Graham had a quiet and orderly Christmas.

Graham Graded School will reopen Wednesday, January 4th.

Mr. Joseph S. Holt moved last week to the J. L. Scott home on E. Harden St., lately purchased by him.

Monday was practically observed here as Christmas. All places of business were closed for almost the entire day.

Mrs. Jas. C. McAdams underwent an operation at Rainey Hospital the early part of the week. She is getting along very well, it is learned.

At a meeting held at Oaks 18 out of 19 present signed the contract. Join the big majority before January 1st. and be proud that you voted for the biggest their is in the South.

Rev. S. L. Beougher held his first service of Graham Christian church last Sunday. He had a good congregation and preached a good sermon from the subject: "The birth of Jesus, the fulfillment of prophecy."

L. Banks Holt Mfg. Co. remembered all of its employees with a per cent bonus on wages covering the past twelve months as a Christmas present, and the members of employees' families with a nice lot of fruits and confectioneries.

The Community Christmas tree was a financial success. It stood immediately north of the Confederate monument and was prettily decorated and lighted by many different colored electric lights. It was Saturday evening. The exercise was simple, only singing by the young people. The money gifts amounted to $65, and a bale of clothing was given, which will be used to relieve the hungry and destitute of the near East.

John E. Hornbuckle Dead. After five or more years of declining health, during which time he was a great sufferer, Mr. John E. Hornbuckle passed away last Sunday morning about 8 o'clock at his home here. When in health he was a valuable mill man and prior to his sickness was superintendent of a certain portion of the Onco Mills. He was about 49 years of age. His widow, who was Miss Bailey of Concord, and the following daughters and sons survive him: Mrs. K. M. Davis of Raleigh, Mrs. W. T. Miller of Greensboro, Misses Minnie, Cornelia and Lucile and John Z. and Reuben of Graham. The funeral services were conducted from the home Monday morning by his pastor, G. M. Daniel, of the M. E. Church, and the remains were carried to Concord for interment.

G. Faucette Moore Died Saturday Night. The death of Faucette Moore Saturday night was a great shock to his family and friends and one of inexpressible sadness. He conducted a grocery store on N. Main St. and did not close until quite late. He went to the home of his father to spend the night, his young wife and baby, son having gone to the home of her parents in Gastonia to spend Christmas. He got to the porch and there he died about midnight. He was well thought of and had a nice business. He was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Moore. Besides his parents and wife and child he is survived by five half brothers, J. Curry, Chas. E. and Claud D. Moore of Graham, Dolph Moore of Greensboro and Lacy Moore of Washington, and three sisters, Mrs. B. S. Jeszak of Gastonia and Misses Louise and Margaret Moore of Graham.

The funeral was conducted from his father's residence Monday afternoon by Revs. E. N. Caldwell and Dr. W. P. McCorkle, after which the interment was in Linwood Cemetery.

Insurance Agency. Capt. R. G. Foster and Mr. Samuel Ausley have associated themselves together for the purpose of writing fire insurance. They have already secured the agency for several good and reliable companies. Their efforts will be chiefly directed to writing insurance on Graham property. When you want insurance, don't fail to call on them; or let them know and they will call on you.

Binding the feet to retard their growth has been discontinued in enlightened China.

Varieties of Spiders' Webs.

The common house spider spins a web quite different from that of the garden spider. The house spider's web consists of a silken tube hidden in a dark corner, with an irregular sheet of closely woven meshes spread before it. The tube is the spider's lurking hole and place of refuge; the outspread web is its snare. The wolf spider makes a tubular hole with a hinged door for a refuge and spreads no snare. Still another species of spider constructs a far simpler tube of silk without any lid or door.

Excellence in Art.

Excellence in art is to be attained only by active effort, and not by passive impressions; by the manly overcoming of difficulties, by patient struggle against adverse circumstance, by the thrifty use of moderate opportunities. The great artists were not rucked and dandled into eminence, but they attained to it by that course of labor and discipline which no man need go to Rome or Paris or London to enter upon.—Hilliar.

