Discrimination in Freight Rates.

The Greensboro Record has quite a full report of the proceedings of the meeting of manufacturers held in that place Wednesday and touched upon the paper Thursday. Some figures were printed at that time showing the discrimination in freight rates against North Carolina, and in the Record's report other figures of a yet more startling character are given. Thus it was shown that the rate on cotton goods from Danville to New York is 29 cents, while from Greensboro it is 41, though the distance between these points is hardly more than 40 miles. Again, the rate on shoes from Boston to Lynchburg is 45 cents, while to Greensboro it is 89 cents—just double, lacking one cent.

We have no prejudice against railroads; they are conservators of the civilization as well as the prosperity of a people; we have no part in the clamor against them because it is popular to denounce them. But railroads must be fair, and if the figures given are correct, North Carolina is not being fairly treated by them and these manufacturers are doing the whole public a service when they cry out against this discrimination. A part of their work was the formulation of a plan for the employment of an expert traffic man to look after matters and see if something cannot be done to equalize rates. Manifestly they are sadly out of joint.—Charlotte Observer.

AMERICAN TOBACCO CO.

Directors Elected—Balance of Surplus $5,884,548.

At the annual meeting of the American Tobacco Co., held in Newark, N. J., the following directors were elected for a term of one year: Josiah Brown, James G. Butler, John Doerhoeffer, and Ernest Schindler.

The annual report for the year ending December 31, 1896, shows a balance of surplus of $5,884,548, against a surplus of $8,600,372 for the previous year. The net earnings were $3,583,907, and the balance after dividends and charges, $864,178. This amount, added to last year's surplus, makes a total of $9,464,548, and deducting from this a 20 per cent. dividend of $3,580,000 on the common stock, the $5,884,548 balance of surplus is left.

Messrs Marburg and Ginter resigned from the board and were replaced by Herman Ellis and J. D. Cobb. Mr. Schmelser succeeded Mr. Gael, who retired.

Round Bale Compresses to be Operated on a Co-Operative Basis.

The fears of monopoly in the handling of cotton by the round-bale process, which have existed in some quarters, may be set at rest by the statement in the Manufacturers' Record that it is authoritatively informed that the American Cotton Co., proposes to operate its cylindrical compresses in co-operation with local planters and ginners throughout the South. The plan of operation that has been decided upon will enable planters and ginners to avail themselves of the benefits of the invention on a liberal co-operative basis, with a market for their cotton assured. The company will begin at once the introduction of round-bale compresses. In an interview in the Manufacturers' Record Mr. Henry Heutz, president of the New York Cotton Exchange, calmly and accurately gauges the opposition to the new process, and from an independent standpoint, supported by practical experience, he says that "it is absolutely certain that cotton packed in cylindrical bales under the system adopted by this company will bring higher prices all the world over than that packed in the prevailing style."

THERE IS NOTHING SO GOOD.

There is nothing just as good as Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, colds and coughs, so demand it and do not permit the dealer to sell you some substitute. He will not claim there is any better, but in order to make more profit he may claim something else to be just as good. You want Dr. King's New Discovery because you know it to be safe and reliable and guaranteed to do good or money refunded. For coughs, colds, consumption and for all affections of the throat, chest and lungs, there is nothing so good as Dr. King's New Discovery. Trial bottle free at Aycooke & Co.'s drug store.

Southern Industries.

The Exchange says, Laurinburg Cotton Seed Oil and Manufacturing Company has declared an annual dividend of 9 per cent.

The town of Mount Airy has sold $25,000 worth of bonds, for water works and electric light plant, and will immediately put it both.

Marion Democrat: The new factory is going up at once. The lumber is being placed upon the lot now. It is to be a $40,000 plant and the building will be three stories. The concern will employ a large number of hands.

Ex Senator Don Cameron, of Pennsylvania, one of the largest stock holders, has instituted suit for foreclosure of the $100,000 mortgage on the Roanoke Navigation and Water Power Company. The Weldon News says that Senator Cameron will buy it, of course.

Charlotte Observer: Captain Henry Grose and Mr. F. A. Keaves have leased the old Jag Knott gold mine, nine miles from Charlotte, from Messrs. Moore & Addick, of Yorkville, S. C. They will begin the work of developing the mine next week. Both are practical gold miners and they are satisfied that they have secured a paying property.

A special from Oxford, N. C., to the Charlotte Observer says: At present the gold mining interests, near Oxford, are attracting capitalists with a view to investing in the farm lands on which the indications of gold are very encouraging. A reliable California miner who called here to examine the prospects, reports a rich vein of gold deposit running through the private grounds of East Oxford. The work of digging for gold in the Cheatham farm four miles from Oxford, goes steadily on, with the prospects growing better every day. Several shafts have already been sunk and more will be sunk immediately, thus verifying the report of an eminent geologist, who many years ago reported Granville county to be remarkably rich in gold and valuable mineral deposits.

A Kind of a Sauter in Kansas.

Mr. B. P. Walker, Postmaster at the town of Logan, is authority for the story that the farmers who live in the valley of Crystal Creek, in Phillips county, are greatly excited there over the appearance of an enormous reptile which reptable men, who declare that they have seen it, say is not less than fifty feet long. It has the sinuous body of a snake, but its tongue is not forked, and on its head are two short horns. Its color is green, with dirty white spots. It feeds upon small animals and fowls, and has an enormous appetite.

