

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., OCT. 7, 1937

Local News

The State Fair opens at Raleigh next Tuesday.

Dr. W. C. Goley is spending a day or two at Dr. McPherson's Hospital, Durham, for treatment.

A bevy of Graham girls have organized a social club which they have named the Kadets Klub.

George Boring has opened a sea food market next to W. J. Nick's store on Courthouse square.

Prices of tobacco on the Burlington and Mebane markets are ranging high—around 28 cents. In some instances farmers are averaging more than 40 cents for the entire offering.

Mr. Isaac Holt, on last Saturday at his home on N. Main street, sold out at auction his household effects and has gone to make his home with his son, Luther Holt, near Saxapahaw.

George A. Long, Graham chairman of Air Mail project for next week, reports excellent cooperation on the part of Graham business concerns. The mail going out from Graham will be attractively labeled or marked when delivered to the Air Mail plane.

Graham Garden Club gave a miniature flower show at the home of Mrs. J. L. Johnson Tuesday. Nearly all the members had exhibits. First prize was won by Mrs. Johnson, second by Mrs. W. R. Hardeu, third by Mrs. S. S. Holt, and a number of others received honorable mention.

Graham School P. T. A. has on a drive for membership this week. The goal aimed at is to have at least one member of the association from each home represented in the school. That would assure a helpful cooperation that would result in securing increased benefits from the school for the community.

The Roxboro Courier (three a week) completed the installation of a Duplex press last week, and changed from a 6-column 8-page paper to an 8 column 6-page (and more pages when circumstances demand it). It looks like the Courier is going to nose into the daily field yet. The Gleaner congratulates brother Noel on these evidences of prosperity.

The Alamance Alumnae Association of Woman's College, Univ. N. C., met in Burlington Tuesday evening. Mrs. Don S. Holt of Graham was elected president. Other officers elected were Miss Margaret Riddle, secretary, Miss Florene Robertson, treasurer. One of the ladies addressing the meeting stated there were 250 alumnae of Woman's College in Alamance county.

Elon College foot ball team won its third victory in the game with the Davis-Elkins team of W. Va. last Saturday night. The game was played in the Greensboro stadium. The score was 13 to 6. So far the Elon Christians are unbeaten. It is stated by some that the Davis-Elkins team is the strongest Elon is scheduled to play this season. Alamance fans made up a good percentage of the interested spectators.

Ninety-Eight Per Cent Solvent Life Insurance.

During the depression the holders of life insurance policies in companies representing more than 97 per cent of the total insurance in force in this country had their policies maintained without impairment.

Companies representing less than 3 per cent of total life insurance in force went into receivership. Even in the case of these companies, loss to policyholders was not complete, as salvage served to pay off a large percentage of obligations.

Few other industries can point to a record of 98 per cent solvent during the worst depression in American history.

County Tax Rate Set at $1.18 Was 95c Last Year

The County Commissioners have fixed the tax levy at $1.18 on the $100 for 1937, as against 95 cents for 1936.

Since the 1936 levy the county has been loaded with certain Burlington, Mebane, Graham and Haw River school bonds, which made an increased rate necessary. The total county budget aggregates $445,745.62.

Changes from Charlotte to Salisbury.

John W. Harden, Graham boy, for the past about ten years on the staff of the Charlotte News, some ten days ago transferred to Salisbury and became a member of the Salisbury Post staff. He began his newspapering when a student at Chapel Hill with the University News bureau as assistant to R. W. Madry. From then on up to his going to Charlotte he was with the News and Observer, the Burlington Times and the Journal. He established the Cracker, Graham school paper. He has written a number of feature and magazine articles and stories. In Charlotte he was outstanding in civic organizations, and we are sure he will be no less in Salisbury. He married Miss Nina Holt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Holt, and they have two children.

In The Old Dominion

Williamsburg, Historical, Antedates Organization of United States... A Marvel of Restoration

By J. E. Jones

Williamsburg, Va., Oct. 6, '37—Hundreds of visitors, whose license plates show them to be from every state in the Union, come here—just as I did—to see the magic results of the Restoration of Williamsburg. They see old Bruton Church and William and Mary College, and many buildings that were built before there was such a political organization as the United States.

That which is old along "Duke of Gloucester Street" and in other parts of the town are fine settings for all that is included in the Restoration.

