To You—If You Owe Us.

The following is taken from an exchange: "Because a newspaper man duns you is no reason why you should get angry. A dun is not an impeachment upon integrity, but simply an outcropping of the publishers' necessities. For instance a thousand men owe a man from one to four dollars. He has to dun them in order to pay expenses. Instead of getting mad and quitting the paper because the publisher asks him for his honest dues, the subscriber should thank the editor for waiting on him so patiently, and pay him like a man."

We publish the above as a forerunner. In a few days we will dun, as near as we can, every man and woman who owes us the TIMES. Be prepared, if possible, in mind, spirit and wealth.

TAR DROPS.

—See card of E. W. Griffin. —Remember one good move deserves another. This is the golden rule of progress.

—The public school for this district has opened with E. H. Baker as teacher. He has 12 scholars.

—G. B. H. Stallings, of Cedar Rock, this county, made an assignment to W. O. Dunn, on the 28th.

—Let the people of Louisa take heed. Beware. What are the prospects for a school next year?

—How about the New Hotel for the New Year of 1889? Nobody denies the propriety of building a Hotel. Shoot quick, or give up the gun.

—Dr. R. E. King has arrived, and his family will soon follow. He is getting his dental office in shape, and will soon be prepared to serve the public.

—Is your horse insured? If not, see Tom King, and have him insured immediately. He represents a first-class company, and the rates are low. See Advertisement.

—Don't fail to read Jno. W. Pitman's advertisement. He has opened a repair shop on Nash street, just below Stegall's old store, and guarantees his patrons satisfaction.

—Let the people of Louisa use more diligence and see that our teachers that are here now, remain. Don't let them leave. If they do leave, it is the fault of the people of Louisa.

—A Winter Fair is a novelty and it was such a success at New Bern last year that the citizens of that place have organized an annual exposition known as the "East Carolina Fish, Oyster, Game and Industrial Association." Grand preparations are being made for it this season—February 19, 20, 21 and 22.

—We heard a man say that not very long since, over 150 wagons loaded with tobacco, all from Nash and Franklin, passed his house in two days—in succession—on their way to Henderson and other markets. His wife counted the wagons, so you may know it is correct. And this occurs almost every week during the tobacco season.

—If the business men and the people who are interested in the prosperity of their own county and town, could only realize what they are losing by not having a tobacco market in Louisa, it would not be three months before a number of prize houses would be put up, and both warehouses here opened. Move gentlemen, and move at once.

—Wild Jim, the Texas cow-boy, and Indian hunter, painted the town red last Friday. A pretty good crowd of men and boys followed him to the baseball ground, where he displayed himself. He did some very good shooting with a rifle, at brickbats, walnuts, &c., and collected (he is the best collector we ever saw) out of the crowd about $30, getting from no one more than 25 cents. He called several gentlemen up to try his rifle, but Mr. J. J. Barrow was the only one, besides "Wild Jim" who could break a brick.

—It should be very encouraging to the business men to know that the farmers are red-hot for a tobacco market in Louisa. A large number of the very best farmers in the County have informed the editor that they will not only take stock in the warehouse, but will do everything they can to build up the market. That's the way to do it. Let all come together, pull and work together, and old Franklin with her bright tobacco, her excellent grade of cotton and other fine farm products, will ask none of her sister counties any odds. Remember that in unity there is strength, and in order to make a grand success in anything we must all work for it.

—As it is now pretty generally thought that the tobacco warehouses will be opened here next fall, would it not be the proper thing for the Board of Trade to begin the erection of several prize houses. Without these no tobacco market can be opened.

More Regulating.

We learn that another public school house in the county, which has been in charge of the daughter of a colored man, who voted a part of the Democratic ticket has been damaged to such an extent as it is not in a condition for use. This time, however the regulating was not headed by a school committeeman, but it is not known who the regulators were. If they are found out the law will take charge of them.

Personal.

Mrs. W. W. Green and son W. W. Green, Jr., of Franklin, were among the visitors to Louisa this week, guests of Mrs. F. S. Spruill.

Messrs. G. S. Baker and F. S. Spruill went up to Raleigh this week.

Several very clever commercial tourists in town this week, among them Mr. Kahn, of the Clothing firm of Kahn & Schloss, of Baltimore. Our young friend W. I. Hill is book-keeper for the firm.

Correction.

We stated last week in speaking of the apportionment of the public school fund for this county, that the sum of 74 cents per capita was apportioned. It should have been about $1.00.

Mules and Horses For Sale.

I have just landed here from Louisville, Ky., with a car load of fine young mules, which I will sell as low as good stock can be sold—having raised them on my farm. I will sell for cash or on time. Also some good harness mares, well bred. Before purchasing, call and see me, at Blackley & Kearney's stables, Franklinton, N. C.

Respectfully, J. T. WHEATLEY.

Alliance Notes.

