

U. S. Senate, March 9, 1846. Mr. HAYWOOD declared to answer the question of Mr. ALLEN, whether he (Haywood) had the authority of the President...

Mr. Hannegan said it was quite immaterial whether the Senator from North Carolina gave a direct answer to Mr. H's inquiry...

In reply to a question as to the date of the letter, Mr. H. said it was the 23d April, 1841. (Mr. H. here quoted the letter.)

He further quoted the letter where it declared we ought to assert and hold our right of dominion over the whole territory of the Republic...

Mr. H. well remembered that Mr. Polk had not been his own first choice, nor that of the Senator from North Carolina...

Mr. H. would here say that if the President had betrayed the standard of the Baltimore Convention to its enemies...

Mr. Hannegan, resuming, said there was a great difference between this, as explained by the Senator, and the resolution as adopted at Baltimore...

Resolved, That our title to the whole of Oregon is clear and unquestionable...

In conclusion, he would no longer detain the Senate, he could only say of the whole tone and meaning of the speech of the Senator from North Carolina...

DREAFUL EFFECTS OF THE STORM.—The Norfolk Courier of Saturday afternoon says:—We learn that a very respectable resident of the vicinity of Nott's Island...

For CALIFORNIA.—The Arkansas Gazette, says that Mr. Leavitt, has received a large number of letters with reference to his contemplated expedition to California...

language of that bill, and see if it did not propose to take possession of Oregon up to 51° 40' after giving unqualified notice to Great Britain...

The Senator put language in the President's mouth which Mr. H. would here undertake to deny as not that he appended here as the champion of the President—he claimed no such position...

Mr. Mangum here called Mr. H. to order. Mr. Hannegan immediately apologized, saying that, if he had used language that was disrespectful to the Senate, it had not been his intention...

It was outrageous in any—and in a Western Democrat it would be treason—moral treason of the deepest dye...

Mr. Johnson said that he was very glad that the 51 40 men had such poetic authority for their claims. The remainder of the day was spent in Executive session.

Resolved, That a Committee of five members be appointed to inquire and report what measures, if any, are proper to vindicate the character and honor of the Senate...

HOUSE. Several private matters having been disposed of, the House went again into Committee of the whole, and resumed the consideration of the Harbor bill.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Monday, March 9, 1846. SENATE. After prayer, and the reading of the Journal, Mr. Colquitt rose in relation to the Editorial in the "Daily Times," published in that City on Friday evening last...

When the hour of the special order on the Oregon notice arrived, Mr. Evans, of Maine took the floor. He stated the position of the question—the light in which it had been viewed by other Senators...

HOUSE. A resolution was offered to the effect that all debate on the Harbor and River Appropriation bill shall cease on Friday next. A motion was made, to lay the Resolution on the table. Agreed to.

After prayer, several petitions and memorials of no great interest were presented, and one by Mr. Pearce, from citizens of Queen Ann's county Maryland, without distinction of party...

HOUSE. The stereotyped resolution that all debate on the Harbor bill shall cease on Tuesday next, was again offered, and on its passage the Yeas and Nays were ordered, and resulted—Yeas, 106; Nays 61.

SENATE. After the disposal of petitions, the bill to aid in the construction of Michigan and Illinois Canal came up. It was strenuously opposed by Mr. Niles, advocated by Mr. Cass, and then laid aside for the consideration of the Oregon notice Resolutions.

HOUSE. After the presentation of some memorials, the Harbor bill was again taken up in committee of the whole. Half a dozen dry political speeches were made, after which a motion to adjourn prevailed.

SENATE. Mr. Jarnagin called attention to the Editorial articles in the "Times" newspaper. He thought that the grave charges contained therein ought to be investigated.

DEERING.—The new Constitution of Missouri provides that any person who shall, after the ratification of the Constitution by the people, be engaged in a duel as principal, second, surgeon, accessory or abettor, shall forever be disqualified from holding any office, civil or military, in the State...

A FISH TRAP.—The New Haven Register gives an account of the latest Yankee notion, in the shape of a patent spring-hook. By a very delicate but ingenious machine, as soon as a fish attempts to nibble the bait on the hook, a second hook comes down and catches him on the back of the head, and he is a "gone sucker."
