilson, N. C.

"I take or mail some bulletins, 202, to the teacher, and tell her she may use them as reading lessons. She is to explain to the children how the disease used to kill so many before we knew of vaccination and how glad the people were when Dr. Jenner discovered this means to prevent smallpox. It is made plain that by people not being vaccinated until they get a 'take' the world would be as it was 100 years ago. The bulletin is then sent by the oldest child to the home for the parents to read, but it was to be returned to school. The returning impresses its value. This is done until every home is reached. I find little trouble vaccinating when I go to that school, even in communities which before were antagonistic. Often they even bring the entire family to my office on Saturdays."

These are the piping times of peace and the shipping board evidently thought it had to pay the piper.
