It goes without saying that good things to eat were plentiful, the people of that community being noted for surpassingly good eats. That, too, is one of the very best tobacco growing sections to be found anywhere and has been a liberal patron of the Danville market for much more than 50 years.

Game Wardens Hold Meeting.

On Tuesday morning the game wardens of this district, composed of eleven counties, met at Mebane to discuss and study the provisions of the new game law.

Those present were J. C. Thomas of Winston-Salem, Deputy Commissioner of the State Game Warden; Olan Barnes of Greensboro, warden for Guilford county; Jack Saunders of Reidsville, warden for Rockingham county; M. W. Durham of Chapel Hill, warden for Orange county; J. D. Lee of Graham, warden for Alamance county.

These officials are working under the Department of Conservation & Development, the object of which is to conserve the game birds and animals of the state and to put a check on those who would presume to spend all their time hunting without regard for the rights of others.

To this end open seasons are fixed for taking different kinds of game, as well as the number that may be taken on any day. To further protect game, all persons hunting must provide themselves with a license to hunt, except on their own premises; and further, it is unlawful to hunt on the lands of another without permission.

At first the law was looked upon with disfavor, but as it is becoming better understood the people are inclining to it and those who wish to hunt are providing themselves with licenses.

Mrs. Hughes Dies from Burns Received When Home Burns.

The home of the late Andrew Hughes on No. 62, just in the edge of Caswell county, was burned last Saturday night about 12 o'clock. Mrs. Lizzie Fitch Hughes, the widow, and her son, Charles Fitch, lived in the home. Both escaped, but Mrs. Hughes returned to secure some valuables and caught on fire. She reached the road with a roll of money clutched in her hand and died. Her son was severely burned in attempting to rescue his mother and save something from the flames. He is in Rainey Hospital.

The body was brought here to the funeral parlors of Green & McClure and prepared for burial, then carried to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Tom Blanchard.

The burial was at Union Monday at 11 o'clock, Dr. P. H. Fleming conducting the services. Mrs. Hughes was close to 80 years of age. She was the widow of W. J. Fitch when she married Andrew Hughes. She is survived by another son, Dr. W. E. Fitch of Buffalo Lithia Springs, Va., besides the son and daughter mentioned above.

North Carolina Day.

By legislative enactment the 12th day of October is designated as "North Carolina Day." The act suggests that the public schools devote that day to appropriate exercises in considering topics of state history. School children need to know more and more about the great state in which they live. Its history is romantic and full of interest from the time of the first step of the white man on its soil. The schools should celebrate the day with appropriate exercises.

Between April first and August first of this year, W. Kerr Scott, county agent of Alamance, has placed with farmers and club members 24 registered Jersey bulls, 190 Jersey heifers and 12 grade cows.

Lespedeza will put a curl in a pig's tail and change an unprofitable cow into a fat, profitable one, states D. A. Lowder of Stanley county.

SIX-COUNTY FAIR

JERSEY CALF EXHIBIT.

Jersey Calves Exhibited by World's Largest Club. Champion pure bred Jersey calves from each community in Alamance county, where the World's largest Jersey Calf Club now exists, were a feature of the Six-County Fair at Mebane.

The movement to establish the largest Jersey Calf club in the world was begun by W. Kerr Scott, county agent of Alamance county, on April first. By August first, he had placed with bonafide club members 153 registered pure bred animals. For the county as a whole, he placed 225 such animals. Twenty of these went to negro boys and girls and thus gave the county the added distinction of having the largest negro club of this kind in existence.

The banks of Alamance county gave full support to the movement. One institution financed the project to the extent of $8,000 while others came in for smaller amounts. Not content with this, the banks also gave cash prizes for the community exhibits which were made to select the best calves for exhibit at the larger fair. For each 20 calves placed in a community, $60 in cash as premiums was awarded that community. For each 30 calves, $120 in cash was donated. At the Mebane fair the Altamahaw, Edwin Holt, Eli Whitney, Sylvan, Alexander-Wilson and the Negro clubs were represented. The calves exhibited were easily the major attraction of the fair. The club members won valuable prizes in both the club and open classes.

