

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., APR. 24, 1930.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Mrs. Z. T. Hadley entertained the Needlecraft Club on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

—Monday was generally observed here as a holiday by individuals, factories, shops and stores.

—Fishing, so common at Easter time, was not so good Monday. It was too cool and windy.

—Several from here attended the Moravian Easter services at Winston-Salem Sunday morning.

—The leaves are almost full grown, but their growth has been much retarded by the late cool, dry weather.

—A little rain would be helpful just now to keep vegetation going on with the fine start it has already made.

—Rev. W. E. Harrop addressed the Kiwanis club at Burlington last Thursday night. He was heard with keen interest and he made an appealing address.

—Sheriff Rudd and deputies cut up a jumbo booze plant for the week-end diversion. It was down on Alston Quarter farm in southern Alamance. It was a 400-gallon affair with necessary equipment.

—At meeting of Orange Presbytery at Cross Roads last week Mr. McBride Holt was chosen a delegate from the Presbytery to attend the General Convention at Charlottesville, Va., which convenes on May 22.

—Hon. Frank Hancock, Jr., of Oxford, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress to represent this district, was in town yesterday. He is meeting and getting acquainted with the people in this part of the district.

—A little frost is reported in some parts of the county this morning, and the weather man promises yet cooler weather, which means another frost. Snow was reported in Washington, D. C., and freezing weather in the northern border states yesterday.

—An eclipse of sun will take place next Monday. It begins a few minutes after 2 o'clock p. m. and ends about 4:25. It is what astronomers call a total annular eclipse. If you want to look at it, smoke a piece of glass to look through and you will not hurt your eyes.

—Mr. J. Dolph Long of Graham is announced as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to represent Alamance county in the House of the next Legislature. Mr. Long is an outstanding lawyer and citizen, and well and favorably known over the county. He has many friends who would be glad to vote for his nomination and election.

—Sam T. Johnston and D. S. Myers are building a new brick building 40x60 feet, one story, on the opposite side of No. 10 where W. Harden street ends, for a garage and machine shop. Mr. Myers is manager of the Dixie Grinding Co., whose shop has been on W. Elm street since it was founded. The shop will be moved to the new location in about two weeks.

—The Standard Service Station, corner N. Main and E. Harden streets, has just finished putting in a device for looking over and giving cars attention. The car runs on a track and the simple turn of a lever lifts the car bodily by air pressure about five feet above ground, so that any part can be reached without one doubling up and crawling under the car. It is a mighty handy affair.

—Preston J. Chandler, age about 72, a highly respected and well known colored man of Graham, died at his home here at 10:30 last Friday morning. He had spent most of his life in Graham. About 10 days before his death he was stricken with paralysis while on his lot at work. He is survived by a brother, John Chandler of Graham, and a sister. His funeral was conducted from the colored M. E. church Sunday afternoon.

—Coler F. Russell is starting the foundation for a new building adjoining his building on the corner of S. Main and E. Pine streets. The new building will front on S. Main. It will be of brick, about 59 feet broad, 60 feet deep and two stories. Each floor will be a single room according to present plans. The other building, which the new one will adjoin, is occupied by the Esther Hosiery Mills and Black & Fuller's grocery store. Sam T. Johnston has the contract for the new building.

To relieve the local surplus of eggs in Edgecombe county, local poultry growers placed 89 cases containing 2,570 dozen eggs in cold storage recently.

Mr. Junius Parker to Lecture At University Next Week

On Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week Mr. Junius Parker of New York will lecture before the law classes at Chapel Hill on the relations of law and business under the topic of "Business and the State."

Mr. Parker is one of the outstanding lawyers of the great metropolis. For a long period of years he was chief counsel for the American Tobacco Co., which position he resigned a few years ago, and is now a member of a leading New York law firm.

The people here feel that Mr. Parker belongs to Alamance, though he was born in Smithfield. But he came to this county with his parents, the late Capt. and Mrs. E. G. Parker, when a child and spent his boyhood and young manhood days in Graham.

He has a large number of friends be pleased to hear him at Chapel Hill.

And, by the way, in casting about for a president of the University to succeed Dr. Chase, Mr. Parker's name has been mentioned, and it is probable that his going to Chapel Hill at this time is for the purpose of cultivating a closer acquaintance in helping the trustees to come to a conclusion.

The average Stanley county farmer will increase his poultry flock this season and is planning to use the most modern methods of handling the flock for larger profits.

LONG BEFORE the choice leaves of golden Turkish and velvety brown Domestic tobacco are selected for Camel Cigarettes, nature's own alchemy has worked a miracle in them that no effort of man can hope to duplicate.

Every tiny leaf-cell is irradiated—stored full of goodness by the clean, pure vigor of the sun!

Our share in the making of Camels is to see that all of the fragrance, mildness, mellowness, aroma—in a word all of the natural goodness of these sun-ripened tobaccos is preserved and developed—then to combine them into the smooth, delightful harmony of the famous Camel blend, and manufacture them into cigarettes by the most modern methods known to the industry.

You can taste the natural goodness in every delicious puff of a Camel Cigarette.
