

AGE-OLD BUILDING MATERIAL

"Pise," in Use for Many Centuries, is Merely a Simple Form of Concrete.

What is pise? The word, which in its complete form is written pise de terre, betrays a French origin and, from its general appearance, might well suggest some affinity with the world of art.

The word itself, traced to its Latin origin, apparently means nothing more artistic than "battered." Perhaps the simplest definition of pise is provided by Pliny the Elder, who calls it "earth battered between boards," meaning by boards a form such as may be used for concrete in construction work.

The Roman sage adds that it was an old and well-tried system of building and remarks that Hannibal used this material for watch towers on the tops of hills in Spain during his campaign.

Who knows whether it was not also in use when Cheops built his Great Pyramid: for there are prehistoric pise buildings in New Mexico and Arizona which, some say, date back almost to that period?

Certainly history cannot trace the system to its origin, and the pise dwellings now visible in France, Spain, America, the British colonies and elsewhere may give no complete indication of the extent to which this material was employed in other centuries.—Exchange.

INDIAN'S TRIBUTE TO MOTHER

Red-Skinned Fighter in World War Proves Worthy Descendant of Race of Chiefs.

Wounded-With-Many-Arrows is an Indian living in South Dakota. According to an Indian custom, the first thing an Indian mother sees or says after her child is born may be chosen as the infant's name.

Entering the world war in the armies of the great white father at Washington, for the first thought of this copper-skinned descendant of a race of chiefs was of his mother, whom he named as the beneficiary in his $10,000 government war risk insurance policy.

The mother's name is Susan-Loves-the-War and she lives at Wapoksa, S. D. She was proud that her son was among the first to respond to the call of the United States for soldiers to fight for their country; she was glad when he came back, unharmed, full of wonderful stories of the adventure through which he had passed.

Big Money for Perfect Potatoes. The perfect potato, which resists blight and other "spud" diseases, has been developed, according to Samuel Ryder, head of a well-known English seed firm. He refused to give the name of the hybridist, but said he paid him $12,000 for seed potatoes which wouldn't fill a peck measure.

New Matrimonial Idea. Connecticut has a married couple living apart in two towns, the bride, who has advanced ideas, in one town, and the bridegroom, who has a good job and a big salary, in another. They decided to live in separate establishments and to visit each other over week-ends or run away together, as one of them explains it, for several days whenever the mood seizes them.

Many O'Briens. A soldier named John J. O'Brien, writing to the war risk bureau about his insurance, failed to give his serial number or policy number, but said the papers would be easy to identify as his wife's name was Mary A. O'Brien. A search through the bureau files disclosed the names of 175 John J. O'Briens, and each of an even 50 of them had a wife named Mary A. O'Brien.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Our days so tense, oft make me think— I'll make you smile— Ed like to be an aborig.

SWEET BREADS.

A few cupsful of raised dough saved from the bread making, may form a basis for many kinds of cakes and sweet breads.

For a sweet loaf, which is easily made, take two cupsful of light raised bread dough. To this add one beaten egg, add a half cupful of shortening, the same of sugar, chopped fruit or nuts, or both with spices to taste.

Cinnamon Rolls.—Take two cupsful of light bread dough, add a half cupful of sugar and four tablespoonfuls of shortening, cut into the mixture until well blended. Roll out, adding flour to handle, then spread with butter, sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon, roll up and cut in small rings.

Raised Doughnuts.—To three cupsful of bread dough add one well-beaten egg, three-fourths cupful of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of shortening, one teaspoonful of grated nutmeg or a mixture of nutmeg and cinnamon. Cut in with two knives until thoroughly mixed; add flour to roll. Roll to one-fourth inch in thickness, cut in shapes and let rise until light. Fry in fat which will brown a cube of bread in 90 seconds.

HOW THEY PRESCRIBED FOR "FLU" IN AFRICA

The epidemic of influenza extended even to Africa, but there the prescription for it differed considerably from that used in the United States. T. B. Brinton, missionary at Ka-panga, Congo Belge, declares.

Witch doctors attempted to cure the people of their malady by scattering an ancient remedy through the villages. This remedy which is carried in a big jar kept carefully closed, consists of the manure of certain animals, and the bark of certain trees, all mixed together with water. The people were told to wash their bodies in this water to make them immune from any attack of disease.

"In the middle of the night the witch doctor fell ill of influenza in a certain village," Mr. Brinton relates. "He was not able to get up in the morning. The teacher of God then called the people together, and began to preach to them. He asked who was the stronger, this witch doctor or God?"

"God," said the people. "The witch doctor is sick." Since then they will have nothing to do with the witch doctor."—World Outlook.
