

THE FRANKLIN TIMES
PUBLISHED WEEKLY BY
JAMES A. THOMAS,
Editor and Proprietor.

The Franklin Times
VOL XVII. LOUISBURG, N. C. JUNE 15, 1888. PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE $1.00

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.
This powder varies from a marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness.

General Directory.
LOUISBURG, N. C.
CHURCHES.
Metropolitan - Rev. A. McCullen, pastor.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.
N. Y. Gentry, Chairman.
E. G. Campbell, Secretary.

B. MASSENBURG,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office in the Court House.

C. M. COOKE.
ATTY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW.
LOUISBURG, FRANKLIN CO., N. C.
Will attend the Courts of Nash, Franklin, Granville, Warren, and Wake Counties.

DR. J. E. MALONE.
Office 2 doors below Furman & Cooke's Drug Store, adjoining Dr. O. L. Ellis.

E. W. TIMBERLAKE.
ATTORNEY AT LAW.
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office in the Court House.

W. A. Day, A. G. Hollister.
Day & Zollicoffer
ATTORNEYS AT LAW.
HEMBEDON, N. C.
Practice in the courts of Franklin, Vance, Granville, Hallifax, and Northampton - and the Supreme and Federal courts of the State.

A. A. HICKS.
Attorney at Law & Notary Public.
OXFORD, N. C., AND
T. T. HICKS.
Attorney at Law.
HEMBEDON, N. C.
Will practice together in the counties of Granville, Vance, Franklin and Warren and in all matters requiring their joint attention.

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

HE KNOWS.
I know not what shall befall me,
God hangs a mist over my eyes,
And in each step of my onward way
He makes me see scenes to rise;
And every joy he sends me, comes
As a sweet and sad surprise.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde kept boarders. Mrs. Hyde was a little, dried up widow, with a conventional toothache and a mild, meek way of taking the world as it came to her.

HE KNOWS.
I see not a step before me
As I tread the days of the year,
But the past is all in God's keeping,
And the future is all in His hand.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
From this it need not be inferred that Mr. Marvell was a lover of the little widow. Far from it. He was only her best boarder - the boarder who for half a score of years had occupied her first floor room.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
He was a bachelor, as may be supposed - a man who was full of whims and caprices as an egg is of meat, yet who carried a kindly heart in his bosom beneath it all.

CHANGED HIS MIND.
Mrs. Hyde caught at the nearest chair for support. 'Mr. Marvell!' she gasped. 'Now, ma'am, it isn't at all worth while to go through any scenes, said the bachelor, callously. 'I am a practical man, as you ought to know by this time. And I'm not in the habit of wasting words. Put up a bill. Advertise. Let your room as soon as you can, for I move out - to-morrow, although as a token of respect for your many good qualities, I shall pay my bills up to the first of June.'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'

CHANGED HIS MIND.
'Because if it's on account of Patty and her babies -'
'It is precisely on that account, ma'am. I was waked last night by the screaming of a child.'
'It's cutting eye-teeth, poor dear,' interposed Mrs. Hyde.
'And this morning on making inquiries,' restlessly went on the bachelor, 'I learned that you had actually taken in your widowed niece and her twin babies. Twins, ma'am! One would have been enough - too much, in fact - but when it comes to twins -'