LESSON VII, FOURTH QUARTER, IN-TERNATIONAL SERIES, NOV. 13.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings xix, 20-22, 28-37-Memory Verses, 32-34-Golden Text, Ps. xlvi, 1—Commentary Prepared by the Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1898, by D. M. Stearns.] 20. "Thus saith the Lord God of Israel, That which thou hast prayed to me against Sennacherib, king of Assyria, I have kiah the king of Assyria came against Judah and greatly blasphemed the Lord when he had read the letter, spread it before the Lord and prayed (verses 14-19). Many times have I followed Hezekiah's plan and always found rest. If we ask anything according to His will He heareth us (I John v, 14), and it is His will that we tell Him everything and have in asking for the overthrow of Sennacherib was that all the earth might know that the God of Israel was the only true God.

21. "This is the word that the Lord hath spoken concerning him, The virgin, the daughter of Zion, bath despised thee and laughed thee to scorn." The peeple of God in Judah, called the daughter of Zion, the daughter of Jerusalem (compare Lam. ii, 13), having God as their defender and avenger, need fear no enemy. In such strength Moses and Joshua lived; Gideon also, and David when he went fearlessly against Goliath. When we seek only the honor and glory of God, He will not fail us. 22. "Whom hast thou reproached and blasphemed, the Holy One of Israel?" As in the next verse, "By thy messengers than hast reproached the Lord." They spake against the God of Jerusalem as against the gods of the people of the earth, the works of the hands of man, and for this cause Hezekiah, the king, and the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz, prayed and cried to heaven (II Chron. xxxii, 19, 22). God heard their prayer, and now we will see how He answered it.

which thou camest." This is a part of the word of the Lord concerning Sennacherib. See also verse 28, "I know thy abode and thy going out and thy coming in and thy rage against me." He who created all things can set bounds that none can pass. We can only go here and there or do this or that if the Lord will (Jas. iv, 15). Man does not stop to consider that all his words Lord (Ps. exxxix, 1-4), and that it is impossible to hide anything from Him. Even Adam, blinded by satan, thought he could hide from God among the trees (Gen. iii, sight of the Lord. 29. "And this shall be a sign unto thee. By comparing this verse with Lev. xxv. 21, 22, the sign seems to have been the special blessing of God upon the Sabbath year, or, in other words, the blessing of God on His obedient people. What but the hand of God could cause land to produce a three years' crop in one year? In the R. V. margin of Prov. x, 22, we read that the blessing of the Lord maketh rich and toil addeth nothing thereto.

30. "The remnant that is escaped of the house of Judah shall yet again take root downward and bear fruit upward." The doctrine that it is ever the few out of the many who are really the Lord's and who glorify Him is found in all Scripture. The stories of Noah, of Lot in Sodom, of Elijah and such statements as "Few there be that find it," "An afflicted and poor people who shall trust in the Lord," indicate that which God sees to be ever true. See Math. vii, 14; Zeph. iii, 12. 31. "Out of Jerusalem shall go forth a remnant; the zeal of the Lord of Hosts shall do this. The zeal of the Lord of Hosts shall also bring the kingdom of peace on earth which shall have no end (Isa. ix, 7). All shall be accomplished in and through the Son of David, our Lord Jesus Christ, of whom it is written, "The zeal of thine house bath caten me up" (Ps. lxix, 9; John ii, 17). It is nothing with the Lord to work with many or with few; nothing is too hard for Him (H Chron, xiv, 11; Jer.

32. "Therefore thus saith the Lord concerning the king of Assyria." Our Lord | him. He lay there with his knife out, doeth according to His will in the army of | ready with one of those sweeping hamheaven and among the inhabitants of the earth (Dan. iv, 35). His thoughts and purposes are as good as accomplished (Isa.

same shall he return and shall not come into this city, saith the Lord." This was | wounded man's weapon and drove his the decision of Him who had all the hosts of heaven under His control and all power to carry out His purposes. He could say, 'Hitherto shalt thou come, but no farther (Job. xxxviii, 11). Even the great adversary must stop when God shall say so, and he shall go to the pit for a thousand years, and to the lake of fire forever.

34. "For I will defend this city to save it for mine own sake and for my servant David's sake." See also chapter xx, 6, and compare Isa. xxxi, 5; Zech. xii, 8. The "I wills" of Jehovah are a study of greatest possible benefit. They often occur in sevens and in connection with the statement "I am Jebovah." See Ex. vi, 6-8; Gen. xvii, 1-8; Ps. xci, 14-16. Because He is what He is He will do what He says, not for Israel's sake, but for His own sake. See Ezek, xxxvi, 22; Ps. evi, 8. We must not look for worthiness or merit in ourselves, but in Him who alone is worthy (Ps. cxv, 1; Rev. v, 4, 5). Take all the comfort you can find in such passages as Isa. xliii, 25; I John ii, 12. 35.. "And it came to pass that night that the angel of the Lord went out and smote in the camp of the Assyrians an hundred fourscore and five thousand." The work of this angel is also mentioned in Isa. xxxvii, 36, and in II Chron. xxxii, When the devil is to be bound and cast into the bottomless pit, it is written that one angel will do it (Rev. xx, 1-3). Consider in each of these cases the power of an angel and then think of the millions upon millions of them mighty in strength, doing His commandments, hearkening unto the voice of His word (Rev. v, 11; Ps. ciii, 20). Think of the angel's disregard of and power over soldiers and fast barred gates in the story of Peter's release in Acts xii. Think of the one who carried good tidings to Paul in the storm at sea (Acts xxvii), remember that they are all ministering spirits sent forth to minister unto the heirs of salvation (Heb. i, 14), and let your heart say, "Though an host should encamp against me, my heart shall not fear" (Ps. xxvii, 3). If God be for me, who can be against me? I will trust and not be afraid. 36, 37. "His sons smote him with the sword." Thus he died in his own land according to the word of the Lord (verse 7), and while in the act of worshiping idols. So shall perish all the enemies of

Was there any mention of dervish wounded after the battle of the Atbara, and were there many of them in the hospitals in the rear? The correspondents always remained strangely silent upon this subject. It has been denied in parliament, we believe, that ever such things as we have described took place.

"Well, ministers are not less hypocritical than the rest of us, and possibly some of them knew that these things did happen. Whether they knew it or not, there are dozens of men, like the writer of this article, who know that they happened-because we were there and saw them. They do not make pleasant reading.
