Edgar Patton Passes at Harden Park.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock Edgar Patton was brought up from the swimming pool at Harden Park dead. He went in only a minute or two before and did not rise. Mr. Patton was one of a Sunday school picnic party from Cross Roads church spending the day at the park. He was a substantial farmer and highly esteemed citizen of Cross Roads community. He was near 50 years of age and is survived by his widow and a large family of children. The body was brought here to Green & McClure's funeral parlors to be prepared for burial, but definite arrangement for the funeral has not been made.

Sam M. Thornton's Barn Struck by Lightning and Burned with Contents.

Last Thursday afternoon during the rain and electric storm the barn of Mr. Sam M. Thornton, 4 or 5 miles south of Mebane, was struck by lightning and set on fire and was burned with contents. One horse was lost in the fire. The barn was well filled with feed. There was $300.00 insurance on the barn and none on contents. The fire was reported to the office of The Farmers' Mutual Fire Ins. Co. here late Thursday afternoon and the loss was adjusted and promptly paid Friday morning. Mr. Thornton is an industrious farmer of moderate means and the loss is a heavy one to him.

Alamance Farmers' Tour—Going to State Convention—Snow Camp String Band to Attend.

The Annual Farmers' Tour this year will be in the nature of a round-up at the State Farmers' Convention on July 26, 27 and 28. Alamance day will be on the 27th. Over 500 people are expected from this County to attend the Convention. The Snow Camp String Band is practicing for this occasion, and promises plenty of music of the good old fashioned kind. Other bands have been tried at previous Farmers' Conventions. The verdict of the officials has been that none excel the band from Alamance. The Convention is for the whole family. We expect to see you at State College on the 26th. W. KERR SCOTT, County Agent.

Alamance Musical Entertainers at State College July 27th.

Dr. Will S. Long's aggregation of Alamance Musical Entertainers will be a feature on Alamance day, Wednesday, July 27th, at State College. They will have a place on the platform. We venture to say that no feature of the day will attract more attention nor be enjoyed more. It is an unique combination that gets inspiring music from common-place instruments. We trust Alamance will turn out big on that day.

Alamance Day At Farmers Convention.

Next Wednesday, July 27th, Alamance day at the Farmers' Convention, which meets at State College July 26, 27 and 28. Mr. Chas. F. Cates of Mebane is its president. On Alamance day 500 farmers and farm women are expected to be present. A loving cup is to be given the county having the largest registered attendance, and Alamance expects to get the cup, hence a large attendance is urged. County Agent Scott wants at least 500 Alamance people there. The Snow Camp string band will be on hand to make music for the convention.

Morehead to Murphy by Daylight.

Last Friday D. T. Roughton of Old Fort dashed from one end of the state to the other over No. 10 by daylight. He started from Morehead City at 4:05 in the morning and reached the Georgia line 12 miles beyond Murphy at 6:58 in the evening. The distance registered was 587 4-10 miles. He is said not to have exceeded the state speed limit. He passed through Graham about 9:40 a. m. The feat was due to the State's good roads, which are working wonders for the old North State.

Geo. S. Rogers Dies at Home South of Graham.

After a protracted illness George Somers Rogers died at his home, about three miles south of Graham, about 9 o'clock Saturday morning, July 16th, 1927. He was born Oct. 5, 1850, and was nearly 77 years of age at his death. His passing marked the death of one of the outstanding men of the community. Mr. Rogers had lived in the home in which he died since he was about two years of age. He was born at the ancestral home, some two miles away. The home, in which he lived and died, was built in ante-bellum days by Milton Holt who sold it to Mr. Rogers' father, William McCoy Rogers, and emigrated with his family to Arkansas. He was the grandson of William Rogers, a Revolutionary patriot, and Mary McCoy. Like his forebears, Mr. Rogers tilled the soil for a livelihood. He did not gain wealth, but by frugality and the dint of hard work made a good living, educated his children, laid something up for the proverbial "rainy day" and left the heritage of a good name for his children. Though of robust physique, Mr. Rogers was too young to do service in the Civil War, but when the dark days of reconstruction came, the "days that tried men's souls," he had grown to manhood and did not shirk. As an alleged member of the Ku Klux Klan Mr. Rogers was one of the sixty-seven Alamance men arrested by Kirk's militia and marched aloft to Yanceyville and later to Raleigh for trial. He was one of several men hanged by the neck at Company Shops (now Burlington), at the spot where the High School building now stands, in an effort to extort a confession. The effort was futile, but Mr. Rogers suffered from the pangs of the torture to his dying day. The spirit that prompted resistance to British tyranny was a heritage that came down to Mr. Rogers. Mr. Rogers was a member and one of the founders of Bethany Presbyterian church, and a ruling elder in the church. The funeral was conducted from the home at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the presence of a large number of relatives, neighbors and friends by Rev. W. E. Harrop, after which the interment was in Linwood cemetery. The following were active pall bearers: Thos. R. Foust of Greensboro and R. V. Griffin, H. M. Holt, W. R. Harden, Jas. A. Foust and A. Lacy Holt of Graham. In 1877 he was united in marriage with Miss Annie Palmer of Randolph county. She died about five years ago. Surviving the deceased are one daughter, Mrs. R. D. Patterson of Liberty, and three sons and their children, Ben M. Rogers and Sarah Palmer, George C., Nau McCoy and Joseph Ben of Graham, G. O. Rogers and Rebecca and George of Whiteville, and W. M. Rogers, not married. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Ellen Wagener of Gilboa, Mrs. Woods Patton of Mebane and Miss Nan Rogers who lived with him.

Former Sheriff McAdams Dead.

Former Sheriff L. B. McAdams died at his home in Burlington last Thursday night. He was past 80 years of age and had been in declining health for the past two years. The funeral was held from the home Saturday morning at 11 o'clock and the interment was in Pine Hill cemetery. His wife, who was Miss Harriet Barnwell, had been dead nearly two years. He is survived by the following sons and daughters: Will and Clarence McAdams, of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Press Harrelson, of Baynes Store; Mrs. C. L. Shoffner, Miss May McAdams and Charles McAdams, of Burlington, Sam T., of Mebane and John M., of High Point. Mr. McAdams, called "Doc" by his intimate friends, was born in Pleasant Grove township. He was a farmer. In 1898 he was elected on the Democratic ticket to the office of Sheriff and held office for six years. When he went out of office he located permanently in Burlington and engaged in merchandising. Sheriff McAdams made an efficient officer and was attentive to business. In manner he was quiet and reserved, never offensive in anything he did. He made many friends throughout the county who will regret to hear of his death. W. A. Anderson, former resident of Burlington, died at Bath, and the remains were buried in Providence cemetery last Thursday afternoon. He was 65 years old and is survived by his widow and seven children.