First, there is the restored British Capitol, with reminders of English Governors and American patriots, George Washington, Patrick Henry, Benjamin Harrison and scores of others. In this building the House of Burgess; reproduced, with the original chair of the presiding officer, Rich-

Robert V. Griffin Dies at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore.

Robert Vance Griffin, 61, of near Graham, died at 11:30 this morning at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, following a brain operation on September 13th. He was a farmer, his home about three miles southeast of Graham. For several years he has been connected with the State Highway Commission and lately in charge of the district including Alamance.

Mr. Griffin was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thos. J. Griffin of Chatham county and moved to Alamance some 40 years ago with his parents. He is survived by his wife who is very ill at Alamance General hospital; two sisters, Mrs. E. P. McClure of Graham and Mrs. J. E. Franks, Raleigh, Rt. 4; and two brothers, C. E. Griffin, Ford Cliff, Pa., and C. R. Griffin, Graham, Rt. 2.

The funeral service will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. McClure at 11 o'clock Friday morning, and interment in Linwood cemetery.

Fire Prevention Week.

Fire Prevention Week is here. What are you going to do about it?

If you are short-sighted, you will do nothing. If you have any interest in protecting your property and your family's lives, you will use Fire Prevention Week as an occasion for taking the simple, essential measures that usually suffice to make homes and places of business safe from the most common and dangerous fire hazards.

Fire Prevention Week is not designed to sell anything. It is designed to serve—to conserve—to protect. During the Week insurance companies, civic bodies, fire experts and public officials will use the radio, newspapers, displays and printed literature in an effort to make you think and to make you act.

In the average home grave hazards exist of which the owner knows nothing. Ignorance, as well as carelessness, is a prolific source of destructive fires.

The simplest and most easily corrected causes are responsible for the great bulk of fires in dwellings. A slight fault in a heating plant may devastate a home. Accumulations of papers, clothes, furniture and other odds and ends require only a spark to burst into flame. Improperly stored fluids such as gasoline, benzine and kerosene are a constant menace. Amateur repairs of electric appliances and light cords cause millions of dollars' loss annually. Patent oil-soaked rags are often the cause of spontaneous combustion. An improperly protected hot electric iron, or cigarette ashes invite fires.

It costs you nothing to eliminate these hazards, and takes little time. That small effort may save you thousands of dollars—and infinitely more important, save a life. Fire Prevention Week was inaugurated to serve you. Make the most of it.

Randolph county farmers report the best lespedeza crop in years and say they will have much seed in addition to a fine crop of hay.

Fifty acres of cotton in Wilson county has been passed by inspectors of the Crop Improvement Association for use as certified seed.

reproductions of furnishings and relics and paintings of English kings and queens and also of early American revolutionists. These are but parts of the restored Capitol, with the flag of Britain flying over its top.

The Governor's Palace is like the halls of the richest monarchs, in grandeur, furnishings and prize relics, Raleigh Tavern lives again, in new walls, but with a setting inside and out that makes one feel as though he were living in the Colonial past.

Old Jamestown, only six miles away, lost out to Williamsburg about 1700, when the British seat of Government was moved to the latter city.

After the Revolution Williamsburg became a sleepy old town. And so it remained until a few years ago when John D. Rockefeller agreed to finance the Restoration.

Now the work is finished, Williamsburg is 160 miles from Washington. Next to Mount Vernon there is no place more worth seeing, particularly for those loyal, loving Americans who get "heart throbs" in such spots of historical and sentimental importance.

James W. Holt, Hit by Automobile, Suffers Fatal Injuries.

James W. Holt, 51, prominent merchant and citizen of Graham, died this afternoon at Alamance General Hospital from injuries suffered when hit by an automobile at a few minutes before 8 o'clock Wednesday night on N. Main street in front of home. A few minutes later a Green & McClure ambulance picked him up and carried him to the hospital. He suffered a severe concussion and never regained consciousness.

Mr. Holt, from best information, was going out from his home and had reached the street and was lighting a cigarette. It seems Mr. Holt had parked his car on the opposite side of the street. He had waited for a truck to pass. A car, driven by W. Carl Longest, was following. After the truck passed Mr. Holt started and came into the path of the Longest car. It is supposed Mr. Holt was blinded by the lights and became confused, and the accident is regarded as unavoidable under the circumstances.