In bringing in these cattle to Alamance county, it is Mr. Scott's idea to build up a great Jersey breeding center. He first secured all the surplus stock in Alamance county then went to breeders in other states for the remainder. According to Mr. L. R. Harrill, state club leader, this is one of the greatest movements for the live stock industry that has taken place in North Carolina in several years.

WHITSETT NEWS.

Whitsett, Sept. 23.—Miss Florence Barkley of Severn, Northampton county, reached here last week to take up her work as a teacher at the Hinton school. She is a recent graduate of Chowan college.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Lee of Newbern were pleasant visitors yesterday. Mr. Lee is a leading attorney in his city. He and Mrs. Lee were only recently married, and were on their way to spend some time in and around Asheville.

Yesterday Dr. W. T. Whitsett delivered an address at the Gresson-Foust reunion at Brick church, and tomorrow he is to speak at the Sharpe reunion to be held near Bethany in Rockingham county.

T. L. Fitzgerald who has been quite sick for some days has made some improvement, but his friends are still anxious about his condition.

Supt. Thos. R. Foust was here for a short while this week on his round of visits to the schools. W. T. Whitsett, Jr., entertained the members of the senior class of the Gibsonville High School at his home here on Wednesday evening.

Some badly needed repairs are being made on the public road running south to Low's bridge. It is hoped that other places on the roads traversed by the school trucks may have early attention.

There was a light frost here Thursday night, and the weather has been decidedly cool for the past two days.

Fertilizing Strawberries

For Increased Yield

Fertilizer demonstrations on strawberries that were conducted during the past year in Duplin county showed an increased yield of 26 crates per acre for a 9-3-8 formula in comparison with the fertilizer formerly used by the growers, states E. B. Morrow, extension horticulturist of State College. The tests were conducted under the supervision of Mr. Morrow and County Agent L. L. McLendon, on the farms of J. T. Albritton of Calypso, and J. B. Hawse and J. T. Marshburn of Rose Hill.

Each plot contained one-tenth of an acre with check plots the same size on which the grower's formula was used. Accurate records of the yield from each plot were kept by the grower. These records show an average yield of 140.1 quarts from each plot where the 9-3-8 formula was used as compared with 98.4 quarts from the check plots. According to Mr. Morrow, this means an increase of 26 crates per acre in favor of the recommended fertilizer mixture.

A study of these results indicates that a part of the increase was due to the time and method of applying the fertilizer, states Mr. Morrow. On those plots using the 9-3-8 mixture, the first application was put on about August 1, and the second application in early November. There was some difference in time of application by the growers of their own mixtures but in general both the first and second applications were put on later than was the case with the 9-3-8 formula, he states.

Repair the poultry house, stop the cracks and leaks, and cull the flock preparatory to winter, advises one successful poultryman.

Beardless barley, oats and vetch grow winter corn for feed next summer, say those farmers who have tried the mixture.

Powerful Evidence "It's Toasted" gives Lucky Strikes the finest flavor and protects the throat

What 11,105* doctors write about smoking

William Hodge, Favorite Actor of the Stage, writes:

"Until I began to smoke Lucky Strike cigarettes, I had to limit my pleasure in smoking. Now I smoke Lucky Strikes exclusively. My voice, my throat are never affected."

WHAT is the quality that Mary Garden, David Belasco, Nazimova, Fiske O'Hara, William Hodge, and other famous singers, actors, broadcasters and public speakers have found that makes LUCKY STRIKES delightful and of no possible injury to their voices? For the answer we turned to medical men and asked them this question:

Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?

11,105 doctors answered this question "YES."

These figures represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.

*We hereby certify that we have examined 11,105 signed cards confirming the above statement.
