William O. Stratford, Prominent Citizen, Died Saturday

Mr. William O. Stratford, after a week's illness, passed at 12:10 Saturday, Oct. 3rd, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Burton May, near Haw River. He suffered a slight stroke a week before and another on Tuesday night following, after which there was little hope for his recovery. He was unusually active and vigorous for his age, up to the day he was stricken.

Mr. Stratford was born May 14, 1850, near McLeansville, Guilford county, the son of Henry Blair and Jane Cooper Stratford. His ancestors were of sturdy New England stock and came south in the early days of the last century.

For many years Mr. Stratford was an active business man in Greensboro before coming to Alamanac in 1917. On October 25, 1877, he was united in marriage with Miss Bessie O. Trolinger, the only daughter of William H. and Isla Eatmon Trolinger, near Haw River, who died Sept. 6, 1926. In June, 1932, he was united in marriage with Mrs. Dora Alling Main of West Haven, Conn., who survives him. He is also survived by four sons, Dr. W. H. Stratford of New York, John B. Stratford of Graham, Robert E. Stratford of Haw River and Parke C. Stratford of Burlington; one daughter, Mrs. Isla S. May of Haw River; ten grandchildren; a brother-in-law, John A. Trolinger of Haw River, and nephews and nieces.

Mr. Stratford was a devout member of the Presbyterian church and the senior elder of the Graham Presbyterian church. He was a man of fine intelligence and esteemed by a large circle of friends.

The funeral service was conducted from the home of his daughter, Mrs. May, Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock by his pastor, Rev. W. E. Harrop, after which the burial was in the historic Trolinger burying ground at Haw River. The active pallbearers were brother elders of deceased in the Graham church.

Founder's Day at Woman's College

College Started With 223 in 1892, Now Has Enrollment of 1780.

Greensboro, Oct. 6th—Students and faculty at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina paused in the work of the fall semester Monday, October 5th, to observe Founder's Day and pay tribute to the memory of Dr. Charles Duncan McIver, founder and first president of the College. Exercises were held at 11:15 in Aycock auditorium, with Dr. W. C. Jackson, dean of administration, as the presiding officer. Speaker for the occasion was Dr. Julian Miller, editor of the Charlotte Observer.

Also speaking to the large audience of students, faculty, alumnae, and friends of the college was Dr. Mary Poteat, of the faculty of Duke University, a graduate of the Woman's College and President of its Alumnae Association. Special music was furnished by the college vested choir of 100 voices, directed by George M. Thompson, of the faculty of the school of music.

The Woman's College, then called the State Normal and Industrial School, was established by legislation enacted in 1891, and the College opened its doors October 5th, 1892, with an enrollment of 223 and a faculty of 15. This year the enrollment has passed 1,780, and the faculty numbers approximately 200.

If Onslow county farmers would thin their woods as demonstrated by R. J. Graeber on J. W. Taylor's farm near Richlands recently, they would have plenty of firewood for many years to come and would be growing a profitable crop of timber at the same time, says Charles D. Raper.

Timely Farm Questions Answered At State College

Question—How can I inoculate soil for seedling hairy vetch this fall?

Answer—In the mountain and Piedmont sections the best method is to moisten the seed with water and molasses and then mix them with from 200 to 300 pounds of soil from a field known to be inoculated. If this cannot be done a good commercial culture may be used. In the coastal planes, especially on the sandier soils, it is advisable to use 200 to 300 pounds of soil from a field that is already inoculated for vetch. If this is impossible, use either of the other methods with a good application of stable manure. It sometimes takes two or three crops of vetch to establish the inoculation thoroughly and it is therefore best to start on a small scale.

Question: When should pullets be moved to winter quarters?

Answer: This transfer should be made from two four weeks before the average pullets start to lay, or certainly by the time they are in twenty-five percent production. This often causes a conflict as, in many cases, the hens are laying too well to be disturbed and the pullets are ready to take their place. Where the pullets are well matured, of high quality and are in 25 percent lay then they should be given the preference. If the pullets are immature and of inferior quality it would be best to sell them and keep the hens as it is a mistake to replace superior hens with immature or inferior pullets.

Question: When should skim-milk be substituted for whole milk in feeding the young calf?

Answer: The substitution should begin when the calf is 4 weeks old. One-half pint of skim-milk should be substituted for whole milk at each feeding and continued until all whole milk is replaced. At this time the calf should be getting about two quarts of skim-milk at such feeding. This amount should be gradually increased until the animal
