

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., AUG. 13, 1931.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Superior Court will convene next Monday for the trial of criminal cases.

—Mrs. Bettie Griffin was honored with a birthday party on last Saturday, her 81st, by Mrs. R. V. Griffin.

—On account of the recent rains the streams of the county are said to be fuller than for several years past.

—Graham Kiwanis Club will hold their meeting next Friday evening at Union church, near Saxapahaw.

—A reunion of the Murray and Thomas families will be held at Mt. Zion Baptist church near Kimesville on Saturday.

—The county sold 22 mules at public auction Monday at the County Home farm. They brought an average price of $87 each. They were good work mules.

—The change in temperature from Monday till Tuesday was so decided that men for comfort abandoned the shirt-sleeve style and donned their coats.

—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. May of Burlington gave a reception on last Saturday evening, celebrating their silver anniversary. Hundreds of their friends called to extend congratulations.

—Mrs. W. B. Quakenbush returned home last Saturday from the hospital in Greensboro where she underwent a serious operation more than two weeks ago. She has been recovering nicely.

—John M. Crawford, of the firm of Crawford & McAdams, clothing merchants here, has been appointed acting postmaster for Graham until December 1st. He entered upon the duties Monday.

—Hal Farrell is preparing to build a home. He has bought the lot on N. Main St. between the home of W. A. McAdams and the M. E. Church lot. The residence will be of the bungalow type.

—It began raining here Monday evening and kept it up, except at short intervals, till into the early part of Tuesday night. At times it poured. During Monday night there was something of an electric storm.

—There will be regular services at Graham Christian church on Sunday next, the 3rd Sunday, and on the 5th Sunday. Preaching at 11 o'clock by the pastor, Dr. W. C. Wicker. The public is cordially invited to attend these services.

—Mrs. McBride Holt gave a birthday party Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Armstrong Holt. Miss Virginia Harden, who is leaving for Birmingham, Ala., in a few days to take a special course in the direction of theatrical productions, shared the honors of the evening.

—Mr. Edgar Long gave the Kiwanians, at their regular meeting last Friday evening, an interesting account of the journeys of himself and party on their nearly six weeks western trip in June and July. During their trip they were within the borders of 19 states and traveled about 8,500 miles.

—When Pete Harden went out Wednesday morning to see how his Ford was behaving, it lacked some of all being there he left it—three wheels, the cushion, and all other loose parts were gone. The Ford was drenched Monday night and Tuesday morning it failed to start off. It was left by the roadside for fairer weather, so when Pete looked it over yesterday, he had the inspiration of trying to get together again the missing parts. A wand under the caption "Lost, strayed or stolen" would have been appropriate, but there is slim chance that it would have found anything for him.

—Mrs. Julius I. Foust Dies in Greensboro.

On Tuesday night, Mrs. Foust, wife of Dr. Julius I. Foust, president of North Carolina College for Women, died at her home in Greensboro after a long illness. She was Miss Sallie Price of Washington, N. C., and was in her 60th year. She is survived by one son, William H. Foust of Greensboro, and two grandchildren. Dr. Foust is a native of Alamance, having been born and reared near Graham. He is a son of the late Capt. Thos. C. Foust, and a sister, Mrs. W. B. Quakenbush, lives here. A brother, Jas. A. Foust, lives two miles south of Graham.

One of the best methods of determining whether or not the orchard is responding properly to the management methods given it is to inspect the trees carefully at this season of the year.

John D. Vaughn, Well Known Citizen, Dies Suddenly.

John D. Vaughn, long time citizen of Graham, died quite suddenly about 2:20 yesterday afternoon at his home, N. Maple St. Mr. Vaughn was down town yesterday morning and had gone home for dinner. An attack of angina pectoris came on while he was at dinner and physicians were summoned but were unable to relieve him. It is learned that he had a similar attack the night before.

Mr. Vaughn was born May 18, 1864, in Orange county as we are informed, but had spent most of his life in Graham. By trade, he was a shoemaker and an expert in his line.

Deceased was twice married. By the first marriage he is survived by the following children: Mrs. J. H. Vaughn of Winston-Salem; Mrs. H. E. Cates and Mrs. W. F. Wood of Burlington; Mrs. A. C. Yowman of Los Angeles, Calif.; T. E. Vaughn of Hillsboro; C. C. and J. R. Vaughn of Greensboro.

The second wife and two children, Albert Jackson and Jane Duke, also survive. He is also survived by a brother and sister, W. Z. Vaughn of Winston-Salem and Mrs. William Carroll of Durham.

Mr. Vaughn was a member of the M. E. church, from which the funeral will be conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon by his pastor, Rev. J. L. Rowland, and the interment will follow in Linwood cemetery.

Deaths.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Sam A. Cooper of Farmers, Randolph county, died Monday and the remains were buried here Tuesday in Linwood cemetery.

Mrs. Hallie Murray Carter, aged 20 years, wife of Geo. W. Carter, died Monday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Murray, north of Elon College. The interment was in Pine Hill cemetery Tuesday afternoon.

James L. Myrick, aged 14 years, died in a Greensboro hospital Monday night, following an operation for appendicitis. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Myrick of Graham. Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, Junius and Numa. Rev. J. L. Rowland conducted the funeral service Wednesday afternoon and the interment was at Phillips Chapel.

Inspect The Orchard And Study Trees.

One of the best methods of determining whether or not the orchard is responding properly to the management methods given it is to inspect the trees carefully at this season of the year.

"This applies particularly to apple orchards," says H. B. Niswonger, extension horticulturist at State College. "Every care uld over will go through his orchard while there is a full in work and examine the fruit for disease. There may be some fruit cleaner than other in the same variety. There may be some variation in pruning or in the kind of spraying material used. It is wise to mark any trees that may need special attention in the future."

Mr. Niswonger suggests that fruit be examined for codling moth damage especially on the trees standing near the packing and storage places. This is an indication that these places must be cleaned up. The fruit should also be examined for scale insect because they multiply and spread rapidly during the summer.

A close inspection of the foliage of the trees will pay, Mr. Niswonger believes. Some foliage may show the need for more nitrogen or organic matter in the soil.

This the 7th day of August, 1931.

E. H. MURRAY, Clerk Superior Court.

L. C. Allen, Attorney.

Some trees may be dying from the attacks of field mice or from disease. As soon as the harvest is over, the grass and weeds and the mice tunnels under the trees should be destroyed by hoeing. When early winter comes, put out some poisoned bait to kill out the mice.

At any rate, during this season, every orchardist will find it profitable to go over his trees carefully and make notes as to future work needed to be done.
