An Untucky Beginning.

The New York Evening Post declares that the net result of the first six months of Mr. Harrison's term "is a lower moral tone in politics than the country has known since 1872." The most conspicuous developments of his policy, it says, are the course of Commissioner Tanner, the choice by the President of Tom Platt, Matt Quay, and Mahone as men to whom he prefers to hand over the patronage of the government, the increase of over $7,000,000 in the public debt during the last third of the six months, and the removals from office without cause. Tanner's course, says the Post, is "by common consent a national scandal of such serious proportions that leading newspapers of the President's party have called for Tanner's removal as the only thing which can save the administration from disgrace and the national treasury from possible bankruptcy." With regard to the strange selection of political friends and agents in the choice of Quay, Platt and Mahone as the repositories of Federal patronage in their states, the Post does not hesitate to say that the President is engaged with their assistance in building up a political machine. With reference to their increase in the public debt of $7,000,000 it points to the significant fact that "for the corresponding period in every one of President Cleveland's four years there was an average decrease of about $10,000,000." In the matter of removals from office without cause, the Post says "the President has surpassed all previous records, and has so completely broken not only the pledge of his party's platform, but his own personal pledge as well, that there is a formidable movement in the Republican party for the unconditional repeal of the civil service law." This is a severe arraignment, but which of its counts can be disproved? Tanner is a fact which cannot be concealed or denied. His removal now comes like a distributed repudiation, very late. As for the President's fellowship and sympathy with the machine politicians of his party, the indictment is supported by official acts and appointments which speak for themselves. The increase in the public debt as compared with its decrease under Mr. Cleveland is shown by treasury statements and exhibits. The wholesale removal without cause can be proved by the administration's own records, and the fact that a strong element in the Republican party is beginning to demand the repeal of the civil service law shows how the presidential purpose and policy have been interpreted. Mr. Harrison has still nearly three years and a half before him in the presidential chair, and has ample time to redeem some of the mistakes into which he has fallen, but even friends must admit that he has made an unfortunate beginning.—Sun.

Political Points.

The outlook for large Democratic majorities in New York and New Jersey this year are reported good.

It is said that the national Republican committee has declined to honor the requisitions for a liberal supply of cash in the Virginia election.

Of the two Malongites nominated in Rockbridge county Va., for the Legislature Col. John A. Gilson is a distiller and leading granger, and J. H. Ackley is a merchant opposed to the grange and a prominent prohibitionist.

Hon. Robt. W. Hughes, for years judge of the United States District Court for one of the districts of Virginia, and ever since the war a staunch Republican, announces his determination to support the Virginia Democratic State ticket this year.

The Philadelphia Press advises the New Jersey Democrats to "prepare for the best licking they ever got" and the New York Herald retorts by telling his neighbor that if he never dies until that event happens he will live so long that he will be able to address Methuselah as "sonny."

The National Democrat, of Washington City, says that "President Harrison has shown his opposition to the repeal of the internal revenue law on more than one occasion, and the Congressmen who differ from the President on that subject have been systematically set down upon by the administration."

Criticism Without a Cause.

Amidst all this criticism of Gov. Fowle because of the fact that he has offered no reward for the Burke county lynchers, it has probably not occurred to the critics that he cannot do such a thing except upon a regular proceeding. Has any one applied to him to offer a reward? Has any one furnished him the names of those, or any of them, composing the lynching party, and asked him to move? If so, and he has declined to act, denunciation and ridicule of him are perhaps in order; if not criticism is rather premature. When a Governor offers a reward he must designate whom he wants. We have never heard that the names of those who were in the mob had been presented to the Governor under oath with a request that he advertise for them, and to advertise for the mob in bulk would be a trifle irregular, if not ridiculous—not only irregular and ridiculous but altogether unnecessary, for the lynchers are all in Burke still and can be apprehended under warrants sworn out before a squire quite as readily as upon a proclamation issued by the Governor. While insisting that mobs shall not take the law into their own hands, suppose, for consistency's sake, that we allow the Governor to proceed according to law and precedent in the matter of offering rewards.

It is objected again that the Governor in his recent proclamation made no specific reference to the lynching at Morganton. He could have done so if Burke were the only county in which a lynching had ever occurred. Catawba and Iredell, both to the east of it, have each had their lynching parties within the past eight years. Then why should the Governor be expected to single out Burke and jump on it with both feet? He had learned through the public press that lawless men had taken the administration of justice in their own hands, and thereupon he issued a perfectly proper proclamation admonishing the people in general terms to respect the laws and not usurp the prerogative of the courts. He might have done less; he might have issued no proclamation at all; though we think his proclamation was proper and timely. But more he could not have done, and those who are so outraged because the law has been outraged should have a care that they do not further weaken public respect for it by themselves unnecessarily and capriciously weakening public respect for its chief agent in the person of the Governor. Let those of us who cannot be logical at least be calm.—Statesville Landmark.

