If you have not sown your turnip patch, don't put it off. In fact, prepare for a regular winter garden. Winter will be coming in a couple more months, and such things as can be started growing now will help wonderfully when winter time comes and prices rise.

Ambrose Teague, colored, says he was 84 years old last Sunday. He is, perhaps, the oldest person in this community. He is not a resident of the town proper, but lives just a few hundred feet outside on the Graham-Saxapahaw road. Ambrose, before emancipation, belonged to the late D. P. Teague.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Thompson and daughter, Miss Catherine, who left here on the morning of the 4th for Canada, arrived home about 2:30 this morning. Their objective, on leaving here, was Beauharnois, P. Q., the home of Mrs. Don F. Noyes, Mrs. Thompson's sister. Mrs. Noyes had been here on a visit for two weeks and returned home with the party. Up in New York State, they picked up Dr. and Mrs. Sam Vest, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, who were married here and left on Aug. 1st. Quite unexpectedly to themselves and to Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, Dr. and Mrs. Vest returned to Graham with the Thompson party.

The Gov. Thos. M. Holt home at Haw River, owned for a number of years by Phil S. Dixon and known as Dixondale. On and after Aug. 28th this historic and stately old home will be operated as a club house under the name of "Governor's Mansion Club" by J. A. Scandlyn. This has been one of the show places of Alamance county for more than 50 years. It was completely made over in the latter 70's. At that time it was, perhaps, the most pretentious private home within a radius of 50 miles. The spacious home and the acres of lawn planted to many various kinds of trees hold a charm unequalled by anything in this section of the State at this time.

Superior Court, Faced With a Full Docket, Convened Monday.

Alamance Superior Court convened Monday with Judge Frank A. Daniels presiding and Solicitor W. B. Umstead of Durham prosecuting for the State.

A grand jury was drawn, of which P. E. Morrow is foreman. Jas. A. Winingham was appointed officer to the grand jury.

The preliminaries being finished, the Court took up a docket that embraced almost every crime known to the law. It has been many months since a Superior Court was confronted by so large a docket and such a variety of crimes.

It looked like an impossible task to go through the docket with about 30 jail cases to be disposed of.

At this writing good progress is being made and there is a prospect that the jail will be cleared.

A few of the graver cases have been disposed of, but we shall not attempt in this issue, in the very midst of the court, to give a statement of the cases heard and disposed of, but will reserve that for next week.

Burlington Times Has Another Fire—Plant Destroyed.

Fridays and 13's are unlucky ones for the Burlington Times.

On Friday night of July 17th the Times had a fire that almost put the plant out of commission, but the office force pulled itself together and measurably overcame the handicap without missing an issue.

A second fire visited the plant last Thursday night, 13th, and practically destroyed the plant with the building. This fire was confined to the Times building, but adjacent property also suffered some damage.

Again the Times force proved itself equal to the occasion and an issue has not been missed. A. D. Pate & Co.'s job shop is now doing the mechanical part of the paper.

The loss is estimated at $60,000. But Phoenix-like the Times will rise from its ashes, and when the equipment, already ordered, arrives and is set in motion the paper will surpass anything it has done in the past.

The Gleaner congratulates the Times in surmounting obstacles and continuing to carry on notwithstanding.

A cooperative association, owned and controlled by farmers in Madison County has bought and sold $25,669.40 worth of farm supplies and produce during the last year, reports County Agent Farle Brinnall.

Eight purebred Guernsey bulls have been bought by farmers in Edgecombe County during the past eight months. Plenty of feed is being grown and farmers are increasing dairy herds, says County Agent H. W. Taylor.

Give the young birds plenty of roosting space as crowding causes them to become overheated, which weakens them and retards growth.

Plan now for an exhibit at your county or district fair. Let the other fellow see the kind of cow you have or the kind of crops you grow. Or maybe it's a pig you want to show. Anyway—it pays.

LINDLEY-HADLEY REUNION

Will Be Held at Spring Friends Church, Saturday, Aug. 22nd.

On Saturday next, Aug. 22, the widely scattered members of the Hadley and Lindley tribes, that is hundreds of them, will congregate at Spring, an old Quaker Meeting House in Newlin township, on Highway No. 293, and some twelve miles south of Graham.

The address of the occasion will be made by Chalmers Hadley. He is librarian of the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, and is also an author of some reputation. He is a descendant of the original Joshua Hadley, one of the pioneer settlers of that fine region lying up and down Cane Creek.

Among the interesting exercises of the reunion will be the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of pioneer Joshua Hadley.

These yearly reunions of the various pioneer families of southern Alamance have been the means of enticing many of those who have gone thither to return for a brief season to mingle with those who kept the home fires burning and visit the scenes of the childhood days of their forebears.

Call the laying flock during August in the advice of poultry specialists at State College. This early moulting is the poor layer and the flock is better off without these boarders, they say.
