

THE GLEANER

GRAHAM, N. C., MARCH 24, 1938

Local News

—Any complaint at the weather for unsuitableness for out-door work lately is out of order at the present time.

—When winter is late, it is a saying that "Winter lingers in the lap of spring," and what is it when spring arrives early and curtails winter?

—Deputies from the Sheriff's office razed a booze plant, newly set up and operating, in Coble township Wednesday. The proprietor was conveniently absent.

—It may be a little previous to say "Springtime has come, gentle Annie," for most of us have known the weather to do fantastic things in the later March and early April days.

—Fine weather for gardening. Every family should have a small garden plot that can be tended without outside help. The product would supplement the family living, besides affording a fine opportunity for healthful exercise.

—A meeting of tax listers, named by the Board of County Commissioners, scheduled to be held at the Courthouse tomorrow afternoon, is a reminder that the tax listing will be around again on April 1st and for the remainder of that month.

—The store room on W. Harden street, recently occupied by the Western Auto Supply Store, is being fitted up with counters and shelves for the opening of new dry goods store which will be operated by Al C. Wilkinson, who has had around twenty years experience in merchandising. His home is here and he has many friends who will wish him success.

—The big concrete block which supports the traffic light at the intersection of N. Main and Harden streets is a bad target for careless or incompetent drivers. At an early hour this morning a car ran into it. The car was badly damaged and the driver suffered painful injuries. The block is large enough to be seen, but occasionally someone, to his sorrow, fails to look ahead and avoid it.

—Two truant girls, around 16, giving their names as Louise Pennington and Estelle Bragg, their home as Mataoka, W. Va., were taken in custody by deputies Monday evening just out of Haw River and put in jail for safe keeping. They said they left their homes Saturday night, hoping to find a place they'd like better and get work. Sheriff Stockard called their home over long-distance, but at noon today nothing had been heard.

—Judge Cooper A. Hall of the General County Court has given out a note of warning to "driving drunk" automobile operators. The $100 fine and costs judgment does not seem to be an effective cure, and the intimation is that a road sentence may be used to help the situation. This is a reminder of the story in the old Blue Book, where the farmer tried what virtue there was in stones after turf failed to bring the bad boys down from the apple tree.

Alamance Wants Veterans' $1,500,000 Hospital.

A Veterans' hospital is to be built by the Government at some point in the eastern half of this State at a cost of $1,500,000. Government agents are out looking for an eligible and suitable location. Hoping to secure the institution for Alamance county, Burlington, Graham and county officials are cooperating in an effort to get it for our county. To that end a meeting of officials and other citizens of the two towns and county was held in the courthouse last night.

Burlington has offered a 117 acre tract near Highway No. 62, about four miles south of the city and about the same distance southwest of Graham. Representatives of the two towns and the county held a conference and agreed to finance the water system for institution, estimated to cost about $17,500, if the location offered is acceptable and accepted.

The proposition should appeal to the citizens of the county. It is a rare opportunity, and should the offerings secure the hospital for Alamance it will be a prize well worth the price. Wherever it shall be located it will be permanent and sustained at Government expense.

Wayne county farmers are finding that there is money in poultry. Last week a group sold 3,608 pounds of cull birds for $587.44.

I SMOKE CAMELS BECAUSE I KNOW WHAT FINE TOBACCO GOES INTO THEM. HARRY C. KING knows tobacco because he grows it.
