Senator Josiah W. Bailey, North Carolina Statesman

Like a bolt from the clear blue, a full page appeared in Monday morning's Greensboro Daily News, bearing the impressive imprint, "Contributed by Greensboro friends of Senator Bailey without his knowledge."

The page featured a carefully written and comprehensive editorial from the Roxboro Courier of December 5th, which is edited by J. W. Noell, one of the State's able and veteran editors.

The editorial measures Mr. Bailey's record by the yardstick of Thomas Jefferson, the father of Democracy, and applies the following tests:

- Is he honest?
Is he capable of filling the office?
Does he believe in the Constitution?

To each of the queries the editorial makes affirmative answer and cites Senator Bailey's spoken words on the most important issues and measures before the Congress in confirmation of the tests.

This is the first big gun fired in the senatorial campaign and it doesn't go off unheard.

There are other aspirants for this important post of service and honor occupied by Senator Bailey, but it is for the voters to say whether promises should guide them in their decision, or whether pledges kept, deeds performed and statesmanship are worthy of commendation, approval and support.

R. R. Clark Passes.

Rufus Reid Clark, newspaper writer and former editor and owner of the Statesville Landmark, died suddenly from a heart attack on Tuesday evening at his home in Statesville. For a number of years he had been a contributing editor of the Greensboro Daily News. He had just finished his newspaper work for the day when he suffered the attack and passed.

Mr. Clark was born January 24, 1864. First a printer, then publisher and editor. He succeeded as owner and editor of the Landmark the late Joseph P. Caldwell, who said he could go away and leave Clark in charge and nobody would know the difference.

High praise that the passing of Wade H. Harris, editor of the Charlotte Observer, a few weeks ago, and Mr. Clark, Tuesday, removes two newspaper men who were in the front ranks. Both had been in harness continuously for ever fifty years and represented the best in North Carolina journalism.

Large Yields of Lespedeza

W. B. Humphries of Bethel Hill, Person county, reported to farm agent H. K. Sanders a yield of six tons of lespedeza hay per acre and a 100 percent increase in corn yields following lespedeza.

J. T. Daniels of Granville county reports 36 two-wagon loads of lespedeza hay cut from a five-acre field. The field is now in wheat with excellent growth being made.

Rowan farmers say they have 107,000 pounds of lespedeza seed for sale. Most of it is Korean with some Kobe and Sericea.

THE TAX MENAGE A GROWING CRISIS

By FRANCIS H. SISSON

President American Bankers Association

No danger, economic or social, more seriously menaces our life, happiness and prosperity than the rising tide of taxes which threaten to engulf us. This is not simply a problem of the depression. It has been developing for many years, growing more serious all the time. The depression merely brought it to a climax. Unless drastic steps are taken to reverse this trend the problem will not end with the depression. It will continue to weigh down and retard progress for an indefinite period.

In city, county, state and nation the orgy of spending has run on. It is estimated that in the United States the total cost of all government is nearly five times what it was before the World War. Many localities have been brought to the verge of bankruptcy by their expenditures, while many have saddled their citizens with a debt burden that will darken their lives and hamper their progress for years to come.

The total cost of Federal, state and local government in the United States is estimated at forty-six million dollars a day. Based on national income in 1930, this represents about one-fifth the total income of our people, or about $116 for every individual in the nation. Total taxes in 1931 are estimated to have taken more than 22 percent of the national income. It is occasion for serious thought on the part of everyone when one day's income out of every four or five must be contributed to the maintenance of government machinery.

United States Government expenditures were reduced one hundred and forty million dollars during the first quarter of the current fiscal year. The recent action of bankers in calling a halt to unnecessary expenditures of New York City as prerequisite to loans will reduce the cost of government in the country's metropolis, which is second in its expenditures to only the Federal Government. No state in the Union, in fact, no other government on this hemisphere, spends half as much as this one city. These savings in Federal and municipal costs are only the beginning of a movement needed throughout the country. If we are to be led out of depression into prosperity.

