

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., AUG. 23, 1934.

Local News.

Heavy rains fell Tuesday afternoon in the southern and northwestern parts of the county.

The asphalt surfacing around the courthouse was completed last Friday afternoon and opened to traffic Saturday.

The temperature has taken a big tumble since Sunday. It's very comfortable at this writing, but warm days will come again, at least some, before frosting time.

On Tuesday evening when the evening meal, with extra fixings and a few invited guests present, Mr. McBride Holt was reminded that he had reached another mile-post in the race of life.

Just what location will be chosen for the postoffice site is still an unknown quantity. We'll have to do a little patient waiting and give Uncle Sam time to look into the matter and make up his mind.

Two men, Huey Erwin and James D. Waggoner, were arrested in Burlington Tuesday, implicated in the passing of spurious coins. They were committed to jail to await further investigation. Counterfeiting is a crime that Federal authorities deal with.

The two-story Cooper apartment on N. Main St., recently vacated, has been converted into two apartments—one up - stairs and one down-stairs. Mr. and Mrs. Don S. Holt have moved into one and the other will shortly be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Barrett.

At the meeting held Monday at the courthouse Ralph H. Scott was chosen chairman of the steering committee to put over a program to prevent soil erosion in Alamance. Saving soil fertility is a long way cheaper and quicker than making. That is the idea that it is proposed to reduce to a reality and put into practical use.

A party of fox hunters left here Sunday for the old hunting grounds around Kinston for a few days sport. In the party were the following: Phil S. Dixon, A. G. Ausley, George Stafford, Arnold Moore, Linney Baily, J. L. Sizemore, Sr., and Jr., Ernest Cheek, Sr., and Jr., George Bronson, Wilson Davis, Oscar Allen and C. C. Horner.

Owing to the absence of Dr. W. C. Wicker, pastor, who had been chosen to make the principal address at a home-coming at Damasus Christian church, four miles west of Chapel Hill, of which he had been a former pastor a number of years, Rev. B. J. Howard of Chapel Hill filled his appointment at Graham Christian church Sunday morning and gave the congregation an excellent sermon.

W. Carl Longest, who has been secretary and treasurer of the town of Graham for more than five years, has resigned and gone into the coal business under the name of Carolina Coal Company. His coal yard will be the former Moon yard, on the spur track north of Oneida Cotton Mills. He is succeeded by Miss Mary Tome Hughes in the office of secretary and treasurer.

Hunters are thinking of game as the fall season approaches. As yet there is little attraction for gun and dog in the open. On Sept. 1st the season for shooting doves opens; for squirrel, Oct. 1st. Later on the season for taking other game will open. Hunters must have license and these can be procured from J. D. Lee, Game Warden, Graham; at City Hall, Burlington; Warren's drugstore, Mebane, and general store, Saxapahaw. No change in prices since last year.

Beginning Sept. 1st, the well known dry goods merchants, known as "Crack and Joe," will make a change in their manner of doing business. It will be strictly cash to all, no discrimination—every customer treated alike. By doing this there will be no bad or unpaid accounts to be taken out of the legitimate profits from sales to prompt paying customers and at the same time all will reap the profits of better goods for less money. After an honorable business career of more than thirty-one years the firm needs no introduction to the people of Alamance and adjoining counties.

Cumberland cotton growers received $46,000 in rental checks last week.

Womanless Wedding To-Night.

At the Court House at 8 o'clock to-night, the fun begins when the curtain rises for the "Womanless Wedding."

The entertainment is put on by the Graham Firemen.

There will be a small admission which the Firemen need to help them buy things which are useful in maintaining the organization.

Show your appreciation of the service the Firemen render by attending their entertainment, and the fun you get 'out of it will far exceed the little bit you pay to see it.

Lindley - Guthrie Home-Coming at Spring Church Saturday.

A reunion of the Lindley Guthrie families and the kith and kin will be held at Spring church, South Alamance, Saturday.

