THE VINE

By ANNE CAMPBELL

THE vine is trying vainly to climb

Upon the smooth boards of my little

The sun is peering from an azure

But there is something here that holds

Nothing to climb on, that's the rub! It fails

Back on the brick of the foundation

Today I'll buy a trellis for my vine, And guide its tendrils up the strong

And lofty way God labors for our Giving us room to climb to heights

Upon the golden trellis of his love.

FOR THE TEA TABLE

SO MUCH depends upon the attracity is the rule, even where the pocketbook need not be considered. One need not buy expensive teas, either, for the ordinary ones when treated to a bit of orange peel, a flower or two of jasmine will have a flavor which will be found quite distinctive.

Dainty open sandwiches which take time to prepare but are so fetching in appearance are often all that is served with the cup of tea. Cut the bread into one half inch slices or a bit thicker, then into rounds or in any design.

One may have hearts, clubs, diamonds or spades if so inclined, as there are all sorts of sandwich cutters on the market. Spread the bread lightly with whipped cream, decorate with finely minced parsley, peppers or candied fruits. There is no end to the variety which anyone may think up, and use almost any food at hand. Many hostesses like to serve preserved fruits for sweetening, such as pineapple, candied cherries, orange quarters, glaced, and various other combinations. With the fragrance of the tea and fruit one needs some sweetening. Rock candy makes a delightful one as it may be bought in various colors to match the decoration. This adds much to the appearance of the table. This is never placed in the tea, but passed that the color may add delight to the partakers.
