County Tax Rate $1.37 for Next Year.

The County Commissioners, in session yesterday, levied the taxes for this year, fixing the rate for the different purposes as follows on the $100 valuation: For schools, 57 cts. General county, 15 " Roads and bridges, 15 " Bonds, 15 " Debts, 05 " Courthouse, 05 " Road tax (1921) 25 "

This is the same rate as last year, but the Commissioners cut the rate 5 cts. for county purposes and added 5 cts. to the levy for schools.

Criminal Court.

Alamance Superior Court convened Monday for the trial of criminal cases only. A list of 138 cases confronted Judge E. H. Cranmer and Solicitor L. P. McLendon. After the grand jury, of which H. M. Scott was appointed foreman, had been charged the court began its task. The Judge charged the jury straight from the shoulder, and some say he preached a fine lay-sermon. Jas. A. Winningham was at his old post as officer to the grand jury; fact is he has become almost indispensable in that capacity. At this writing good progress has been made in disposing of the docket and the prospect is that the road force will be materially increased.

Club Boys and Girls Return.

The Alamance club boys and girls who left here on the morning of July 30 for Washington by automobile returned last Friday in good shape. The party was in charge of W. Kerr Scott, County Agent, and Miss Edna Reinhardt, Home Agent, and consisted of 23 boys, 30 girls, 8 drivers and 7 chaperones, in all 70, besides the colored cook. A full account of the party's meanderings would make a long story, so we will only touch it in high places. The first night was spent at Curles Neck Farm in Virginia; a day and night in Richmond seeing the city. Spent part of four days in and around the capital city, came back through the Shenandoah Valley, spending part of three days and landed back at Graham last Friday. It was a great and enjoyable trip.

The Albright Reunion.

Several from here attended the Albright family reunion at Mt. Hermon last Saturday and report about 700 present, loads of good things to eat and an enjoyable get-together. A number of good and interesting talks were made. Rev. D. I. Offman, a genealogist of repute, states that the records show that the Albrights of Alamance trace their lineage back to the royal family of Hapsburg of Germany. The name in Germany was spelled Albrecht (we believe). It only 700 of the Albright kith and kin were present they would hardly be missed from this throng scattered over Alamance county, this state and other states. So numerous and so prominent was the family when this county was established about 75 years ago that a township was given the name; and it was fitting that the reunion was held in Albright township.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Graham Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Graham citizen says: "Robt. J. Holt, N. Main St., says: 'I suffered with a heavy, bearing-down feeling in my back and I couldn't do any lifting without getting a sharp, cutting pain in the small of my back. My kidneys acted too frequently and the secretions were scant and highly colored. I began using Doan's Pills, and after taking one box, felt so much better I continued until I had taken another box. All the backache left me and my kidneys acted fine. I have had no return of the trouble and believe Doan's cured me.' 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y."

He was highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends who will regret to learn of his demise.

Hog Prices Prove Feeding Plan Right

On July 14 the top price for hogs on the Chicago market was 7 1/2 cents per pound. By the first of August, the top was 10 1/2 cents per pound. "Nothing else need be said in favor of the plan being promoted by the extension specialists and State Division for Markets to have growers so feed out their hogs that those animals are ready for sale on the high markets of August and April," says V. W. Lewis, livestock marketing specialist for the State Division of Markets. "At the same date that hogs were selling in Chicago for 10 1/2 cents they were selling in Baltimore for 11.4 cents per pound and in Richmond for 11 cents." These markets at Baltimore and Richmond are the nearest large markets for hogs in this State and they usually pay better prices than the Chicago market. For the past few years W. W. Shay of the Animal Industry Division and Mr. Lewis have been working out a plan of feeding and marketing that will bring North Carolina hogs to good condition at a time when the market is highest. For over 20 years, these specialists say, the market has been highest in August and September in the fall and in March and April in the spring. Mr. Lewis states that hogs as a money crop are growing in importance in North Carolina and farmers should give serious consideration to the plan that will allow them to place these hogs on the market when the best prices may be obtained. If not in a position to start this year, an effort should be made to have some animals ready for the high market next spring. Well bred sows that will soon farrow or suckling pigs bought at reasonable prices now should pay good returns if fed according to the Shay plan, thinks Mr. Lewis.

No dead mice. Three sizes. Prices, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by GRAHAM DRUG COMPANY.

How To Save Tomato Seed At Home.

"It is often desirable and profitable for tomato growers to save their own seed. This is a simple operation and does not require a great deal of time, and at the same time, if done intelligently, it insures the quality of the stock," says Robert Schmidt, Assistant Horticulturist for State College. "When selecting for seed," says Mr. Schmidt, "the entire plant and not the individual fruit must be taken into consideration. The most perfect fruit of the entire field may be produced on a low-yielding plant producing fruit of desirable shape, color size and quality. "When well ripened, pick the tomatoes and dump them into a wooden vessel - preferably an oak barrel. They should be thoroughly crushed, a little water added to cover the pulp and then allowed to ferment until the gelatinous material about the seeds has disappeared. The time required for fermentation varies but usually takes from two to three days. Care must be taken not to allow excessive fermentation or the vitality of the seed may be injured. When fermentation is complete water should be added and the mixture stirred slowly. The seeds will settle to the bottom and the pulp will rise to the top where it can be poured off. When the seed has been separated from the pulp they can be transferred to a smaller vessel and thoroughly washed. The water is poured off and the seed placed upon a cheese cloth to dry. Drying should be rapid in order to prevent sprouting. When thoroughly dry the seed should be put in a cloth bag and stored away in a dry cool place." According to Mr. Schmit, one bushel of tomatoes will produce from 3 to 4 ounces of seed and one ounce of seed should produce enough plants to set an acre.