It has been an annual event for a number of years for at least two branches of the pioneer families of the Cane Creek section to unite in a home-coming and reunion.

There are many descendants of the pioneers in the North and West. On each occasion a number of these return to get acquainted with their South Alamance relatives.

The program will open on Saturday at 10:30 a. m. with song and devotional exercises and Ira G. Newlin will speak words of welcome. Harry Newlin will give historical sketches.

The principal address will be by Thos. C. Carter, after which Mr. E. P. Dixon, the president, will make remarks.

After a picnic dinner the program will be taken up again.

The events of the afternoon will be a recitation by Edith Guthrie and the unveiling of a marker to the memory of a pioneer. The presentation will be made by Ira Guthrie and it will be accepted by Glenn and Gwen Guthrie.

Sylvan Calf Club Holds Show and Gives Supper.

Tuesday afternoon was set for the annual Sylvan Calf Club show, but a heavy down-pour of rain prevented the show coming off, and it is being held this morning.

At former shows there have been around 75 Jerseys in the showing. This year, owing to much closer grading, the number has been reduced to 50-odd.

The Sylvan, or Snow Camp, section has been noted for its superior milk cattle for two or three generations. Long years ago, longer, perhaps, than any resident of that community can remember, a breed of cattle known as the "Dixon stock" was known and sought after for their extraordinary milk-giving qualities.

What breed of cattle this was there is no one, so far as known, to give reliable information.

The Dixon cattle revealed that that section the possibilities of the cow and the present generation is making good use of the lesson.

It is distinctively a Jersey community to the extent that the Sylvan Calf Club is heralded as the "largest calf club in the world."

It is not an invidious distinction to say that the Snow Camp section is now the foremost farming section of Alamance county.

There are good homes, good churches, good schools, law-abiding, healthy, vigorous, industrious and hospitable citizens.

The supper came off yesterday evening. A supper to be remembered—bounteous and prepared and served as only those who have things to cook and know how to cook can prepare.

A large crowd, citizens of the community and visitors from Liberty, Burlington, Graham, Haw River, Mebane and other points enjoyed the hospitality.

There were no set speeches for the occasion, except very excellent addresses by two of the community girls, Misses Edith Roach and Maxine Stuart, who spoke for dairy products, their value as food and as a material aid to success in farm life.

Two very fine speeches—highly creditable in thought, composition and delivery. They ought to be printed so that others than those who heard could enjoy reading them.

The evening closed with a number of selections by the community string band, and everybody went away feeling that it was good to have been there.

A real start toward returning farm prosperity has been made in North Carolina this year due largely to the fine spirit of cooperation between farmers themselves and their government.—Dean I. G. Schaub.

Beaufort county tobacco growers expect to produce more than their allotments of tobacco due to the favorable season.

Peanut growers of eastern Carolina report more than 1500 persons present at the recent conference with AAA officials, millers and producers at Suffolk recently.

All crops in Catawba county are reported in excellent condition with an abundant harvest forecast.

In Rowan county growers of lespedeza and clover say they will produce from two to four tons of dry hay an acre. All farmers endeavoring to save all hay possible.

Late snap beans grown in Avery county are moving to outside markets at good prices. The surplus is being canned at Cranberry.

A few tobacco growers in the State whose crops were larger than allotted by contract have destroyed their excess, but for most part the plantings have run pretty close to the allotments, according to the reports of county agents.

Measurements to determine whether cotton growers are complying with their contracts have been carried on at a rapid rate. Surveyors checking up on the measurers say the first measurements are pretty accurate.

Cotton growers wishing allotment under the Bankhead act have only a few more days left to make their application. The applications should be filed with the county agent.

In Caswell county measurers are finding that 25 percent of the tobacco growers have exceeded their allotments and 10 percent of the others have exceeded the 80 percent base average. Both groups are quick to remedy the situation.