Mr. Holt had spent almost his entire life in Graham and was one of the town's most esteemed citizens. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Agnes Courtney Holt, and three children, James W., Jr., in school at Chapel Hill, Miss Ruth Courtney, teaching in Pittsboro, and John Blaine, in school at Banner Elk; his father, Isaac Holt, of Graham; three sisters, Mrs. J. E. Moore and Mrs. J. G. Rogers, of Burlington, and Mrs. John Anglin, of Graham; six brothers, William Luther Holt, of Saxapahaw; S. Seymore Holt, Thomas M. Holt, Joseph Clye Holt and Charles C. Holt, all of Graham, and Robt. J. Holt, of Burlington.

Funeral service will be held Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Graham Presbyterian church with Rev. W. E. Harrop, Rev. R. P. Ellington and Rev. H. F. Surratt officiating.

Six upright silos and many trench silos have been constructed in Buncombe county this fall.

Air Mail Week--Next Week

By proclamation, Governor Hoey has designated October 11-16 Air Mail Week for North Carolina, calling attention to the fact that North Carolina is the birthplace of aviation and the appropriateness of air mail development in the State.

It's an all-week program, but for one day only, Tuesday, 12th, will planes call for mail generally throughout the State, and then only at towns where there is a convenient landing field or airport. For the other days mail intended for air delivery will be sent to the nearest airport and forwarded.

The movement is to demonstrate to the users of the mail service the expedition of doing business by air.

Air Mail Week is sponsored by the postmasters' association of North Carolina and the Postoffice Department at Washington is lending full cooperation.

Business men are urged to give the service a trial for the week as a test of results.

The planes to pick up mail at the airports will leave Kitty Hawk early Tuesday morning. They will call at all places having landing fields.

We are unable to name the hour the plane will touch at landing field near Graham but it is expected a number of citizens will be on hand to welcome the arrival.

Union county farmers are harvesting approximately two tons of prime lespedeza hay per acre, and have a good crop of seed.

THE QUESTION IS: DO SMOKERS APPRECIATE CAMEL'S COSTLIER TOBACCO'S?

THE BEST ANSWER IS: CAMELS ARE THE LARGEST-SELLING CIGARETTE IN AMERICA!

IS it good business to spend millions more for costlier tobaccos? Well, the fact that Camels are the largest-selling cigarette shows that men and women do find something choice—something different—in Camels. Camels are a matchless blend of finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO'S—Turkish and Domestic.

Farm Credit Association Making Record Collections

Indicates Farmers More Prosperous

Columbia, S. C., Oct. 1.—Collections by production credits associations in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia from July 1 to October 1, exceeded by over $1,000,000 the amount collected in the same period of last year, according to Ernest Graham, President of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia, who said today that farmers in the three states had already made payments totaling approximately $7,000,000.

Loans made by the 94 associations in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida this year total slightly in excess of $20,000,000. The bulk of collections to date has come from the tobacco sections, many growers having liquidated all of their loans from the proceeds of their tobacco sales alone. Collections are now mounting up heavily from the earlier cotton sections.

Present indications are that this district will make the same splendid record in collections this year that it has made in the past four years, said Mr. Graham, and some of the associations have already collected from 75 to 85 per cent of their total loans.

The collection season in the citrus section of Florida does not coincide with the rest of the district.

The Most Valuable "Crop"; Our Boys and Girls.

While adult farmers are struggling with the problems of production and marketing, a splendid new "crop" of farmers of the future is growing up.

More than a million farm boys and girls are now enrolled in the 4-H clubs. Here they are learning practical lessons in successful agriculture. On a distant tomorrow, they will be operating the nation's farms, organizing and running the nation's farm marketing cooperatives and working out the problems of the day.

The fact that organization of farm youth has now reached the highest point in history, argues well for the agricultural future. The training and information these young farmers receive in their 4-H clubs and elsewhere will prove invaluable.

Elon College Student Activities

Avocations of Late Graduates—Large Percent Pursuing Advanced Studies

Elon College, Oct. 6—A recent survey conducted among last year's graduates of Elon College by George D. Colclough, field secretary, reveals that almost one third are continuing their education in higher universities in preparation for some special field. Of the 45 seniors, 14 have entered universities.

The largest group is in the field of teaching with 25 having secured jobs in schools throughout the east. Four former Elon students have gone into business. Of the 14 who have enrolled at other schools, two are studying law, three are taking medicine and two have gone to advanced religious schools.