One morning a farmer lost sixty chickens, and he followed the trail of the reptile until it disappeared in the creek.

Another farmer lost forty young pigs in forty-eight hours, and a German testifies that the monster killed his plow horse, which was feeding near the creek, by a single blow of its enormous tail.

It has been shot at several times, but its hide is proof against bullets. When in anger it lifts its head ten feet in the air, protrudes its tongue three feet or more, and utters a whine like a puppy crying for its mother. The farmers are afraid of it, but will make a united effort to kill it. It hides in the swamp and water, and it is supposed, came from the deeper water of the Solomon river, some miles distant.—Topeka, Kan., Dispatch.

When Loving Mothers Grow Selfish.

"It is when children reach maturity that the supreme tests of parental love comes," writes Edward W. Bok, discussing the home-leaving of children at the time of marriage, in the 'May Ladies' Home Journal. "All through infancy and early years the children are more or less care. And then, just as the parents feel relieved from cares and anxieties, and are beginning to enjoy the companionship of their children in the serene and complacent way which 'grown-ups' have, there comes a fluttering of the wings, a remote suggestion of flight. The son is no less his mother's boy than he has been and ever will be. But he is—and who realizes it so quickly as a mother—in a new and very natural sense, another woman's hero; and that woman a girl. With her he discerns, away out on the horizon line, the shadowy lines of a house that is to become a home their very own. The girl, too, whose going in and out of the house has been a daily joy to the parents—she too, has become a heroine to some one other than her father or her mother. It is hard for the parents to realize that this mate of her flight can care for her as they have; that in her young eyes, in her young heart, it is possible that he can be altogether noble and capable. And after the young birds have taken flight the parents wonder if some time they do not grieve in their new life. But some fine morning a clearer vision is given them, and they realize that, after all, their children are only playing the same role which they played a few years before. It is a magnificent quality in parents when they so prepare themselves that they can meet this inevitable time with the proper spirit—when in other words, parental love can get the better of selfishness.

Carpet-Baggers Getting All the Pie.

Southern Republicans are complaining that all the important appointments thus far given to the South have been tendered to "carpet-baggers," and not one to a native born. Buck, of Georgia; Gray, of Maryland; Clayton, of Arkansas; Evans, of Tennessee, and every other Southerner who has received an office thus far, except postoffices and other local positions, were born in the North. The matter has been brought to the attention of President McKinley. The native Republicans say that President McKinley has pretended to be interested in building up the party in the South, yet in his distribution of patronage he recognizes only the old office holding "carpet-bag" element, to the exclusion of young men, who are natives of the soil, and who have been trying to improve the condition of the South and the Republican party in that section.—Washington Dispatch to Chicago Record.

The Value of Green Food.

Birds are now running out and the close confinement of the long winter months is at an end. Unless precautions were taken last fall to sow your yards with rye, they will look for morning until night for what they most need, and that is green food. Bare yards are not inviting at any season, and more especially is this true in these early spring days. Too much grain, too much meal and too much of all fattening foods have been given during the cold months. A little extra green food is what your lavers need, and also what your males need to make them more vigorous and put them in better general health. Search your cellars for what you may have left over—potatoes, apples, turnips, cabbage, anything that is green will be most acceptable to your feathered pets.—Country Gentleman.

THE NORTH CAROLINA ROOM.

In the Confederate Museum—Jefferson Davis' Former Residence.

Describing the different rooms in the Confederate Museum at Richmond, the Southern Progress says:

"North Carolina occupies the room which was the nursery in the home of President Davis. It has a magnificent view of that part of Richmond known as Church Hill. It was given to North Carolina as one of the choicest apartments in the mansion, because of North Carolina's brilliant record during the war. Here is the picture of Henry Wyatt, the first martyr of the war, killed at Bethel Church, June 10, 1861, as well as good pictures of other prominent soldiers and generals. In an individual case the effects of the gallant Major General William Dorsey Peuder; the suit of gray in which he was killed; his two commissions—one as lieutenant in the United States army, given by President Davis, then Secretary of War in the Cabinet of President Pierce; the other his commission of major general in the Confederate States army."

"A beautiful flag adorns the wall, which was given by the Edgeworths girls, of Greensboro, N. C., to the Guilford Grays, commanded by Captain John Sloan, of the Twenty-seventh North Carolina State Troops. Of the gallant L. O. B. Branch, they have his pistols and holster and big glove."

"A large frame is filled with important dispatches from President Davis to Governor John W. Ellis, of North Carolina; also one of condolence to his wife on his hearing of the death of Governor Ellis. There is also the flag that was presented to the Governor by R. Mayo's girls, of Raleigh, the same flag which draped his coffin."

L. F. Farely conducts a large mercantile business at Liberty Hill, Ga. He says: "One application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm relieved me of a severe pain in my back. I think it O. K." For lame back, rheumatism, neuralgia, swellings, sprains, bruises, burns and scalds no other treatment can approach Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It is intended especially for these diseases and is famous for its cures. For sale by W. G. Thomas druggist.