Difference in Minds.

To the living and affirmative mind difficulties and unintelligibilities are as dross, which successively rises to the surface, and dims the splendor of ascertained and perceived truth, but which is cast away, time after time, until the molten silver remains un-sullied; but the negative mind is lead, and, when all its formations of dross are skimmed away, nothing remains.—Coventry, Patmore.

Beginning of Manual Training.

The earliest official recognition of manual training was given in Finland, where Uno Cygnaeus organized a plan for such work in primary schools in 1858, and where such instruction was made compulsory for certain pupils in 1868. Sweden soon after recognized the importance of such training and gave an impetus to the movement.

Get Moisture From Ice.

In the Tanana valley, Alaska, though the rainfall is very light, crops draw ample moisture from the melting of subterranean ice for the first few years after the land is first cultivated. Eventually the ice recedes to such a depth that it no longer supplies the plants with water.

Warm Secret.

An interesting suggestion for use in connection with soldering iron or steel is to make a swab from flexible electric light cord, which is used in swabbing on to the work a solution made by dissolving a bit of zinc in muriatic acid and then diluting with a little water.

Oil Can Grip.

A piece of sheet metal bent roughly in the shape of a buffalo's horns, with a hole punched in the center so that it will fit under the spout, which is then screwed in place, makes an admirable finger grip and enables the operator to shoot the oil more accurately.

Origin of Treadmill.

The treadmill that was employed for many years in British prisons for purposes of discipline was invented in prison form by Sir William Cubitt, of Ipswich, and the power produced was employed in grinding corn and flour for food for the prisoners.

Bad News for Highbrows.

"Men with extra-large heads," says one of the doctors, "are likely to have brains that function poorly, owing to the excess water inside the skull." Now let the man who wears a 7 1/2 hat cease to blush when the clerk asks: "What size, please?"

The X-Ray and Airplanes.

The X-ray is used in airplane construction to detect defective materials, weak metal castings and workmanship, which would otherwise escape the eye of an inspector and possibly be the cause of disaster and death.

Tools to Make Rifle.

Nine hundred and ninety-seven cutting tools alone are required in manufacturing a rifle. The twist drill is one of the busiest of these. To supply 1,000,000 rifles 94,000,000 holes must be drilled.

Prohibition Enforcement.

One of the castes in Delhi, India, has decreed that any member using intoxicating liquor is to be beaten fifty times with his shoes, his mustache is to be shaved off on one side and a fine of five cowries is to be imposed.

And There's the Trouble.

The world needs both dreamers and workers. The trouble is the workers often go to sleep and the dreamers frequently have nightmares.—Boston Transcript.

Cottage for Canines.

English and—Two bulldogs want small furnished cottage, about 25 miles from London, for eight weeks' holiday, with rooms for their small car and human attendants. Write Box 11, etc.

Work and Worry.

Work is the easiest work in the world. Worrying is the hardest work in the world and the least necessary.—Atchison Globe.

Arabs Like Hyena Stew.

Some Arabs are extremely fond of hyena stew, and this despite the fact that even a dog turns from hyena meat in disgust.

"WE GUARANTEE EVERYTHING WE SELL. IF THESE SOCKS DO NOT GIVE PERFECT SATISFACTION, RETURN THEM AND WE WILL MAKE IT RIGHT."

THAT'S FAIR ENOUGH. BUYING OUT OF TOWN HAS BEEN VERY UNSATISFACTORY TO ME."

A GUARANTEE

The watchword of the home haberdasher is reliability. The fact that he represents everything truthfully and treats everybody fair makes him reliable. He knows that quality is a guarantee of satisfaction. How much better satisfied the out-of-town buyer would be if he would patronize the home dealer who keeps in style to please his patrons.