The most delicate constitution can safely use Dr. J. H. McLean's Ter Wine Lung Balm. It is a sure remedy for coughs, loss of voice and all throat and lung troubles.

Have You a Mother?

Have you a mother? If so honor and love her, if she is aged, do all in your power to cheer her declining years. Her hair may have become grey, her eyes may have dimmed, her brow may contain deep and unsightly furrows, her cheeks may have sunk, but you should never forget the holy love and tender care she has for you. In your gone by she has kissed away from your cheek the troubled tears, she has smoothed and petted you when all else appeared against you, she has watched over you and nursed you with a tender care known only to a mother, she has sympathized with you in your sorrows, she has been proud of your success. You may be displeased by all around you, yet that loving mother stands as an apostle for all your short comings. With all that disinterested affection would it not be ungrateful in you if you, if in her declining years you failed to reciprocate her love and honor her as your best tried friend? We have no respect for a man or woman who neglects an aged mother. If you have a mother, love her, and do all in your power to make her happy.—Christian at Work.

A Year of Jubilee.

As the New Bern Journal says looking at the world at large, and especially at these United States, this is a year that calls for the profoundest gratitude to the God of Heaven and Earth. There is no devastating war in any clime. The goddess of peace sways the scepter of the universal empire. In all climes the earth teems with vegetation, and all lands rejoice in abundant crops and luscious fruits. No wide spread pestilence poisons the air, bringing wretchedness to the habitations of men. "Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised" for his wonderful goodness and loving kindness! Not only is the world at peace, pestilence is confined to narrow limits, and all lands rejoice in plenty, but there are cheering evidences of an approaching year of jubilee in which there is to be, in these States, a return to political wisdom, individual prosperity and national glory.

During the three decades of Republican ascendancy, unbroken except by four years of Cleveland's administration, the departure from the principles and practices of our fathers has been such as to excite alarm for the perpetuity of our institutions. Red Republicanism has been so rampant as to threaten to sweep away all constitutional barriers and leave the ship of State a stranded and hopeless wreck.

But a new era is dawning. Political parties are taking anew their bearings, and statesmen are directing their course by the polar star of liberty, the American Constitution. Never before has the Democracy exhibited such unity. Never before have the masses responded with such spontaneity to the cardinal principles of the great party which has been the guardian of liberty in the past, and is the hope of patriotism in the future.

Every Democratic State Convention that has assembled during the recent year has thrown to the breeze a banner inscribed with such words and sentiments as "The Constitution, Liberty and Union; Equal Rights and Privileges; Economy in the administration of the Government; Tariff Reform, a Free Ballot and an Honest Count." In the different State platforms there may have been a variety of phraseology, but the same national sentiment pervades them all, making the national Democracy a compact union—one and inseparable.

Why is this? Why do New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania blend their voices to honor Democracy? The people everywhere have saluted our flag! New England is awake to the dangers of centralization and the tyranny of protection. The great West awakes to strike from her limbs the fetters of a system that takes the golden grain of her farmers to make rich an insistent mob of monopolists of the East. Everywhere labor asserts its rights, and the party that has oppressed labor is tottering to its fall.

There are prophecies all around us that bring joy and gladness to toiling, and honest, and honest with fair the cheeks of sportsmen who thrive on public robbery.

The signs of the times point to 1892 as the year of jubilee.

WE DO NOT deny to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, and we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. These remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. W. H. Furman, Jr. Druggist.

Even the most vigorous and hearty people have at times a feeling of weariness and lassitude. To dispel this feeling take Dr. J. H. McLean's Sarsaparilla; it will impart vigor and vitality.

When any good happens to any one to rejoice in it.

THE CURSE OF OFFICE SEEKING.

Whatever may be one's opinion of civil service reform the conclusion from such scenes as transpire every four years at Washington, not to speak of local politics, is that the love of office is too strong in this country. It is a high ambition to serve one's country or one's state or city.

But how few think of work to be done or the elevation of the function! It is of the emoluments, of the ease and comfort of the position, that the large majority of the office seekers reflect when once the bee gets into the bonnet.

It has been stated in the non-partisan press of the city of Washington that the number of persons who have bought places under Mr. Harrison is larger than it has been under any previous administration.

We may well believe it. While the country grows the evil also grows of looking to office for livelihood. It is a great pity it is so, but the fact cannot be disregarded.—Durham Globe.

COMPLETE AND PERMANENT.

In the early part of last year I had a violent attack of rheumatism, from which I was confined to my bed for over three months, and at times was unable to turn myself in bed, or even raise the cover. A nurse had to be in constant attendance day and night. I was so feeble that what little nourishment I took had to be given me with a spoon. I was in constant agony, and sleep was entirely out of the question except when I was under the influence of opiates.

