LOCAL NEWS.

Graham and New Providence Christian churches have secured a pastor, Rev. S. L. Beougher, who comes here from Tampa, Fla., where he has resided for some time on account of the health of his wife. He and family are expected to arrive here about the 17th. They will occupy the Christian parsonage on Albright Ave.

Maj. J. J. Henderson returned Sunday night from Van Buren, Ark., where he went two weeks before to try an important suit involving several thousand dollars. The trial lasted over three days and resulted in a mistrial, as the jury could not agree, but ten of them were favorable to the Major's clients. The case will come up for trial again next July.

Every Sunday Service.

Graham Methodist Protestant church has made a forward move and will have every-Sunday service. The new arrangement started with the last Sunday in November. The new pastor is Rev. C. L. Spencer, who comes here from Weaverville, N. C. He and family have arrived and occupy the Jas. V. Pomeroy residence on N. Main St.

BREAKING FROM THE HOME FIELDS

Every community affords a commercial pasture in which can be found something to fill every want.

The home merchant is the pasture from which every citizen should fill his wants; those who choose to break through the barrier and shop in non-home productive stores are the losers first and the community next.

MORAL:—Don't break from your home pastures for untried fields.
