ONE Legislature is like another in the matter of goober peas and the adjournment rhe'o ic, but the one just adjourned broke, he record in the matter of goldhealed canes. - Landmark.

THE Dakota farmers, who have been forced to put up money to start a twine factory because they can't pay Trust prices, are now beginning to understand the protective theory of a diversification of industry. In order not to be robbed of everything he buys the farmer must himself. make. everything he needs.

CHARLESTON S. C. is lamenting the death of Capt. F. W. Dawson, editor of the News and Courier. He was killed by Dr. McDow, a physician of that city. Capt. Dawson went to the office of McDow to talkk to him in regard to his ungentlemanly conduct toward a woman in the employ of Dawson, and the kiling occured in the Doctor's office. The people are terribly enraged, but it is thought the law will be allowed to take its course.

THAT noble and liberal-hearted gentleman, Julian S. Carr, of Durham, has tendered to the suffering poor of Orange county a car load of corn. Would that North Carolina had more Jule Carrs, The writer heard a gentleman who knows Mr. Carr well, say a few days ago, that he was beyond doubt one of the most generous and liberal hearted men in the State, and was a high-toned Christian gentleman to go with it. Could anything better be said of a man.

HARRISON hasn't stopped the mills or kept people from making a living, any more than he has clipped the wings of the great migratory flock of Northward Lound birds. Of course he hasn't and, of course he couldn't if he should wish to. He has put a lot of rich men into a lot of rich little sub-thrones, and that just about gives away the key to his administrative tactics. He doesn't care a snap of his finger for Fall River strikes, or Fall river strikers. Not he.

"Charlotte people,"as is learned from the News, "are eating beef that was killed and dressed in Kansas City, Mo." It comes packed in refrigerator cars "and all the butchers are selling it." And this in a State where grass grows in the greatest luxuriance. We ship a little cotton, then buy cotton goods from Massachusetts, buy beef from Kansas City, bacon from Cincinnati, corn from Illinois, flour from Minnesota and then sit down and wonder why it is that we are so poor .- Landmark.

KEEP on your woolens. Do not get in a hurry. The Housewife says :

"Cotton is injurious when worn next to the skin. The fibre of which it is composed does not absorb the perspiration of the body, which is forced back in a chilty state upon it. To wear linen or cotton is like bathing in cold wate and putting one's clothes on without

More people die of pneumonia in March than any other month, unless it be April. Said a leading physician to us on Friday; "I always wrap up well in March for it is the most dangerous of the months."-Wil. Star.

THE Statesville Landmark speaking of the calinet says that it is too early to pass criticism on President Harrison's cabinet. Mr. Blaine, as has long been understood he would be, is at the head of it with all that this implies. The country passed its judgment on Mr. Blaine in, 1884. A Republican President had been elected four years before him and a Republican President was elected four years after him. For the first time since 1856 the Republican party failed when Blaine carried its standard to win a national victory. Mr. Windom, the Secretary of the Treasury held the same position under Garfield and is rated as a capable financier and an honorable man. Mr. Wanamaker, who raised the boodle which bought the election, is an eminent Sunday School teacher and, was said of Samuel Morphis, of Chapel Hill, "excels in public prayer." He is a successful business men, of large executive ability, and as the Postoffice Department is strictly a business establishment it is hardly to be doubted that he will administer it well.

Gen. Tracy, the Secretary of the Navy, is a fine lawyer, and was one of Beecher's counsels in the famous Beecher trial. His business ability is yet to be demonstrated and he has a trying position to fill as the successor of Mr. Whitney who was the most notable success of Mr. Cleveland's cabinet after the death of Mr. Manning. The other members of Mr. Harrison's official family are not of national reputation. It is not just, however, to prjudice them on this account. Mr. Cleveland had a fashion of "discovering." men and they generally turned out to be good ones.

WHAT the Pennsylvania iron man- No Class Feeling in the Legislaafacturers call over production is merely under consumption, due to the arti-ficial prices which have been exacted ever since the control of the country's iron works became a motive for seeking Government bounties in the way of restrictive culies upon competing products. There can never be in reality an over-supply of iron so long as buildings and bridges, ships and machinery and thousands of utensits of the home and work-shop remain to be furnished for mankind. The iron kings should take a leaf from the experience of the Standard Oil Trust—the only monopoly with brains in this country. The Standard managers popularized oil by cheapening it and extending the markets for it .-Phil. Record.

