

Wreckage of the Rogers-Post Death Plane

Bombed in Illinois Miners' War

Two rival unions of miners in Illinois have been at war for a long time, and the bombing of trains is a not uncommon incident in the conflict. The photograph shows the wreckage of a train that was blown up near Springfield. Three trainmen were badly injured.

Ill-Starred Craft Shown After Plunge

Post-Rogers Crash May Cause Russia to Postpone Hop

The wreckage of the plane in which Will Rogers and Wiley Post crashed to death in the shallow waters of a river lagoon a few hundreds yards from the Arctic ocean and 15 miles from Point Barrow, Alaska. Post's body was extricated from the splintered wreckage which appears under the forepart of the plane. Rogers' body was found outside the fuselage.

Since the tragedy became known, it has been rumored that plans of three Russian aviators to hop from Moscow across the Arctic to San Francisco may remain in abeyance. The Post-Rogers flight was expected to confirm the location of an uncharted island off the coast of Siberia.

Connecticut Claims Man Is Real War Hero

Determined to obtain for Sergt. Bernard J. Early, shown here, of New Haven, the credit given to Sergt. Alvin C. York of Pall Mall, Tenn., for annihilating a German machine-gun battalion, the Connecticut department of the American Legion adopted a resolution calling on congress to award the Congressional Medal to the Connecticut veteran. Sergt. Early is totally disabled due to war injuries. The resolution asserted that the capture of the Germans in the Argonne forest was effected by Early and that he turned them over to Sergeant York, then his corporal, to take back to the lines.

Beetles Threaten Ruin of 900-Year-Old Church

Amsterdam.—Beetles are threatening to demolish the 900-year-old church at Oudewater in Holland. The church dates back to 1008 A. D. and was the only building spared in 1575 when Spaniards razed the town. So great have been the beetles' ravages on the church that the authorities have had to close it.

Life Begins Again at 80 for Him

James M. Washburne, former millionaire candy manufacturer, who at eighty, has again climbed to the top. Left penniless by the depression, he invented a new kind of candy, and is back at the head of a million dollar concern.

Prince Ready for Conflict With Italy

Prince Makonnen, son of Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, is being trained for a part in the expected war with Italy. Although he is still at the age when most lads are concerned only with games and studies, he is preparing for the conflict which many believe inevitable. He is shown at the left wearing an officer's costume and his helmet is trimmed with the mane of a lion. Such sights as this inspire the native warriors to fight to the death for their country.

He may have a real job on his hands, for there have been fears of a world-wide race war.