Unless the people can be made to realize that money for governmental expenditure can come only from their own pockets as taxpayers, casting depressing effects on both individual effort and general business, there is an imminent threat that we may be forced to meet economic difficulties similar to those that have so seriously handicapped other countries. The question is not primarily one of merely paring government salaries or shaving budgets, but rather of curtailing government activities for which we cannot afford to pay.

The idea that money for these mounting extravaganzas can be raised by following the slogan "Soak the Rich" is utterly fallacious, for such a policy will simply exterminate "the rich" and eliminate sources of revenue. It is also important to realize that corporate business in this country is in no position to withstand the effects of indefinite advances in tax rates. Current earning reports reveal that fact beyond shadow of doubt. The tax base must be broadened, and it therefore seems likely that Congress will be called upon to reconsider the sales tax, at least as a temporary measure to help meet a critical condition in the nation's finance.

Libson's Oldest Cathedral
Se Patriarchial, Libson's oldest cathedral, was founded in 1150, wrecked by an earthquake in 1344, rebuilt in 1380, wrecked by another earthquake in 1755, and has managed to lead a reasonably quiet existence ever since. The choir loft is now the only remaining feature of the original building.

Russian Icon Most Active to 1917
Up to 1917, the world's most active icon was the holy picture of the Iberian Virgin in Moscow. From morning to midnight each day in a coach drawn by six horses and attended by priests, it made a round of visits to homes of the sick.

Second Largest Sugar Mill
The huge sugar mill at San Fernando, Trinidad, is the largest in the British empire and the second largest in the world. Forty thousand tons of sugar were turned out there in one year.

3-Way Weapon of 16th Century
Back in the sixteenth century in England a maker of hand weapons produced a combination weapon. It consists of a pistol, dagger and knuckleduster, or brass knuckles.

Hi Ho is Amused
"My manner of deep humility serves to amuse me," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown, "since it encourages my friend Hi Hat to grow more ridiculous as he continues to strut."

IT APPEARS—

That the governor of South Carolina is experiencing a traffic jam.

That there's a superior court judge who sits on the bench in Alamance county who runs his own court. Congratulations.

That "Self Defence" is one of the most juries can't cross.

That Dr. Ralph McDonald is a mathematician as well as a candidate for governor.

That many would wish Il Duce had entered King Tut's tomb instead of Ethiopia.

That cold weather has a contracting effect on wood-piles.

That the bite of the black widow is as deadly as that of the merry widow.

That the writer recognizes Burlington as 1 among the classified towns as given in Daily Times-News.

That women are not arrested for carrying pointed weapons. Is that because they have the red danger sign painted on their nails?

That there must be bargain days for permanents. When a pupil is absent from school a day, you may expect her the following day with a new head.

Timely Farm Questions Answered At State College

QUESTION:—Can soybean oil be used in feeding poultry?

ANSWER:—This meal is one of the most complete vegetable proteins, but is lacking in mineral content and should not be used to replace all of the animal proteins in poultry feeds. In view of the shortage and high price of animal protein supplements, it is probable that soybean oil can be used to replace a part of these supplements. However, where fish meal or meat scrap is cheap, only a small quantity of oil meal should be substituted.

QUESTION:—Is there any ingredient that I can put in pure beef tallow to bleach it and keep it from being rancid?

ANSWER:—The addition of two tablespoons full of baking soda to each 100 pounds of tallow will bleach the mixture. This should be put in while cooking and after the tallow reaches the boiling point. This also removes some of the rancid odor, but the best way to keep the tallow from becoming rancid is to clean all cooking vessels thoroughly and cook properly. If the tallow is handled properly throughout the cooking and cooling process there will be very little odor and it will have better keeping qualities.

QUESTION:—What single spray will control scale insects and leaf curl diseases on peaches?

ANSWER:—A lime sulphur spray, either liquid or powder, will control both insects and disease. This should be applied any time between now and just before the buds swell. After the buds swell, this application will not control peach leaf curl disease. Where an oil spray is used for control of scale insects a 3-4-50 Bordeaux mixture must be added. When making this combination spray the Bordeaux should be made first and then the oil added. In making liquid lime sulphur use 6 gallons lime-sulphur to 50 gallons of the spray. For the dry mix 15 pounds of dry lime sulphur should be used to 50 gallons of spray.