IT'S MAIN WORK.

We are indebted to the Statesville Landmark for the following compilation of the main work of the last Legisla-

The revenue bill raises the State tax from 20 to 25c, and the poil tax from 60 to 75c. This became necessary on account of the recent decision of the Supreme Court of the United States declaring unconstitutional the drummer's license tax from which the State derived a revenue of $80,000 a year. In addition to the general tax, a tax of 3c on the $100 worth of property and 9c. on the poll is levied to provide pensions for the disabled ex-Confederate soldiers, making a total tax for the next two years 28c. on the $100 and 48c, on the poll against 25 and 75 respectfully for the last two. An intelligible statement of the provisions of the pension law is printed in another column. The law seems to be well guarded, and the people will not object to this tax if it goes to the deserv-

The amendments to the election law do not change it materially. The Senate passed an election bill which took a pretty rank hold, but the western members of the House could not stand it and the new law is a substitute for the Senate bill. It is very mild; the judges are still to be of both parties; only one voter can enter a polling place at a time; the judges shall, upon request, put the voters ticket in the box; they may separate the State and national elections-this clause is not mandatory; the registration books shall be closed ten days before the election, some safeguards are thrown around registration. The law is as fair for one party as another. The Republican outcry against it was for Buncombe only. The same tax as heretofore was levied for school purposes. The eight nor-mal schools were abolished and the money spent on them is to go to county in-stitutes. This was good legislation.

The jurisdictions of justices of the deace were enlarged in various particu-lars. Hereafter justices will have final jurisdiction in cases of affray in which deadly weapons are used and no serious damage done. The time within which the Superior Court may make cognizance of cases not tried by magistrates was increased from six months to

The number of directors of the peniitentiary was reduced from 9 to 5, but the appropriation for the pay of the directors, $2,700, has not been changed. The sum of $220,000 per year was appropriated for the support of the State penitentiary but of this amount only 875,000 per year shall come out of the State treasury—the penitentiary must earn the balance and it must pay its outstanding debts out of the above appropriation.

The bill to require the Commissioner of labor statistics to inquire into the condition of the railroads of the State, to investigate their earnings, their freight rates, &c., and to report to the Legis-lature, was defeated. It would have cost the State nothing and ough to have passed.

The Legislature authorized the Gova ernor and his council to expend the sums now available for that specific purpose for the completion of the Gov-No change was made in the status of the Department of Agricultures A general road law for the entire State was passed, by which any county may practically adopt any plan it pleases for keeping up the public roads. A county may fevy a general tax not exceeding 10c. on the $100 worth of property, or it may use a portion of the general fund to repair parts of the road in very bad condition. At the same time those subject to work on the road may be required to work as much as four days in the year thereon. The counties may also have convicts, not exceeding 50, for road work, by paying the expense of keeping and guarding them, which will be 40c peraead per day.

The Deadly Cigarette.

N. Y. Sun. The cigarette habit appears to be growing among the boys of this city, and there are physicians who tell of its evil effects upon the constitution and hearth of those who indulge in it. It promotes nervous affections, inteferes with the digestion, induces insomnia, leads to mascular diseases of the mouth and eyes, and blounts the mental powers. It befouls the air, leaves the taint upon the garments and is apt to create a liking for liquor. It is | G. Alston. injurious in every way and advantagous in no respect. Several State legislatures, including those of New Jersey and Michigan, have hills under consideration for the prohibition of the sale of eigarettes to minors, and a large amount of testimony favorable to such action has been presented to them. In Michigan the testi nony of three hundred teachers has been taken on the subject, and many of the facts given are of a kind that might well pecially at night, on the east side, one may often see groups of sallowraced urchins indulging in the

ture. The State Chronicle.

It is significant and deserves to be commented on that there was less of the class feeling than is common. There never existed pleasanter feelings between the lawyers and the farmers, or better feeling of confidence and co-operation.

