

OLD FRANKLIN REDEEMED!

A WATERLOO FOR THE RADS AND INDEPENDENTS.

The County to Be Represented by True Men.

The election in Franklin was quiet, and a pretty full vote was polled. The Democrats never voted better, and a number of the more intelligent colored men voted with the Democrats, at Louisburg, Franklinton and some other townships. They could not stand the mongrel ticket of the Republicans. At this writing, Wednesday, it is impossible for us to give the exact majority, but we are safe in saying that the Democratic majorities are all the way from 200 to 300.

The majorities for the Legislative ticket in Franklin as follows: Cooke over Williamson 255, over Macon 281. Clifton over Williams 263, over Macon 289. Bunn's majority 189.

We will give the vote by townships next week.

THE NATION. The latest news up to going to press from the National Election show that Harrison is elected President.

Both Houses of Congress will be Republican.

THE STATE. Fowle is elected Governor by at least 15,000, and both branches of the Legislature are Democratic. Bunn is elected to Congress by at least 2,000 majority. Morehead and Simmons are probably defeated for Congress in the 5th and 2nd districts. Nash elects her entire county ticket, and gives Bunn 497 majority.

THE RESULT. So far as the county and State are concerned the victory is ours, and this should incite all true North Carolinians to feel proud. While Grover Cleveland is defeated for President, the people of this grand old State stood true to the principles he advocated and gave him a handsome vote. As a matter of course, friends will have to give up the offices to the friends and supporters of the newly-elected President after the 4th of next March, and the friends of tariff reform will have to pick their flints and try again four years hence. We will have to succumb to the majority, and console ourselves over the fact that our State and county are safe.

THE STATE GRANGE. This body will meet in the town of Kinston on the 11th of December and we hope it will have a large and profitable meeting. It is the oldest of all our farmers' organizations and has accomplished great good.

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

It behooves the farmers to look sternly at facts that affect them in any particular, and especially when their interests are so seriously involved.

The crop of both corn and wheat are short in this State—shorter than for years past. The wheat crop is also short throughout the United States. Flour has already advanced recently, and the crop of wheat seems to be in the hands of a few monopolists. If this is so, then there is no telling where the price of flour will go. Farmers, of all other men, should be self-supporting, and the only way to do so is to produce all supplies necessary for farm consumption. The grain, forage and mast crops should receive special attention at all times, and under all circumstances, but more especially should they be carefully looked after at this time, as it will be money saved, and that will be money made, according to the old axiom.

Be sure, then, to sow wheat. If not able to sow as much as you would like, sow what you can, after having prepared your land well, and I don't think you will repent it. Sow what winter oats you can before it is too late. By all means sow land thoroughly prepared and manured in rye, and let it be done without delay, for there is no green forage crop that can take the place of it for spring feeding in this latitude.

Be sure also to have some land prepared for clover, or some of the grasses, to be seeded next spring—not later than the month of March. These crops here mentioned are to be small and not of much importance, but are very important to any farmer, and will be appreciated by all who will test them.

JOHN ROBINSON, Commissioner.

LOVE LIGHTENS TOIL.

How easy it is to work when we are happy!

How delightful, when we are happy, to work for those we love.

A life of constant toil, merely for subsistence, is very hard and sad. No heart can bear it. The strain will break the courage and sour the temper of anybody. There must be before the workman some better reward than the supply of his mere physical wants, or he will become a disheartened being.

He must work for love more than for money, or he is miserable. The thought of loving hearts at home nerves the strong arm of the man at his toil, and sends the warm blood singing through his heart. The wife, in her household labor, is happy, thinking of the evening hour, when she may sit down with her husband and be rewarded by his loving companionship for all that, during the day, she accomplishes and endures for him and her little ones.

She knows not how hard she works, so long as she is happy in him. She would, if need be, kill herself with hard labor for his sake, and not dream that she was dying. And he, if a true man, would do the same for her. For what do warm, fond hearts know of how much they can endure for each other?

"Why," they say, "the more the better. It is for love—for love."

What kitchen under grown, what black attic, seven stories high, is dreary enough to darken the face of the maiden, working to make ready for her love's visit. No one ever saw a place that could do it. Under the excitement of love, especially of love requited, wonders of work, otherwise impossible, have been accomplished; and so it will be again, and the worker hardly knows that he has tasked.

SOMETHING PRACTICAL AS WELL AS SENSIBLE. The Calhoun County Farmers' Alliance, of Florida, is doing some sensible work. It resolved that its members would buy no goods or merchandise if it could possibly be avoided. That they will give no note or other obligation, that will fall due before the 20th of December in each year. That they will diversify their crops, planting enough corn, peas, potatoes, chufas, peanuts, rice and sugar cane for home consumption and that they will consult together in their meetings as to the best plans for doing this, and that they will exert every effort to induce all the Alliance men to adopt and carry out these resolutions.

If the farmers of the whole South would adopt the same resolutions and carry them into effect, we would be the most independent people on the earth, in ten years.—Progressive Farmer.

THE WINDOW-FOOLS.

There is a class of Junias whom the traveller meets at this season of the year, and who may most properly be denominated the window-fools. This pestilent class, not having sufficient perception to discriminate between heat and cold, seem to be wholly unmindful that the summer is past and that the cold winds of autumn are upon us. No sooner does one of their number flop upon a seat railroad car than he hoists the window and lets an overwhelming torrent of cold air pour in. His fellow passengers may wheeze and cough, and sneeze, but he only smiles idiotically and turns his publishing cheek to the breeze. Our railroad companies are earnestly besought to protect their more sensible passengers against these pests by having a lookout kept for them and having them suppressed, or they may be able in a less troublesome and more summary manner to rid the public of them by having erected at intervals along their track poles with cross beams projecting sufficiently to wrap the empty skulls of every window-fool who pokes his curious nose into the outer air. The window-fool must go!

If we have lost the President, we have the consolation of knowing that North Carolina and Franklin county did not contribute to his defeat.
