

To Clubs of Five FRANKLIN TIMES will be furnished at $1.40.

The Franklin Times

J. A. THOMAS, Editor and Proprietor.

LOUISBURG, N. C. JULY 26, 1889. PRICE $1.50 PER ANNUM In Advance

VOLUME VII

Winter Care of Cattle.

METHODS THAT FIND FAVOR ARE DESCRIBED BY AN INDIANA BREEDER.

Incorporated in the last annual report from the Indiana State Board of agriculture is an address on "Winter Feeding and Care of Cattle," delivered by Isham Sedwick, of Wayne county, before the Southern Breeder's Association.

First of all, then, shelter from rain and snow and then shelter from the cold winds, but let your shelters have that other great requisite, good ventilation, and also that still greater one, let it be clean.

Next to shelter in maintaining the temperature and source of heat is good feed. The various feed cutters have often proved of great value where the stables and troughs are in good shape, and yet there are seasons when the ground is frozen and dry and the fodder of such good quality that there is no loss in feeding the cattle who on the ground and there is a saving of labor that may be better employed.

I am inclined to think that there is one crop that is too much neglected in this country, and one that is very valuable as a winter feed. Beets or mangels can be raised in great abundance and at a low cost. With our best lands in this country it is possible to raise ten bushels of beets to the same space of ground planted in corn.

The various feed cutters have often proved of great value where the stables and troughs are in good shape, and yet there are seasons when the ground is frozen and dry and the fodder of such good quality that there is no loss in feeding the cattle who on the ground and there is a saving of labor that may be better employed.

I am inclined to think that there is one crop that is too much neglected in this country, and one that is very valuable as a winter feed. Beets or mangels can be raised in great abundance and at a low cost.

Keep both stables and animals clean and supply water that is as nearly as possible pure in winter as in summer. It is possible to have it. In a word, shelter your animals from storms of wind and rain, keep them clean and dry, provide pure water without ice in it at least twice per day, give them as great a variety of food as you can and if possible, let some of the feed be supplied in the summer feed.

Last of all, see that your cattle have enough feed to maintain their condition, and as much more as they can use in making flesh, milk or growth. Farming World.

The Farmer and His Profits. We had in the Atlantic Coastman, under the above caption, a response to a suggestion of the New York Times that the farmer's income is fully thirty percent of his capital. We know most of the farmers will roll up their eyes at a conclusion which the experience of most of them will not only pronounce fallacious, but preposterous. For every farmer has the bitter experience of the fact that he has to pay his money for what that is emphasized with great force.

THE GRASSHOPPER

The grasshopper has been a pest of our crops for several years past. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect. It has eaten up our corn, wheat, and other crops. It has also eaten up our fruit trees and other fruit crops. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect.

We will have to wait much longer for the coming of this combine. The great benefit of school books is to-day the chief object of a general education of the children of the South.

These publishers can save the large amount they claim by all agreeing to do away with their "soliciting agents" they can well afford to greatly reduce the price of school books.

A SOUND LIBERAL OPINION. Mr. D. J. W. Lee, of the Franklin Times, has written an excellent article on the subject of school books. He has shown that the present system of school books is a great evil, and that it must be reformed.

Of course it goes. The Franklin Times has a long and distinguished history. It has been a leading newspaper in the South for many years.

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

THE GRASSHOPPER

The grasshopper has been a pest of our crops for several years past. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect. It has eaten up our corn, wheat, and other crops. It has also eaten up our fruit trees and other fruit crops. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect.

We will have to wait much longer for the coming of this combine. The great benefit of school books is to-day the chief object of a general education of the children of the South.

These publishers can save the large amount they claim by all agreeing to do away with their "soliciting agents" they can well afford to greatly reduce the price of school books.

A SOUND LIBERAL OPINION. Mr. D. J. W. Lee, of the Franklin Times, has written an excellent article on the subject of school books. He has shown that the present system of school books is a great evil, and that it must be reformed.

Of course it goes. The Franklin Times has a long and distinguished history. It has been a leading newspaper in the South for many years.

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

THE GRASSHOPPER

The grasshopper has been a pest of our crops for several years past. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect. It has eaten up our corn, wheat, and other crops. It has also eaten up our fruit trees and other fruit crops. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect.

We will have to wait much longer for the coming of this combine. The great benefit of school books is to-day the chief object of a general education of the children of the South.

These publishers can save the large amount they claim by all agreeing to do away with their "soliciting agents" they can well afford to greatly reduce the price of school books.

A SOUND LIBERAL OPINION. Mr. D. J. W. Lee, of the Franklin Times, has written an excellent article on the subject of school books. He has shown that the present system of school books is a great evil, and that it must be reformed.

Of course it goes. The Franklin Times has a long and distinguished history. It has been a leading newspaper in the South for many years.

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

THE GRASSHOPPER

The grasshopper has been a pest of our crops for several years past. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect. It has eaten up our corn, wheat, and other crops. It has also eaten up our fruit trees and other fruit crops. It has done more damage to our crops than any other insect.

We will have to wait much longer for the coming of this combine. The great benefit of school books is to-day the chief object of a general education of the children of the South.

These publishers can save the large amount they claim by all agreeing to do away with their "soliciting agents" they can well afford to greatly reduce the price of school books.

A SOUND LIBERAL OPINION. Mr. D. J. W. Lee, of the Franklin Times, has written an excellent article on the subject of school books. He has shown that the present system of school books is a great evil, and that it must be reformed.

Of course it goes. The Franklin Times has a long and distinguished history. It has been a leading newspaper in the South for many years.

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

Ab. Lige, the President, looking up, "that is rather far-fetched, but it's all right. I would have preferred to give the office to a man who had at least one drop of pure Harvard blood in his veins. But Lige is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State, and he is a native of this State."

To Clubs of Five FRANKLIN TIMES will be furnished at $1.40.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.

The Editor of the Franklin Times is responsible for the contents of this paper. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers. He is not responsible for the opinions of the writers.