GRAHAM, N. C., Dec. 8, 1921.

Ireland and England have made terms, and the war between them is over for the present. Let us hope it will be lasting, for their interests are too nearly identical for them to be at outs.

Notwithstanding much was said, coming from Raleigh, that the Legislature would not consider any general legislation at the extra session, yet on the first day there was almost a flood of bills introduced.

President Harding appeared before Congress in person and read his message, following the precedent set by Wilson and not a bad one. Now what have the partisans who so severely criticized Mr. Wilson to say?

The Japs want to compromise on the 5-5-3 capital battleship proposition proposed by Secretary of State Hughes by proposing that the United States limit her fortifications in the Pacific, but the United States will hardly recede from the original proposition nor follow the Japanese suggestion about fortifications.

Discrimination Against Ex-Service Men.

Another case of Postmaster General Hays' discrimination against ex-service men in the selection of postmasters has come to light, this time at Peoria, Ill. The case as stated by Samuel L. Nelson, Commander of the American Legion Post there, in a letter to Senator Duncan U. Fletcher (Dem., Fla.), is as follows: There were nine applicants; after the examinations, recommendations were made in behalf of two who qualified, one of whom was chief clerk of the U. S. Railway mail service for twenty-five years or more, the other an ex-service man who entered active service in 1917 at the age of fifty-eight, served creditably until July 31, 1920, and who was the son of a Civil War veteran, the brother of a Civil War soldier and the father of an only son who entered the World War at the same time, May, 1917. This ex-service man suffered permanent injuries in the service.

According to Commander Nelson's story the applicant who had in the examination received the lowest rating and who had no other record than a Republican ward politician, was on May 30, this year, named acting postmaster and is serving in that capacity at the present time. Commander Nelson further said that it is openly claimed when public indignation has subsided, this appointment will be made permanent.

Under the Democratic administration, ex-service men were always given preference in appointments of this kind.

Republican Opinion of Congress.

Here is the opinion of Congressman William R. Wood of Indiana, a stalwart Republican, spoken on the floor of the House, November 17, concerning public opinion of this Republican Congress: "I know the very serious condition that is prevailing throughout the land. I am only speaking the truth when I say that the people of this country employed in every vocation and in every character of business are giving this Congress hell. They are doing it because we have done nothing to stimulate business. They are doing it because we have done nothing to give employment to the unemployed. They are doing it because we have done nothing to benefit the farmer and to stimulate the price of the farmers' products.

Saving $300,000,000.

The Tax Revision bill passed by the last Congress in its closing days did not pass as planned by that Republican body. By the help of Progressive Republicans the Democrats wrote some things into the bill that the reactionaries did not intend at the outset. Senator Simmons, a master of the subject, took a very conspicuous part in putting over certain amendments. He told how the Democrats and Progressive Republicans had saved to the Treasury of the United States nearly $300,000,000 by defeating the House provision in the Tax bill exempting foreign traders and domestic corporations engaged in foreign trade, 80 per cent of whose business was done abroad or whose income was derived from business done abroad. He absolved the House Committee from responsibility for the conception of this provision, saying it came from "higher up." By a majority it was stricken out.

Senator Simmons also said: "I want the Senate and I want the country to understand that we—a part of the Republican party and most of the Democratic party—put in the bill these things that mean so much to the taxpayers of this country, and we kept them in the bill, but not without a struggle that sometimes was almost desperate.

"Now, I come to the next amendment that was saved, and that is the surtax amendment. Around that amendment most of the discussion which took place with reference to incomes revolved. Does anybody doubt what would have been the fate of that amendment but for the insistence and demand of 21 or 22 strong, stout hearts over there, spoken of derisively as the agricultural bloc or the progressive bloc—some sort of a bloc in the Republican party which the old guard would spurn and ostracize? Is there anybody here or in the country who believes that the reactionary crowd that controls the Finance Committee, thoroughly committed to the House provision of 32 per cent, ever would have yielded to that amendment if they had not been confronted by that hard and insurmountable rule of necessity of things? They surrendered because they were beaten, and they knew it.

"You say that is a Democratic tax. You say that is the Democratic demagogue chasing the corporations and the rich. Yet, Mr. President, in the House of Representatives, in defiance of the appeals of the Republican leadership of that body, in the face of the earnest and almost impassioned letter which the President of the United States caused to be read in that Chamber, defying these influences, nearly as many Republicans in the House voted to sustain that amendment as did Democrats."

A Graham Citizen Tells of His Experience.

You have a right to doubt statements of people living far away but can you doubt a Graham endorsement?

Read it: A. T. Webster, Poplar Street, Graham, says: "I suffered severely from pains across the small of my back and there was a soreness through my kidneys. The kidney secretions were unnatural, too. Finally I used Doan's Kidney Pills and soon was much better in every way. I have had but little pain in my back since and the kidney secretions have cleared up."

Over ten years later Mr. Webster added: "I would not be without Doan's Kidney Pills for anything as I think they are the best kidney medicine on the market. They put me on my feet when I had kidney complaint and I advise anyone who has this trouble to take them."

Dr. Bingham making his comparison

Dr. W. V. Bingham is Director of Research, Carnegie Institute of Technology. He scored his comparison on a Phonograph Comparison Card. Come in,—get one. It will help you select your Christmas phonograph.

From an actual Photograph

This was the NEW EDISON

ON OCTOBER 24, 1921, Dr. W. V. Bingham, Director of Research at Carnegie Institute of Technology, ran a test to determine which is the best phonograph.

Four different phonographs, all well-known makes, were entered.

The New Edison triumphed. Not only did it prove itself the best phonograph in general,—but also best in every single department of phonograph excellence. It captured all nine tests.

This proves again that the New Edison is an entirely different kind of instrument. It alone RE-CREATES music so perfectly that there is no difference between RE-CREATED music and original music. It alone brings the true beauties of the human voice and the human played instrument.

If it is hard for you to believe this, make the same comparison Dr. Bingham made. Hear how Frieda Hempel sounds on the other phonographs; then hear her real voice on the New Edison. Rachmaninoff, too, and other artists have made RE-CREATIONS for the New Edison and records for talking-machines. These all afford you opportunity for true comparison.

Come in. Let us supply you with the same kind of Phonograph Comparison Card Dr. Bingham used. Do this before you decide on the purchase of your Christmas Phonograph.

Phonograph Comparison Cards are free for the asking. Get yours now—Christmas is near.
