QUIPS.

"Weighed in the balance and found wanting" is what happened to the Republicans after a two-year term in office. That is the decision of vox populi.

Too much propaganda seems to have turned the stomach of the people. There is such a thing as over-doing the thing for political purposes.

Some newspaper man says "The secret ballot is a farce." True, to be sure, when oily tongued political workers are turned into the booths to help the voter mark his or her tickets.

Bishop Mouzon told the Methodist conference in Greensboro at its opening this week that the Methodist church was not in politics, or words to that effect. Of course he was not referring to the temporary silence of Bishop James Cannon, Jr.

Would-be Sen. George M. Pritchard rode the span, Raskob and Prohibition, over the state in his heading toward Washington. This twain worked fine in 1928. But, alas, this time the team was hooked wrong and stalled.

A Call for Aid for Those Facing Distress.

The political stress is over for a season—the contention for supremacy between the two great political parties of our common country.

Following this there is a burden that knows no partisan politics; that appeals to the human and humane.

There are millions of poor and unemployed in our country now facing the rigor of winter without the prospect of sufficient food and raiment to carry them over. These appeal to the more fortunate.

In point we print the following anonymous article:

With an estimated 5,000,000 persons threatened with idleness this winter, and approximately 20,000,000 likely to need aid during the cold weather, the cooperation of every citizen and civic organization is going to be necessary to cope with the nation-wide suffering arising through unemployment.

The National Emergency Committee for Employment appointed by President Hoover is promoting an extensive campaign to alleviate the situation. Units are being organized in every community to meet local problems. The appeal for aid has been sent forth to all. The replies have been fairly numerous. One small loan corporation has made available a special fund of $100,000 to local welfare bodies in over 200 cities of the country for the purpose of helping as many families as possible. This is to be distributed in amounts of $10 to $50 per family to be paid back in small monthly payments, without interest or other charges, when the breadwinner of the family finds employment. Individuals have made contributions to various funds. Yet the response has not been sufficient to meet the need.

To a person who has always been fortunate enough to have an income that assured a home and plenty to eat, the realization of what it means to be without these does not come very easily. Some day in the near future take a little time off and visit a mission or municipal lodging house where those without the price of a meal or bed seek food and lodging. Watch that group of men as they line up and file by to receive their portion of food; see how eagerly they grasp the bread and bowl of stew; with what difficulty they restrain their hunger and wait their turn. One glimpse of those tired hungry faces stamped with a mixture of misery and hope, longing and despair, will stimulate anyone possessed with a desire to do something to lessen the number of those in that unfortunate position. The call to aid those that are poor and cannot find work is one that no citizen can well ignore.

When the Pet Milk Products Co. bought the North State creamery at Burlington recently, the management increased the price of butter to farmers and decreased the price of milk to consumers.

After Two Years Truancy Alamance County Returns To Democratic Fold.

The Next Congress.

The administration was hard hit in Tuesday's election. Majorities, if any at all, have been wiped out.

PLANT BULBS NOW FOR SPRING FLOWERS

The spring flower garden is made glorious by the use of bulbs planted in the fall, in good soil, and allowed to develop a good root system before freezing weather.

"To have the most pleasing display of bulbs next season, they should be planted in October in most parts of the state, but it is not too late to plant them now," suggests Glenn O. Randall, floriculturist at State college. "The first requirement is a good soil. Every one knows what constitutes a good garden soil. This is the kind needed for the successful growth of bulbs. Before planting this soil should be put into the best possible condition. If it is too heavy, use a little sand, ashes or agricultural limestone. If it is too light and sandy, bring in some leaf mold, heavy pasture soil or again use agricultural limestone. The physical condition of the soil is important in growing beautiful flowers from bulbs."

Mr. Randall cautions against using fresh manure for fertilizer. This will be injurious. Rotted manure is fine but should never be used until it is thoroughly decayed. Bone meal is also fine for bulbs, especially when a little tankage has been added at the rate of one part of tankage to six of the meal.

Set the bulbs five to six inches deep in the well prepared soil. The bulbs should be placed so that the base of each one is in solid contact with the soil. Do not leave an air space below the bulb as is commonly done when using "dibber." This checks development of the root system.

To have spring flowering bulbs which make the garden a place of beauty, these few simple precautions will be found of value, says Mr. Randall.