At a regular meeting of Flat Rock Alliance No. 145 on Jan. 26th, 1889, the following resolutions were adopted:

RESOLVED 1. That we purchase no goods this year, at an advance or last year's prices, until we earnestly request brethren throughout this and other states to co-operate with us, believing it to our interest to do so.

RESOLVED 2. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the FRANKLIN TIMES and Progressive Farmer, with a request to publish.

F. B. FREEMAN, Sec.

Insurance.

The following business men have manifested their confidence in the Live Stock Insurance Company, represented by Tom King, by taking insurance on their stock: F. N. Egerton, 1 horse; W. H. Pleasant, 1 horse; W. P. Neal, 1 horse; Geo. S. Baker, 1 horse; M. H. Aycock, 1 horse; Will. H. Allen, 2 horses; John B. Yarboro, 1 horse; R. T. Smith, of Oxford, 21 mules. Will publish other names soon. See Ad.

The Way To Do It.

The Secretary of the Board of Trade, Mr. J. J. Barrow, hands us the following for publication:

At a meeting of the Board of Trade on Friday night last, a correspondence from H. E. Harman, Editor Southern Tobacco Journal, Danville, Va., was read, in which he offered to come to Louisa and write up her Tobacco interest for a compensation of 25 subscribers to his paper. The offer was immediately taken up by the Board and the subscriptions were divided up as follows: J. S. Barrow & Son, 5; Green & Yarboro, 5; F. N. Egerton, 3; Crumshaw, Hicks & Allen, 3; Louisa Mill Co., 3; W. H. Pleasant, 2; C. C. Harris & Co., 2; J. J. Person, 1; Egerton & Ford, 1.

This shows to the people what our Board of Trade means, and this is a step in the right direction.

Mr. Barrow, the Secretary, requests the editor of the TIMES to ask the tobacco farmers, of the county, to bring him an average sample of their crop, so that he may show it to those who may come among us in the interest of tobacco.

Support Home.

But some how or other, if North Carolina people can't buy and sell out of the State, they don't feel as if they were living or getting along in the world. They are always looking North.

The above is taken from the Wilmington Messenger, and speaks words which we fear, are too true. It does seem that our people delight in crippling home enterprises by buying abroad just such things as can be bought from home people, at the same price, with expenses added. And hardly any class of our home people are exempt from this very unwise habit. Unless you patronize your home towns, your home merchants, your home schools, your home manufactures, your home laborers, and last, but not least, your home newspaper, how can you expect your home people to prosper? Think of it, you people who patronize foreigners to the detriment of your own folks.

[The above Insurance Company is virtually a HOME INSTITUTION, and is now said to be among the strongest life Companies. We are always partial to "home institutions" and we take pleasure in recommending them to the public when they deserve it—and we think this company is that kind.—EDITOR TIMES.]

THE LOUISBURG FEMALE COLLEGE.

To the People of Louisa and Franklin County.

Though I am in no way connected with the above mentioned institution, yet I feel a double deep interest in the school. First, because I greatly desire to see the children of the South and especially of my county educated. Second, because I want to see the excellent teachers whom I induced to take charge of the school succeed. The children cannot be educated unless they attend school and the teachers cannot succeed unless those who patronize them pay up their tuition promptly. An institution of the kind and character as this cannot be run or conducted successfully on time, because the Principal has no capital to invest, and I imagine that it is much easier for the parents to pay two dollars and some cents monthly than to pay five or six times that amount at the end of the session. When I secured the services of these ladies I had promised about sixty pupils and the teachers came expecting to have that size school the second session. Last session they had nearly fifty, but the girls they have as many. The teachers are better prepared to instruct this session than they were last because their experience gained here, added to their original capacity. They are all most excellent ladies and teachers, and we ought to show our appreciation of them by paying them and promptly every month. Those who do not patronize the school ought to do so in order to retain them in Louisa, for from the present outlook I am afraid we will lose them after the present session, and I hardly think that we will ever be able to do as well for the college and the community again. If the school goes down this summer, I will expect to see a colored Presbyterian school in the college building in less than two years, supported by Northern money philanthropists. This is a sad prospect. The owners of the college property are not able to let so much invested capital as is represented in this building go to waste, but with a school there that will pay the tax and necessary repairs to keep up the property they may be willing to hold it. But even then their acquiescence would be the proudest of town and county pride only. We may in our stininess to our children cry out for the Free School system, but with all the respect for our excellent officers of that system, at their best, under the present condition of things they are but faces. How few Free school teachers take any pride or extra care in the conduct and progress of their schools, and pupils, and who blames them? We cannot get the advantages of an institution like those afforded by the Louisa Female College in a free school. I do not care how well it is conducted; and it is cheap in the end to send our children to well-established and progressive private schools. Those who are positively unable to make some sacrifice for their children and send to the pay school of course have to accept the free school as the best they can get. But stop and reflect before you decide to do so, and see if by making some extra effort you cannot give your child the advantages of better schools. They will appreciate the effort in after years when they are fighting the battles of this life and you will be gratified and proud of their success. I earnestly ask the parents of the bright children in our county and community for the sake of those children to think over this educational matter candidly and decide accordingly. With a deep and abiding interest in the education of our children I ask our people to do the best they can for their children from an educational point of view, and patronize our present good school at the College and thereby retain it in our midst.

