WHEN SHOULD GIRLS MARRY?

A girl should marry when she is capable of understanding and fulfilling the duties of a true wife and thorough housekeeper, and never before.

No matter how old she may be, if she is not capable of managing a house in every department of it, she is not old enough to get married. When she promises to take the position of wife and home maker, the man who holds her promises has every right to suppose that she knows herself competent to fulfill it. If she proves incompetent or unwilling, he has good reason to consider himself cheated. No matter how plain the home may be, if it is in accordance with the husband's means and he finds it neatly kept, and the meals (no matter how simple) served from shining dishes and clean table linen, that husband will leave his home with loving words and thoughts, and looks ahead with eagerness to the time when he can return. Let a young woman play the piano and acquire every accomplishment within her power, the more the better, for every one will be that much more power to be used in making a happy home.

At the same time if she cannot go to the kitchen, if necessary, and cheerfully prepare just as good a meal as anyone could, with the same material, and serve it neatly after it is prepared, she had better defer her marriage until she learns. If girls would thoroughly fit themselves for the position of intelligent housekeepers before they marry, there would be fewer discontented, unhappy wives and more happy homes.—Exchange.

A DOG STORY

Rescue Two of Their Kind That Were in Distress
One of the most peculiar incidents in the annals of animal instinct occurred in Rutlandshire recently, the facts of which, says Pearson's, are as follows: Squire X—is one of the best known characters in that part of the country. A few days ago he missed two of his best sporting dogs, and his general supposition was that they had been stolen. Recently however, he was surprised to see one of his pets walk into the house, followed a minute later by the other, both wearing the appearance of utter destitution.

Investigation revealed the following facts: While out shooting a neighbor came across a broken bank on his estate, and two of his dogs showed uneasiness at a hole in the ground. Nothing he could do would induce the dogs to leave the spot, and he finally secured a spade and began digging for the cause of the trouble. Eight feet of earth was dug away before the truth was out. Then he discovered the two dogs, evidently buried from their own exertion in endeavoring to chase a rabbit. They had been there for 18 days and were nearly famished. On their return to the Squire's house they were followed by the animals who had rescued them, and prompt treatment saved the lives of both.

Here's a good one from the Monroe Enquirer: "We heard a story some time ago which struck us as being an exceedingly good one illustrating the greatness of being a true Democrat. The story runeth thus: A good man died and all his neighbors turned out to the funeral. As there was no minister present, an old friend of the deceased was asked to say something after the coffin had been lowered in the grave. The old fellow walked slowly to the foot of the open grave and delivered the following oration over the dead body of his friend: "My friends there lays as good a Democrat as water ever wet or sun ever dried." He then turned slowly away with the consciousness that he had done his full duty and had heaped the highest praise upon his fellow being."

We Have Not Yet Fallen so Low.

However desperate the position of the Democratic party may be, the majority of its members have not fallen so low as to become the political chattel of a few designing and office-seeking politicians, who, wearing the badge of Democracy in public, are in secret willing to see their party destroyed, if their own ends can thereby be served.

The faithful and sincere Democrats of North Carolina, however they may individually stand upon the currency question makes no difference, cannot fail to denounce these betrayers, and utter a protest against anything of a character which means betrayal of the party to Butler.

Not a word will be said against the return of the Populists to the Democratic ranks, and the indications of a State convention for free silver can be a sufficient excuse for their returning, but for the Democratic party to give itself up to Marion Butler, and follow his beck and call, ought to arouse the fury of every Democrat.

Let the anything-for-office Democrats go into the Butler camp if they will; let the Democratic party go down in the next campaign, but let it be defeated with its face to the enemy, its principles intact, and its political integrity un-sullied.

With all offers of exchange of principle for office, of fusion with Butler to insure success! If Democratic success can only be attained through Butlerism, may the party perish rather than succeed through such agencies.

Learn to Laugh.

A good laugh is better than medicine. Learn how to tell a story. A well told story is as welcome as a sunbeam in a sick room. Learn to keep your troubles to yourself. The world is too busy to care for your ills and sorrows. Learn to stop croaking. If you cannot see any good in the world, keep the bad to yourself. Learn to hide your pains and aches under a pleasant smile. No one cares to hear whether you have the earache, headache or rheumatism. Don't cry. Tears do well enough in novels, but they are out of place in real life. Learn to meet your friends with a smile. The good-humored man or woman is always welcome, but the dyspeptic or hypochondriac is not wanted anywhere, and may be a nuisance as well.

Selection of Seed Corn.

Farmers as a general rule are not careful enough in their selection and care of corn for seed. Many practice storing their seed corn in an open corn crib before it is thoroughly dry. The germ of corn being porous, absorbs moisture and being subject to hard freezing during the winter. As a result the germ is partially or wholly destroyed and the chances of its growing under the most favorable circumstances is very limited. An authority says while husking the best ears should be saved and placed in a dry room and cured by fire drying. Corn treated in this way is sure to grow and make vigorous and healthy growth.—Drovers' Journal.

Wanted a Big One.

The annual report of Biddefords city missionary, just made public, shows some queer sides of human nature, as well as many pitiful cases of suffering. For instance, one woman, who had two or three small Bibles, asked the missionary to get her one of those nice family Bibles, worth about $14. One family who applied for aid were found breakfasting on friar's bread, rabbit, bread and butter, mince pie, and tea, when the missionary surprised them by the unexpected call.

He Compromised.

One of Calgary's recent contingent to the coast evidently knew but little about the Chinook, judging by the story that is being told on him. Wishing to get some clams to take back with him, he asked an old squaw, who had cobwebs in her eyes and a basket on her head, what she wanted for a basketful, and the blushing brunette replied: "Situm dollar, hayas klosk." To this the gay Calgaryite said: "Yumping yiminy! Six dollars and all my clothes? No by gingersnap! I'll give you $2.50, my wath and overcoat." It is unnecessary to state that the offer was accepted, as all the dusky maiden asked for the clams was four bits.

How to Make Lemonade.

Here is a good way to make lemonade, which, you will be surprised to learn, is best made with boiling water. For a quart of lemonade, take the juice of three lemons, using the rind of one. Carefully peel this rind very thin, getting just the yellow outside; cut it into small pieces and put it with two ounces of powdered sugar, into the juice. These should all be put in a small stone crock, with a cover, and when the water is just boiling, pour a quart of it over them. Clap the cover on and set it away to get cold.—New York Times.
