FOURTH JULY AT ELON

Jr. Order Picnic—Speaking By Rev. J. E. Andrew—Games and Races.

Cor. of The Gleaner.

Elon College, July 5.—A picnic and celebration were enjoyed by the Jr. O. U. A. M. members of the Elon College and surrounding lodges on the College campus here on 4th. The citizens of the town, and the Y. C. Club, joined in with the Junior Order members to make the occasion a glad one, and in spite of the excessive heat an enjoyable day was spent by all.

The Elon College council of Junior Order members initiated the picnic and celebration, invited the surrounding lodges and citizens to take part. A sumptuous dinner was spread on the campus, and speeches, contests, games, and races furnished amusement throughout the day.

At 11:00 o'clock in the morning Rev. J. D. Andrew of Lexington addressed the Juniors, speaking on the principles of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics, taking as his subject "Home, School, and Citizenship." After the picnic dinner, which was spread on the campus, the following program was carried out:

A wheelbarrow race which was won by Moses Caddell. Sack race, won by York Brannock. Shoe race, in which shoes were discarded and then put back on during the race. York Brannock won the race for the boys, and G. E. Barker for the men, in this shoe contest. The girls staged a 100 ft. race, Mary Brannock being proclaimed the winner. The 100 yd. dash contest went to Mark McAdams. The three-legged race, after being tied three times, was decided in favor of Dan Newman and Fred Caddell. Following the races the following were awarded prizes: Miss Elnor Dorris Brown for being the prettiest girl; R. B. Hensley for being the ugliest man; W. E. Loy for having the largest family present; G. T. Wagoner for being the tallest man present; and Rev. J. D. Andrew for having the largest girth. Marvin Franklin was the lucky contestant in the pole climbing contest, receiving a watch for successfully climbing 20 ft. pole which had been thoroughly greased. The last contest item was the bicycle race, which was won by Jenkins Pritchett.

One of the features of the afternoon was a ball game between the Y. C. Club of Elon and the Junior Order members, which went to the Y. C. Club by a five to seven score after a hard battle on the diamond.

The Fruits of Idleness.

"For Satan finds some mischief still For idle hands to do."

Charlotte Observer

Among the mill operatives thrown out of employment at Kannapolis, six weeks ago, were three young men who, at least, chafing under exactions of enforced idleness, conceived the idea of stealing an automobile, although the operation involved resort to banditry. They lured a jitney owner from Concord to a remote place near Statesville, where they assaulted him, crammed a hankerchief down his throat, bound him hand and foot and left him in a deserted house. They took $100 from his pockets, then getting into his machine started out "for Texas." They were shortly overhauled on the highway and taken to Statesville where they are locked in jail. A newspaper report says "much feeling exists" in the community. Naturally this should be the case in contemplation of a crime of that nature and one to which the people of this State have been strangers. These young fellows are no doubt headed for the penitentiary. That they are to suffer no worse fate may be set down to the conservatism of the people and law-abiding disposition of the community they have outraged. In a country accustomed to performances of the kind they might never have seen the inside of a jail.

Primarily the strike mandate they obeyed is responsible for the plight they find themselves in, but not wholly. From the cotton mill these young men entered the devil's workshop, wherein only mischief is patterned and turned out. It was under the influences of that workshop that the evil in their natures found nurture and propagation to the blossoming out of its victims into the character of full blown highwaymen. There had been other occupation to their hand, if they had desired to work, and the trouble hatched up during their moments of idleness was a matter of their own responsibility.

Crop Conditions.

Below is a report from the Department of Agriculture showing condition of crops ending with June:

The wheat crop is being threshed and harvested in the Piedmont district. The reports show a very light yield; harvesting is practically over. Corn averages a fair crop with improvement being noted recently. "Fair to poor" sums up the present condition of cotton, with several Piedmont counties reporting improved stands, averaging 67 per cent of a normal crop. Tobacco is poor and small everywhere, but improving. Truck and pastures are fair, but drying up for the lack of rain. Hay and grasses also need rain; the present condition averaging fair to good. Except in Moore, there is a very good crop, fruit is scarce and poor all over the State.

The live-stock supply is normal or above, and conditions good. A surplus of pure-bred stock is reported in Catawba and hogs are mentioned for sale in Richmond, Pasquotank, and Catawba.

Reports indicate that the fields are in good condition as far as cultivation goes, and that the crops are generally in good shape. Cooperative Marketing is the "main topic of conversation" everywhere, and membership campaigns are making very satisfactory progress.

The labor supply is plentiful though not of the best grade. Richmond and Anson report increased use of soda but the amount of fertilizers used generally this year is about 55 per cent of normal.

The crops over the United States are also variable. The wheat crop is reported to be "light and shriveled" as a result of the hot, dry weather that they too are suffering from. Oklahoma had enough wet weather to damage the shocked grain.

Oats have improved in the middle west and a fair crop is expected. The cotton belt has a late and irregular stand, with 69.2 per cent of a full crop—forecasting 8,433,000 bales.

The general fruit crop is declining, due to hot and dry weather.

What is a Bushel?

