HEART THROBBINGS.

THE SAD CLOSING SCENE IN AN OLD MINSTREL'S LIFE.

AS HE PLAYED HIS LAST SONG ON THE BANJO, AND DRIFTED OUT ON ITS TIDES OF MELODY FROM TIME TO ETERNITY, AND MET AGAIN "THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME."

The opera house was crowded, for the famous minstrels were giving a benefit performance. They had just concluded the sweet refrain of the "Swanee River."

The house signaled its assent. The old minstrel sat down in the front row. When the solo reached the concluding lines of the second stanza, the singer's eyes turned pitiably upon the wanderer, and with voice trembling with emotion came the words:

When shall I hear the bees a humming, When shall I hear the birds a chattering, When shall I hear the banjo strumming, When shall I hear the fiddle rattling.

of better days, the waywardness, sorrow, remorse, hope and despair of all his wasted life seemed pointed upon it in those marvelous tones. The chorus closed, and his head sank down, the long white locks shrouding the banjo.

The manager came before the curtain, and said: "The minstrel give one half the benefit proceeds to the wandering brother."

Women, bless their dear hearts, if it were not for them men would soon degenerate and become savage, as of old, but gentle, kind, loving, womanly, with her soft winning ways, appeals to all that is fine and noble in man's nature, and keeps him up to that level he has succeeded in reaching.

Girls, beware of the transient young men. Never suffer the address of a stranger. Recollect, one good, steady farmer's boy or industrious mechanic is worth more than all the floating trash in the world.

and a good mother's counsel, brought to shame and disgrace, and then thrown upon their own resources, to spend their few remaining days in grief and sorrow, while the brainless skull is making its circuit around the world bringing to its legible will all that may be achieved by his deceitful shares, and may a fair one to the shame of an actual villain.

Somebody asked the Little Rock Democrat to point out what the Democrats have accomplished in the three years which they have had charge of the government, and that paper replies as follows:

1. It has restored more than 100,000,000 acres of unenclosed land grants to the public domain - for the benefit of settlers.

It does seem sometimes as if this class of people is always increasing. Perhaps it is due to the sharp competition and rapid motion and steady state of nineteenth century civilization.

The man who determined to rule his family with an iron hand has been overruled by his wife with a wooden galling pin.

A sort of lethargy sometimes takes possession of the kidney, and blood should be promptly impurities to the action by the use of Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver and Kidney Balm.

Persons who feel a fit of exposure, and subject to rheumatism, neuralgia and lumbago and with a valuable remedy in Dr. J. H. McLean's Volcanic Oil Liniment; it will banish pain and subdue inflammation.

Physicians who know the value of Shallenberger's Pills prescribe them as their own remedy. This is hardly fair, but is strong testimony in favor of the medicine.

Having in our official capacity as members of the Plymouth, Pa., Hospital Committee, been asked to test and prove the effectiveness of many different articles to be used as disinfectants in sick rooms and as preventives of infectious fevers, report that Darby's Prophylactic Fluid has been thoroughly tested during the recent typhoid epidemic in this place.

Persons who suffer from itching, burning, or stinging of the eyes, or caused by bright light, and find your sight weak eye failing, you should promptly use Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening and Salve. 25 cents a box.

Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in her country. Disease fastened its dithyche upon her and for seven years she withstood a severe test, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent.

Having this day qualified as Executor in the estate of the late John Young, this is to notify all persons having claims against the said estate to present the same to me for payment on or before the 5th day of July 1888 or they will be deemed as a bar for their recovery.
