

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., JAN. 5, 1933.

ISSUED EVERY THURSDAY.
J. D. KERNODLE, Editor.
 $1.00 A YEAR, IN ADVANCE.
 Entered at the Postoffice at Graham, N. C., as Second Class Matter.

IT'S THE WRONG WAY

The State Tax Commission has a plan for balancing the State's budget. And how? By scooping into the road fund. By doing this and letting the roads wag along any old way, it is proposed to cut out the 15-cent advalorum tax for school maintenance.

The road program is far from completion and if the fund is diverted it will be a generation before the work is done as originally contemplated. The plan was projected to give the State a highway system and to take from it for other purposes would be an act of bad faith.

The motorist in town and country pays his license and gas tax so that he can travel when he wants to travel, and it would be a great wrong to subject the motorist to a hardship which he is helping to correct every time he starts his car.

To reduce the costs of government is the quickest way out of the trouble. The individuals who have lived at public expense—off the money provided by the tax-payer—has helped more than any other class to make a deficit and an unbalanced budget, and it is now their turn to take on their share of the depression. To this there should be no exception. A cut of 25 to 50 percent would leave them in better shape than the average tax-payer.

Legislature Convened.

The 1933 General Assembly convened at noon Wednesday. It is stated that every member of the Senate was present for the opening and that only two or three members of the House were absent.

Lieut.-Gov. A. H. Graham is presiding over the Senate, and Senator Wm. G. Clark, of Edgecombe, was chosen President Pro Tem of the Senate.

Representative R. L. Harris of Person was nominated by acclamation as Speaker of the House in the caucus Tuesday night.

The House started out on the economy route by asking for a salary cut for themselves, state elective officers and legislative employes, and it looks like the biennial army of job hunters who flock to Raleigh at the opening of every Legislature is going to be disappointed in large measure. Economy is the slogan—or it should be.

It appears from this distance that the legislators are in Raleigh for business.

Senator D. J. Walker of Alamance has been named on the important committee of Rules.

Governor Gardner stepped down and out today at noon. He undertook and accomplished a number of big things for his State. If he erred, and doubtless he did not once but many times, we are of those who believe it was an error of the head and not of the heart. His State will wish him success in his future endeavors.

The world's gold output for 1932 is said to be a record breaker. It is estimated to be worth about $475,000,000.

Former President Coolidge Dead

News flashed over the world the early afternoon that former President Coolidge died suddenly at 2:45 this afternoon at his home at Northampton, Mass. He worked in the morning and had gone home. His death leaves no living ex-president of the United States.

He died of a heart trouble, but so far as known he had no ailment and was in vigorous health.

He was born on Independence Day, July 4th, 1872, at Plymouth, Vermont, and was 60 years old at the time of his death.

Mr. Coolidge had a very unusual career, outside the high distinction of being President.

The country is awed at the suddenness of Mr. Coolidge's passing and sincerely mourns his death.

Ehringhaus Inaugurated Governor.

At high noon today John Christoph Blucher Ehringhaus was inaugurated the 54th Governor of North Carolina since independence. He is 51 years old and his home is Elizabeth City.

Immediately upon taking the oath of office before Chief Justice Stacy he delivered his inaugural address, setting out the things for which he stands in his official capacity.

Prior to the delivery of his inaugural address some of the outstanding things—drastic economy, reduction of government expenses, salary reductions, consolidation of departments, etc.—had come to light. It is hoped for him that he will make a great governor and that the people will be made glad and rejoice.

With the government going in debt at the rate of seven million dollars a day, Congress is facing a situation that will tax its resourcefulness to the utmost. It is far from a pleasant thing to contemplate, when the government's revenue is diminishing and the demands for relief from various sources continue to grow. The people should not be allowed to drift away from the stern fact that whatever the government does out must be repaid in tax of some form, direct or indirect, and that the government is but a concrete name for the people who in the aggregate compose the country and the government. Hence, whatever the government hands out through the representatives of the people, in the last analysis, it must be collected from the people sooner or later. It's the people who create wealth and not the government. Government is but an instrument to reflect the will of the people.

The ninth annual newspaper institute will be held from 18 to 20, inclusive, at Chapel Hill. On Thursday afternoon, the 19th, the meeting will adjourn to go to Duke University. An interesting program, with interesting addresses by prominent newspaper men and others, will be given.

A happy and prosperous New Year is devoutly wished for one and all. Let's all pull together for its consummation, for by pulling together and working together is the only way in which the happy result can be attained.

One argument in favor of the new Lespedeza sericea as advanced by Rowan growers is that the variety stands drought somewhat better than the annual varieties.

RESOLUTION

I will start anew this morning with a higher fairer creed.

I will cease to stand complaining of my ruthless neighbor's greed;

I will cease to sit repining while my duty's call is clear;

I will waste no moments whining, and my heart shall know no fear.

I will try to find contentment in the path that I must tread;

I will cease to have resentment when another moves ahead;

I will not be swayed by envy when my rival's strength is shown;

I will not deny his merit but I'll strive to prove my own.

—Mrs. C. C. Lyle, Colo.

Timely Farm Questions Answered at State College.

Question—How should I feed my freshening cow?

Answer—A reasonable amount of legume hay and a small amount of silage can be fed at all times, but the grain feed should be restricted to bran mash the first day after freshening. A mixture of equal parts of wheat bran and ground oats can be fed for the next four days with the regular milking ration on the sixth day. The animal should be brought to full feed in about three weeks from freshening date.

Question—How can black walnuts be kept for spring planting?

Answer—After the nuts are thoroughly cured they should be placed in a pit below the frost line. Place a layer of sand and then a layer of nuts until the pit is filled to one foot of the top. Cover the pit with earth and dig a trench around it to keep out the water. The nuts should remain in this pit until late March or February, when they are removed and planted about 2 to 3 inches deep in rich, well drained soil.

Question—How can I select baby chicks to insure good quality?

Answer—There is no way of determining quality in baby chicks. In buying baby chicks get them from a local hatchery that uses quality, blood tested eggs. A few cents premium paid for these chicks will pay big dividends when they come into production. If possible, consult the county farm agent for advice as to where the best chicks may be obtained that are guaranteed to breed and strain.

A group of farmers in Richmond County has organized a savings and loan association to aid the farmers in supplying their own financial aid.

Pitt County took first place in the use of rat poison in the recent campaign to reduce the rat population of this State. Over 1100 pounds of the prepared bait was distributed.

Why bother with slow actions when one tablespoonful of this splendid and pleasant liquid remedy will cause gas, bloating, heaviness, heartburn or any upset condition of the stomach to speedily vanish.