After calling in the best local physicians, and trying all other medicines without receiving any benefit, I was induced by friends to try Shiloh's Specific (S. S. S.). I discontinued all other medicines, and took a course of S. S. S.—18 small bottles—which effected a complete and permanent cure.

L. C. BASSETT, El Dorado, Kansas.

AN EATING SORE.

Mr. C. B. McLemore, a prominent and influential citizen of Henderson, Tex writes under date of August 23, 1889, as follows: "For eighteen months I had an eating sore on my tongue. I was treated by the best local physicians but obtained no relief, the sore gradually growing worse. I concluded finally to try S. S. S., and I was entirely cured after using a few bottles.

You have my cheerful permission to publish the above statement for the benefit of those similarly afflicted."

THE reported dissatisfaction of the negroes of North Carolina with the Harrison administration will amount to nothing if indeed it exists at all, and if it does exist there is no reason for it, for we believe a comparative statement would show that more negroes are holding places in this State now, such as postmasters, postoffice clerks, &c., than ever before; but the dissatisfaction of the white Republicans and the disappointment of the independent elements is undoubted, and this is the consequence. Nor are the dissatisfied and disappointed confined to this State. They are general, as can be believed when it is told that the Democrats of Ohio really have a fighting chance this year; and unless there is a marked reaction of public opinion before the next national election the Republican party will go out of power again in 1892. We do not suppose that anybody, except probably President Harrison and C. F. Johnson, doubts that if a general election was held this fall the Democrats would have a large majority of the electoral as well as popular vote.—Statesville Landmark.

Rheumatism and Catarrh.

Rheumatism and catarrh are both blood diseases. In many severe cases they have yielded to treatment with B. B. H. (Botanic Blood Balm), made by Botanic Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga. Write for book of convincing proof, sent free. R. P. Dodge, Atlanta, Ga., says: "My wife had catarrh and nothing did her good. Her constitution finally failed and poison got into her blood. I placed her on a cup of B. B. H. and to my surprise her recovery was rapid and complete." W. P. McDaniel, Atlanta, Ga., writes: "I was much emaciated and had rheumatism so bad I could not get along without crutches. I also had new aigis in the leg. First-aid physicians did me no good. Then I tried B. B. H. and its effects were magical. I cheerfully recommend it as a good tonic and quick cure." Mrs. Matilda Nichols, Knoxville, Tenn., writes: "I had catarrh six years and a most distressing cough, and my eyes were much swollen. Five bottles of B. B. H. thank God I cured me." John M. Davis, Tyler, Texas, says: "I was subject a number of years to spells of inflammatory rheumatism, which six bottles of B. B. H. thank heaven, has entirely cured me. I have not felt the slightest pain since."

Reports at the State Democratic headquarters are encouraging for a Democratic victory in Virginia. Capt. McKimsey, the Democratic nominee for Governor, also takes a hopeful view of the outlook, while, on the other hand, General Mahone is quoted as expressing himself as well satisfied with Republican prospects.

THE FRANKLIN TIMES is the only newspaper published in Franklin county, and its circulation extends all over every section of this and adjoining counties; advertisements should make a note here.

The Editor will not be responsible for the views of correspondents. Brief communications from all sections most recently solicited. News items of any nature will be thankfully received.

THE Wilson Advance gives a timely and judicious warning to the Democrats of the State when it tells them, speaking of the influence now existing among the Republicans, that "it will disappear next year." This disclaimer, as the Advance remarks, "is always present when there is no damage to be done by it," but when it "comes time to vote we hear nothing of it." What has been the case in this regard in the past will be the case in the future. Of course North Carolina will remain in the Democratic column—there was never less to be feared than that; but it will remain in that column only so long as it will remain in that column; work and unity of purpose and effort; and not otherwise.

Typoid Fever.

Scientific American. Dr. Edison sums up the etiology of typhoid fever in the following words: First, typhoid fever never infects the atmosphere; second, never arises in water; and third, the cause of the disease, in order of their frequency, are as follows: First, infected water; second, infected milk; third, infected ice; fourth, digital infections; fifth, infected meat.

Sale of Valuable Land.

By virtue of a decree of the Superior court of Franklin county I shall sell at the Court House door in Louisburg, N. C., on Monday, the 6th day of November, 1889, at public auction to the highest bidder, the valuable land on which the late W. T. Collins resided and belonging to his estate situated in Franklin county, N. C., containing about six hundred and eighty acres. There are on these lands a splendid residence containing eight rooms and necessary out houses and five tenant houses. Some of the land is in a high state of cultivation. The land is in the best location for the bright tobacco. The growing is healthy and the neighborhood first-rate. It is a rare opportunity for securing a good home. Interested parties will be sold in several tracts. Terms: 1/3 cash, balance on credit of 12 months with 8 per cent. interest from day of sale. R. Y. TARBORNE, Adm'r, of W. T. COLLINS, dec'd, C. M. COOKE, Att'y, Louisburg, N. C., Sept. 26th, '89.
