It Has Petered Out.

There is every indication that the gold Democratic organization has gone utterly to pieces everywhere, and particularly in the South. The man who did more in 1896 to help McKinley in Virginia, Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland than any other man was Mr. M. E. Ingalls, president of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. He not only influenced the men in his employ, and that was an army, but he made speeches and put himself at the head of the movement in three or four States. At the meeting of the National Sound money League in New York a few days ago, Mr. Ingalls said:

"The result of the recent campaign shows conclusively that the South will again drift back to the Democracy and free silver." The most conservative and influential Southern paper that opposed Bryan was the Charleston News and Courier. It is a strong gold paper, but it now says the results of the late election makes "financial reform the deciding issue in the next campaign," and "the star of Mr. Bryan is in the ascendant." It says that this is not because "Mr. Bryan's way is the right way or the best way, but because the people of the United States will resort to revolutionary measures rather than submit to the further control of the government in the interest of the classes."

The News and Courier goes on to say: "Thousands of Democrats voted against the Chicago candidate and the Chicago platform last year because they hoped, almost against hope, for relief by more orderly and conservative methods; but the work of the McKinley administration so far shows how sadly their confidence was misplaced. They have not changed their views as to the revolutionary tendencies of the Bryan party, they would welcome any policy which would maintain the credit of the nation while affording financial relief to the people, but they do not look for succor from the party in power. It has one idea of government—the use of the taxing power in behalf of favored interests. It has one financial policy—the policy of controlling the currency in the interest of the money centers. Such a party with such aims and purposes cannot be trusted with the administration of the affairs of the government. Bryanism is bad, very bad; but McKinleyism is worse."

When men like M. E. Ingalls and a paper like the News and Courier give up it is safe to say the smaller fry cannot keep up the fight to re-plant the South. Every hope held out by McKinley's supporters has failed to materialize, and the condition of the South in its chief interest is more depressed than last year. If agriculture languishes, there can be no real prosperity for the South and West. Agriculture will never be profitable, except by foreign famine or pestilence, when it has to bear the burdens of the gold standard and high tariff, the twin despoilers of the American farmer and laborer.

"The Union cannot be half slave and half free," declared Mr. Lincoln. It is equally true that no man can be half Democrat and half Republican. There is no half way house. The gold Democrats must come back to their party and submit to the wisdom of the majority or they must go into the Republican party. The issue is clearly drawn—the masses vs. the classes. The opponents of class rule and a financial policy "in the interest of the money centers" must come into the Democratic party. Those who believe in rule by the money classes, a single gold standard, negroism in public office, and McKinleyism and Dingleyism, with all that they imply, ought to go with Russell, Pritchard and Jim Young into the Republican party. Every voter who wants his vote to count must choose between the two.

Difficulties.

The man who has no difficulties to encounter in life never has much of a hand in the battles of life. The greatest trouble about difficulties is not the difficulties themselves, but the proper way to overcome them. No life is smooth all the way through. Even the little tot at its mother's knee often has difficulties to encounter. The young man with energy and perseverance often has severe struggles before he accomplishes anything. Honey is sweet, and, to many, very palatable, but often the painful sting of the busy bee is felt before it can be obtained. It is very difficult to ascend a high mountain; but when you have reached the summit nature places before your vision the magnitude of God's handiwork and you behold with awe and admiration. You have a great work before you and in order to accomplish that work properly you may have many difficulties to encounter, and it may require years of hard labor and study to surmount them, but you must make an honest effort to get up the hill. All men were created for a grand purpose, but is often foiled by the alluring devices of the devil.

It seems strange that men should fight against all good natural impulses and choose to do the very things that are hurtful to them for time and eternity, and yet this is the case. Men will go to political speakings and stand or sit upon the ground for hours and listen to political abuse and vulgar slang, but when at church, if the preacher speaks more than half or three-fourths of an hour, they are much fatigued and promise themselves not to sit so long again. There is but one reason that can be given for this and that is that they do not like good, substantial truths. Every preacher has difficulties of this nature to contend with. But this is not all. His flock persist in doing those things which the discipline of the church positively forbids, yet they solemnly vow when they join the church to keep inviolate, all her rules. One of the great difficulties about church membership is the profession without the possession of religion. It may be a very difficult matter to present a good face to your fellows, but the day is coming when you shall be sifted as wheat, and then your days of deception will cease.

LOOK OUT FOR THE HENS.

The farmer who despises the hens is making a big mistake, no matter if he is a big grain farmer or a big stockman. Appearances are deceitful, and the last few years, yes, for many years, the breeder of fowls has made infinitely more money for the amount of money, care and thought he has put into his business than some of his more pretentious brethren. I do not see that the prices for fresh eggs and market poultry have fallen much for the average of the year, notwithstanding the low price of corn and oats. Western farmers had better convert more of this grain into the finished poultry commodities. Manufactured articles naturally bring larger prices than the cruder products. The great point in producing poultry products for critical city markets is to raise the best. A poor article always disappoints both buyer and seller. Away with dunghill fowl. Breed the variety of poultry that best fits the purpose you have in view. Plymouth Rocks and Wyandottes are superb breeds to cultivate for market poultry. Leghorns are fine layers, but of small value for cooking in a pot. The American Wyandotte of a healthy strain doubtless comes as near a good layer and a fine market bird as any other single breed. If a man is to make a specialty of giving the market fresh eggs, let him be sure the eggs are fresh and reach the market fresh, too. If he sells dressed fowls, let him be sure they are fat, plump and well dressed. In this way trade will grow on ones hands.—City and Country.