The committees were constituted solely upon the basis of securing the best work and no class feelings existed. The farmers had the power to pass any law they pleased -to elect any officer they disiredand to control legislation in any e annel that suited them. It is but proper and just to say of them that in no single instance did, they al, any low class feeling to dominate them. They divided upon all questions as did lawyers and oth-

IN MEMORIAM.

Only one short week ago, our dear baby, Little Carl Pelam Hester, was seemingly as far from the grave as any of us. Now he lies cold and silent in death. we are left with an aching void to mourn his less he, no doubt, is rejoicing and singing with the myriads of angels and arehangels that surround his father's Truly it is our loss, but his gain He was born June 23rd, 1888, and died February 1889. He was the infant sen of the sidow R. L. Hester. A flower just nipped as it began to blossom in its parents view. | We mourn for our companion not because of what has befallen him, but because no more forever will we have the pleasure of meeting him in our daily walk or in our social gatherings. He has gone to meet his dear father that died about seventeen or eighteen mosths ago. Yes, he is dead, the angel death has laid its hands upon his brow, but we think we could almost see his spirit then, as it left its clay, as it changed its mortal for its immortal home and took the wings of an angel of God and soared to its home of peace and rest and everlasting glory. We deeply sympathize with the loved ones. and especially his gen'le and devoted mother. He is lost for a brief while to all, but to none like he is to her, and we can only hope that she will look forward in her Christian fuith through the vista of coming years and remember the time they are to meet again to part no more. May this great sorrow be saretified to her spiritual good, and the painful parting be on-ly for this lite. Let us then, while we drop the tears of sympathy for the stricken mother, pray that God will especially sustain the bereaved parent and child in this great affliction. And if it is God's will, may the only child, little Robert Sidney, be spared to comfort and console his dear mother, since it has pleased the All wise being to summon from our family circle our precious little darling. He has only lifted him over. He saw the, sweet limbs faltering, and saw rough ways before him, so he reached down from Heaven and lifted him over beyond all hurt and harm. The Lord gave and the Lord hath taken away, blessed be the name of the Lord. It is well with thee, it is well. We can go to him but he cannot return to us. Written by his aunt

MR. EDITOR:

Having seen nothing from our part in some time will give you a few dote: Farmers are quite busy just now, and they all seem determined to make something this year. "Stock Law" has been "all the go" here for several weeks, but guess it is done for now and no doubt for the best. Right much sickness around here lately and some deaths. The wife of our old friend, Tom., B. Gupton, died Saturday evening, and of her it may be said, "Truly a good woman has gone to her reward." The heartfelt sympathy of our entire community go out to the bereaved family.

Many of our farmers are bu ying hay this should not be, make your own forage if nothing else.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Mary T. Egerton. An angel came from Heaven to gather jewels for the Savior's crown. H's eye rested upon Louisburg, and upon swift wings he descended, and bore away as a fitting gem the pure spirit of Mrs. M. T. Egertou. A ripened sheaf was needed to enrich the garner of Heaven. The reaper thrust in his sharp sickle, and our sister was gathered to adorn the home of Death threw his dark shadow over a home, but the cloud had a silver lining. Beyond it was the face of God, and in his presence—a participant of his glory—the pure spirit of our friend. We mourn because we will see her no more in this earth. We rejoice because we expect to see her dear face again in the shining ranks of the Saints

Sister Egerton was converted when young, and for many years followed in the footsteps of Jesus. She was a shining light in that branch of the Christian Church, which, by way of distinction, is called Baptist. She was broad and liberal in her views-she loved all christians. Her's was a positive character; she was the spirit of candor; she dapl ed duplicity.

She was true in her fi indship. Like many others, she passed through leep waters, many were her afflictions, but out of them all the Lord brought

Her heart was fixed upon Jesus, Death came, and found her ready-her faith firm-her hope strong and clear. She fought the last figut bravelyshe turned loose the things of earth to grasp the crown of Life.

She sleeps in Jesus-her pure life and firm trust in the Gospel of Christ, is the rich legacy left us. We lay our token of love upon her grave, and say farewell until we meet again in the land of eternal life.