"Thirty-two quarts make one bushel," recites Young America glibly and positively. But the housewife who has purchased family supplies for years is not at all sure but that this is one of the many rules that have their exceptions. Specialists of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture, say that the heaped bushel varies with the price of the product and the weight bushel varies widely in different States. A bushel of sweet potatoes is 46 pounds in Dakota and 60 pounds in Maryland. A bushel of tomatoes is 45 pounds in Oklahoma and 60 pounds in Virginia. A bushel of unshelled green peas is 28 pounds in Massachusetts and 56 pounds in Pennsylvania. The Bureau of Markets recommends the adoption of the "struck" bushel—the Winchester bushel of 2,150.42 cubic inches—as the unit for package standards.

If what they have in Ireland be war, Sherman's definition is more than vindicated.

Less than a third of the world's population is white and is being bled whiter.

Rice a Delicious Food When Properly Cooked.

Many Americans do not realize that millions of people eat rice as Americans and Europeans eat bread. It is a palatable food, too, and when properly cooked it can be combined in many ways with more expensive and highly flavored foods into nutritious dishes. Farmers' Bulletin 1195, Rice as Food, just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, is filled with directions for cooking rice in many attractive ways not now known to American housewives who are concerned daily with the task of providing properly balanced meals.

Although the Orient produces about 97 per cent of the world's rice crop, the United States now grows more than enough for its present annual consumption. Cultivation began in the Carolinas and Georgia in colonial days, and has now assumed commercial importance in Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, and the Sacramento Valley in California, and there are scattered plantings in Mississippi, Florida, and Missouri. The rice fields here are large, often several thousand acres in extent, and modern machinery much like that for seeding, harvesting, and threshing wheat, is used.

The varieties of rice grown in this country rank among the best in the world. Of the many tested here two varieties, Carolina Gold and Carolina White, seem best adapted to the Atlantic coast fields; the Honduras and several Japanese varieties to Louisiana, Texas, and Arkansas; and the Japanese to California. The bulletin, Rice as Food, may be had upon application to the Division of Publications, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Boys' and Girls' Clubs

Work on Adult Problems.

Very important improvements in farm practice are frequently introduced into a county through the medium of the boys' and girls' dairy, beef, poultry, or pig clubs, specialists in club work in the United States Department of Agriculture point out. In one county in California purebred swine have been developed by the boys and sold to over 80 per cent of the farms of the county. Farmers who are doubtful concerning the wisdom of any innovation suggested by the county agent often approve when they see the results obtained by the boys.

"We can think of the boys under 20 in a community as either the 'ins' or the 'outs,'" the specialists say. "Those from 6 to 14, who are still in school, are the 'ins.' Our work is more directly with the 'outs'—from 14 to 20—the 600,000 boys in the 33 Northern and Western States who should have some sort of instruction and stimulus to accomplishment, because they have dropped out of school. Our theory can be illustrated by these apparently equivalent statements:

20 plus 20 equal 40
50 plus 20 equal 70

"The 20-year old boy, helped and guided to good practices, has some likelihood of using what he learns for the ensuing 50 years of normal life expectancy; but if work is begun first with the 50-year-old father, even if he is equally capable of adapting himself to new ideas—which is seldom true—he can have but 20 years or less, according to expectancy calculations, in which to use what he has acquired."

Re Daylight Saving.

A suburbanite wanted to know how he could set his rooster an hour ahead, whereupon a helpful friend advised him to exchange it for a hen, as it was easier to set a hen.

Bachelors and Children.

According to one eminent literary authority the best descriptions of children and of child life have been written by bachelors.

Yes, Verily.

When a man's wife says, "Now, you listen to me!" the proverb is about to be exemplified that "listeners never hear any good of themselves."—Boston Transcript.

The Fourth In Graham.

A crowd estimated at 2,500 came to Graham Monday to spend the day and enjoy the Fourth of July celebration. It was a good-humored and orderly gathering—everyone out for a pleasant day regardless of the hot weather. The program was carried out as published. Failing to secure an orator for the occasion, Messrs. Wm. I. Ward and W. J. Nicks spoke words of welcome to the people.

The day was a full one, morning and afternoon, with the numerous things given for entertainment and enjoyment. A good band from Durham was present and made music for the occasion.

The committee and all who took part and contributed in any way are to be congratulated upon the success of the day.

A TWICE-TOLD TALE

One of Interest to Our Readers.

Good news bears repeating, and when it is confirmed after a long lapse of time, even if we hesitated to believe it at first hearing, we feel secure in accepting its truth now. The following experience of a Graham man is confirmed after three years: W. W. Garrett, prop. restaurant, Court House Sq., Graham, says: "I had a bad attack of kidney trouble and I thought my back was broken. I would be laid up for days, unable to help myself. My kidneys caused me a great deal of trouble, too. I had these spells every little while until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They did me more good than anything else I ever used. My back got stronger and my kidneys began acting as they should."

Over three years later, Mr. Garrett added: "I have had no need of Doan's Kidney Pills lately. I think this remedy is just what it is represented to be. Every word of my former statement still holds good."
Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Garrett had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