STATE NEWS.

The University of North Carolina has 470 students enrolled. Forty-four of the 212 gold mines of the State are in active operation. A rich deposit of crystallized garnet in mica schist has been found near Wake Forest. Miss Ella Potter, of Wilmington and Hon. Thos. Settle, of Greensboro, were married in Wilmington on the 18th.

An election will be held in Rutherford county on December 21st to decide whether or not to adopt the Stock Law.

John Evans was found guilty of assault on Miss Cole at Rockingham, and was sentenced to be hung November 26th.

Dennis Cannon, while intoxicated, was struck by a Southern freight train at Charlotte Tuesday morning and killed.

The Episcopalians are endeavoring to raise a fund to purchase St. Mary's school, Raleigh, for the Episcopal church in this State.

Mecklenburg county is to establish the whipping-post, its authorities believing it will be a better preventive of crime than the chain gang.

Rev. Dr. W. R. Gwaltney, pastor of the church and chaplain of the college at Wake Forest, has tendered his resignation to take effect on the first of June next.

Mr. Robt. L. Abernethy, of Mountain Island, Gaston county, hasn't cut his hair since Bryan was defeated and says he isn't going to cut it until Bryan is elected President.

The opinion is expressed by a number of papers that Evans, the colored man convicted of outraging Miss Cole at Rockingham and sentenced to be hanged on the 26th, is not guilty. The Governor is expected to commute his sentence.

Ed. Purvis, a negro, was hanged in the jail yard at Lillington, Harnett county, on the 17th, for the murder of M. J. Blackman, a white flagman on the Atlantic Coast Line, on the 14th of August last. Purvis confessed to the crime.

The remains of the late General Thomas L. Clingman are to be re-interred in Asheville, among the everlasting mountains that he loved so much, one of the highest of which he measured and is named after him—"Clingman's Dome," three miles from the top of Mount Mitchell.

Gov. Russell has commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of George Johnson, colored, convicted of rape at October term of New Hanover Criminal Court, and sentenced to be hanged on the 18th. The reason assigned is that the woman bringing the charge—a colored woman—is of bad character.

The Biblical Recorder, the organ of the North Carolina Baptists and one of the most influential church papers, says editorially: "We have found advocacy of educational qualifications in this State more popular than we had reckoned. There seems to be no real opposition to it."

The Democrat says a lady of Sampson county sold a bale of cotton ten years old at Clinton a few days ago. She grew the bale on her farm ten years ago when cotton was worth 11 cents. She held it for 12 cents and the price kept going down. She finally sold it at about 5 1/2 cents.

It often happens that the doctor is out of town when most needed. The two year old daughter of J. Y. Schesek, of Caddo, Ind. Ter., was threatened with croup. He writes: "My wife insisted that I must go for the doctor at once, but he was out of town. I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which relieved the child immediately." A bottle of that remedy in the house will often save the expense of a doctor's bill, besides the anxiety always occasioned by serious sickness. When it is given as soon as the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack. Thousands of mothers always keep it in their homes. The 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by W. G. Thomas, Druggist, Louisburg, N. C.

Roanoke Courier.
One of the prisoners, who has been in jail for several months for blockading, took offence at the Courier last week. He said when he was put in jail we didn't say a word about it, and when "another gentleman" was put in for robbing the mails we gave him a long write up.

J. T. CLIFTON,
Nov. 12-4. Clerk to Board,

God was light to the children of Israel, but a lightning stroke to the Egyptians.

A man with splendid abilities that are not consecrated to God, is like a first-class fiddle unstrung. From the Lone Star State comes the following letter, written by W. F. Gass, editor of the Mt. Vernon, (Tex.) Herald: "I have used Chamberlain's colic, cholera and diarrhea remedy in my family for the past year, and find it the best remedy for colic and diarrhea that I have ever tried. Its effects are instantaneous and satisfactory, and I cheerfully recommend it, especially for cramp colic and diarrhea. Indeed, we shall try to keep a bottle of it on our medicine shelf as long as we keep house." For sale by W. G. Thomas, Druggist, Louisburg, N. C.

ONE OF TWO WAYS.

The bladder was created for one purpose, namely, a receptacle for the urine, and as such it is not liable to any form of disease except by one of two ways. The first way is from imperfect action of the kidneys. The second way is from careless local treatment of other diseases.

Unhealthy urine from unhealthy kidneys is the chief cause of bladder troubles. So the womb, like the bladder, was created for one purpose, and if not kept in such a state as to be free from disease, except in rare cases, it is situated back of and very close to the bladder, therefore any pain, disease or inconvenience manifested in the kidneys, back, bladder or urinary passage is often, by mistake, attributed to female weakness or womb trouble of some sort. The error is easily made and may be as easily avoided. To find out correctly, get your urine tested for twenty-four hours, a sediment or settling indicates kidney or bladder trouble. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp Root, the great kidney and bladder remedy is soon realized. If you need a medicine you should have the best. At drug stores fifty cents and one dollar. You may have a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail. Mention this Franklin Times and send your address to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. The proprietors of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this offer.
