REVISING the 1937 budget figures he submitted to congress in January, President Roosevelt now estimates that expenditures caused by the bonus and the AAA invalidations will put the public debt at the all-time high figure of $34,188,543,494. He says, however, that better business will run tax receipts up $12,000,000 higher than was expect-ed. The President's revision covered the fiscal year that be-

Roosevelt gan July 1 last and Roosevelt will end June 30, 1937. During his absence from the capital it was issued by Acting Budget Director Daniel W. Bell. The chief items changed by the estimate were: 1. Receipts, fixed at $5,665,839,000. Expenditures at $7,762,835,300.

 Gross deficit for the year at $2,096,996,300. 4. Public debt on June 30, 1937, at $34,188,543,493.73.

These estimates compared with January figures as follows: 1. Receipts of $5,654,217,650.

 Expenditures of $7,645,301,338.
 Deficit of $1,098,388,720. Public debt at end of year of $31,351,638,737.

The $2,000,000,000 deficit Mr. Roosevelt estimated is the lowest of the New Deal. Regarding this figure the President said:

"The estimated deficit for 1937 is $2,096,996,300 which includes $580,-000,000 for statutory debt retirement and $560,000,000 for further payments under the adjusted compensation payment act.

"Deducting the amount of the statutory debt retirement leaves a net deficit of $1,516,996,300.

"This does not mean that there will be an increase in the public debt of this amount for the reason that it is contemplated during the year to reduce the working balance of the general fund by approximately $1,100,000,000."

What Mr. Roosevelt meant by this was that instead of borrowing money to cover the difference between receipts and expenditures, the Treasury would dip into the general fund for $1,100,000,000.

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT and Alf M. Landon, rival candidates for the presidency, met in Des Moines, Iowa, in their respective capacities of President of the United States and governor of Kansas, and discussed the problem of relief for the drouth sufferers and prevention of future drouths. With them were the governors of other midwestern states. Governor Landon was pre-pared to offer for consideration the program for long distance drouth relief which he submitted to Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, during the more serious drouth of It was said to resemble in many particulars the plan the President has been advocating in recent speeches and is a joint federal-state program. Just before the Des Moines conference got under way there were heavy rainfalls in Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma which weather fore-casters thought were "the beginning of the end of the drouth.'

RESOLUTIONS adopted by the American Bar association at its meeting in Boston declare firmly arainst any attempt to limit the power of federal courts to pass on the constitutionality of laws. The association avoided what had been expected to be a lively debate by taking a noncommittal attitude on the report of another committee which denounced in great part the alleged invasion of the rights of citi-zens by the New Deal. This report, to which there was a minority report appended, was received and filed by the assembly, but not ac-cepted, and the committee which filed it was discharged from further Frederick H. Stinchfield of Minneapolis was unanimously elected president of the association.

PERHAPS the farmers of America don't realize it, but during Ju-ly they enjoyed the largest cash in-come they have had since 1929. Figures given out by the Department of Agriculture show the sales of farm products brought them $711,000,000 against $582,000,000 in June and only $451,000,000 in July, 1935.

To their income from sales, the farmers added $24,000,000 in various forms of government benefits, bringing the total cash at their disposal to $735,000,000. The rental and other benefits totaled $57,000,000 in June and $19,000,000 in July, 1935. Drouth-Stricken Farmers Get Government Aid

Their crops seared and withered and their farms reduced to dusty stretches of sun-baked soil, these North Dakota farmers are forced to turn to work projects as their only means of avoiding starvation for themselves and families. They are being put to work on water conservation and irrigation projects to re-claim their once fertile land from the grip of drouth and barrenness.

HIS TEMPER

I T WAS a long time since Farm-er Brown's Boy had visited the Laughing Brook and the Smiling Pool, so of course he knew nothing about what had been going on there One morning, having nothing else to do, he took it into his head to go over to the Smiling Pool to see how

"I Guess You Are Pretty Nearly Ready for Cold Weather," Said He.

Jerry Muskrat was getting along. Jerry saw him coming and his heart was so filled with distrust because of what he had suffered from the trapper who had so nearly caught him that he actually suspected Farmer Brown's Boy.
"I used to think that I could trust

FARMER BROWN'S BOY LOSES | Farmer Brown's Boy," muttered Jerry, "but I don't trust him. I don't trust anybody. As likely as not Farmer Brown's Boy has been friendly just so that he can take advantage of it." So Jerry promptly hid where Farmer Brown's Boy could not see him, but where he could watch Farmer Brown's Boy.