Respectfully, J. E. MALONE.

PRESS COMMENTS.

It is said that John Nichols has 10,000 signatures indorsing him for Public Printer to Washington. Before he is appointed the President would do well to inquire into John's record when connected with the N. C. Institution for the Deaf and Dumb and Blind.—Will Star.

The Senate has appropriated $600,000 for the President's use in attending to German aggressions and defending American rights in Samoa. Make 11,000,000 Secretary of War and he will get the United States in a foreign war in six months. Then look out for the capture and destruction of seaboard cities.—Will Star.

The proposed advance in the duty on cotton ties, hoops for petroleum barrels, and baling for hay in the Senate bill is 55 per cent. This strikes the farmers North and South, and gives Pennsylvania oil-diggers a gentle tap between the eyes.—Phil Record.

IMMIGRATION FOR 1888.

The total immigration to the United States during the twelve months ended December 31, 1888, amounted to $18,518, against $10,058 in 1887. This immigration has been largely exceeded in three previous years; namely in 1881, with 669,431 arrivals; in 1882, with 778,992; and in 1883, with 608,322. From these high figures the total immigration declined to 395,346 in 1885, and to 234,203 in 1886. What with the threats of hostile legislation and with the inducements offered to Europeans in the Argentine Republic and other portions of South America another reaction in the tide of immigration to this country is not improbable.

In comparing the statistics of immigration in the last two years it is seen that the principal decline is from Great Britain and Ireland, Germany and Sweden and Norway, which have hitherto been the principal sources of foreign born population. The only important increase of immigration is from Russia, whose contribution to the country's population last year was 37,333, against 25,784 in 1887. From Italy the rise in the tide of immigration has been very slight, the total number of Italian arrivals in 1888 amounting to 47,422, an increase of little more than a thousand over the previous year. While there is a small increase in the immigration from other portions of the Austrian Empire the immigration from Hungary and Bohemia has declined. The total immigration from Hungary and Bohemia amounted to 16,535, most of which found its way to the coal fields, coke ovens and iron mills of Pennsylvania.—Phil Record.

THE STOCK LAW.

A Suggestion in Regard to a Line.

EDITOR TIMES: The Stock Law of Franklin County has been a bourn of contention for four years in the Eastern part of the county, and the people of that section have been sending petitions to the present Legislature to submit the question to the voters, and let them decide for themselves.

Now the difficulty is in fixing a line that will suit the greatest number of the people. I would suggest that one or two public meetings be called at an early day, say at Laurel and Cedar Rock, and if possible a line agreed on that will be generally satisfactory. If the people will meet, and after discussing the matter, have an amicable adjustment of a line, then the line can be run without much trouble. As the matter now stands, it is impossible to run a line, that will be at all satisfactory. I hope that all parties—both those favoring and those opposed to the movement—will attend these meetings with a determination to agree upon such a line as will meet the wishes of the greatest number of the people. If it were possible to run a line, that would suit everybody, then I would take pleasure in running the line. As the matter now stands, no one knows better than I do, that it would be extremely difficult for a satisfactory line to be run by any one. And unless the people are willing to make some kind of a compromise, there will be more wrangling and hard feeling than ever before. I sincerely hope that some arrangement will be made, whereby the whole matter will be forever settled. We hope those interested, will discuss this subject, and make suggestions as will aid in a settlement of this vexed question. I have been solicited to run a line, and am anxious to know where to start, or where to run the line, and I wish to have the aid and assistance of those interested, and I hope all will join with me, and assist in settling the Stock Law question in Franklin county. Respectfully, W. N. FULLER. Mapleville, N. C., Jan. 28, 1889.

A CARD

To The Public.

Having accepted a position with Dr. J. E. Clifton, proprietor of the Louisburg Drug Store, I desire to say to my friends and the public generally, that I will be pleased to have them call and see me, whenever anything in the drug line is needed, day or night. Very Respectfully, E. W. GRIFFIN.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for February is fully equal to the high standard set by its January number. "The Last Day at Home" is a beautiful steel-engraving. The two illustrations, "Cupid's Loggrolling" and "The Mill Ford," are both excellent. The large fashion-plate and the endless needlework designs are perfect in their way, and the literary contents are admirable. Edgar Parrett's serial, "The Smoker in Lafayette Place" is one of the most intense and dramatic pieces of work we have ever seen from his pen; and the other novel, by the author of "A Second Love," continues worthy of its brilliant commencement. The short stories are capital, and their variety is exceedingly noticeable. The department of "Things Worth Knowing," which was started last year, has become a feature of great interest. This month Harriet Latham has an article called "Hints About the Guest," which every housekeeper who likes pretty things and has only limited means at her command will find invaluable. A year's subscription will repay any lady. Terms: Two Dollars a year, with great reductions when taken in clubs. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.