The latter was whistling, a habit he has when he is feeling happy. He came straight down to the bank of the Smiling Pool and there he stood for a few minutes looking at Jerry's house. "I guess you are pretty nearly ready for cold weather," said he, just as if he were talking to Jerry. "I've brought a couple of carrots for you and I hope you will enjoy them. You'll find them over by that favorite old log of yours."

Farmer Brown's Boy pulled a couple of carrots from his pocket and walked over to the old log which lay half in the water and half out. It was the very log where Jerry had been caught in the trap by his tail. When Farmer Brown's Boy got there he gave a tittle whistle of surprise. There were some pieces of carrot already there. Then Farmer Brown's Boy's face clouded. "I wonder what this gan to look about. It didn't take him long to discover the trap fastened to the old log. "Ha! I thought so!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy, and his face became angry looking.

He reached down and got hold of the chain of the trap and pulled it free from the log. Then he tossed it up on the bank and at once went over to another favorite feeding place of Jerry's. There, just as he expected, he found another trap. This he also threw up on the bank, and his face looked angrier than ever.

Now Farmer Brown's Boy knew all about trapping, and, what is more, he knew all about the ways of Jerry Muskrat. So he went from place to place where he thought traps might be set. He found two more, and by this time he had quite lost his temper.

"I'd like to know who it is has dared to set traps here," he grum-bled. "This is on our land, and everybody knows that we don't allow trapping. I guess I'll have to go up the Laughing Brook and see if there are more traps up there. I'll take these traps along with me, and whoever owns them will have to come up to the house to get them Then I'll give him such a good piece of my mind that he won't do any more trapping along the Laughing Brook and around the Smiling

GOOD AND ECONOMICAL

BEEF loaf is an economical main dish to serve occasionally, and it may be as tasty as it is satisfying. It is without waste, and when sliced may be served as cold meat for the second day. The following is slightly different, but recommended as very good: Beef Loaf.

Simmer one and one-half pounds of round of beef in a quart of boiling water, teaspoonful of salt and a ta blespoonful of vinegar. When ten-cer chop very fine. Add to the broth, which should be at least a cupful, a teaspoonful of sug ir. the same of sage and thyme. Add one tablespoonful of worcestershire sauce and more salt and pepper. Mix with the meat and press in a buttered mold. Serve when well chilled with sliced tomato on let-

Stuffed Flank Steak.

Have a flank steak trimmed and scored. Mix one cupful of bread crumbs one small onion chopped, one-half of a grated carrot one-half cupful of chopped celery, one tablespoonful of minced parsley, one teaspoonful of sugar and salt and pepper to taste. Add one-third cupful of hot water or vegetable liquor to moisten. Spread this mixture over the steak, roll up tightly and tie firmly. Sprinkle with seasoned flour and brown in a little hot fat. Place in a covered baking pan and bake one and one-half hours, basting with butter and vegetable liquor three or four times during the baking. Serve with pan

Macedoine Salad.

Take two cupfuls of cooked rice, one cupful of peas, three tablespoonfuls each of minced celery and grat-ed cheese, four tablespoonfuls each of pimiento and relish, one tea-spoonful of salt. Mix well and serve on lettuce with french or mayonnaise dressing.

When fresh coconuts are in the market, keep some freshly grated coconut well sugared in the ice chest. Use it on salads, on custards as topping for cream pie and cust-ard pie and as cake filling. It is so much tastier than the canned or package variety, which we wel-come when the fresh nut is out of the market.

"Too Much Preaching"

Rev. Dr. Frederic S. Fleming, who urged a moratorium on preaching for one or two years in his annual statement as rector of Trinity parish, New York. Dr. Fleming made his suggestion after declaring that, despite the record of Trinity's ac-tivity, "there is no part of the church of Christ that has not failed lamentably in its witness and min-istry in these recens years—the impotence of the church is the worst failure."

The Dogfisia

The dogfish is a small, slate-col-ored shark, three feet long, with a strong spine in the dorsal fin. It inhabits both shores of the North Atlantic, southward to Cuba. The flesh is used for food and the liver yields oil. The very tough skin is dried and used, like sandpaper, for polishing wood. Sometimes as many as 20,000 dogfish have been taken in a single haul of the net.
