THE NEGRO

AN INTELLIGENT COLORED TEACHER ON THE SITUATION.

He Advises the Better Element of the Negroes to Side with the Best White People who are their Friends.

Wilmington Messenger.

G. W. Herring is principal of the Clinton (colored) Graded School. He is evidently a man of good discernment and practical sense. In a communication to The Clinton Democrat he writes very judiciously, calmly, intelligently. He thinks with the late Dr. J. C. Price, an exceptionally able man of his race, that colonization is "not to be thought of." Price held that "colonization or emigration, extermination and amalgamation are impossibilities." Herring adds that his race is here to stay. We have a right here. We want to make friends of the white people among whom we live. Very well. But who is to blame if the two races are not friendly? Who have shown themselves the true, abiding friends of the negroes? For thirty-four years the whites have given them employment. Here in Wilmington thousands of negro men and women are employed by the whites from whom the negro race has been alienated. Herring says his race is doing better now—that "the negro is endeavoring to make himself a peaceful and industrious citizen, and is now withdrawing his attention from political partnership, which has proved to be the bane of the American negro today." All whites must hope that this will stand the test of an election and that the negroes will show that it is no longer their pleasure and delight to antagonize and hate the very men who befriended them and give them work from day to day. If they were all animated with the spirit of Booker Washington (who has an able discussion of the negro question in The Atlantic Monthly for November), and of some other able men of his race, there would be naught but harmony, peace, good will in the South.

But the entire better class of the negro race must unite in suppressing rapes and murder and arson and other damnable crimes in order to insure peace and harmony. Lynchings will continue just so long as the worst crimes against the whites continue. "Tis pity, 'tis true, pity, 'tis true."

Principal Herring writes as follows, and it is plainly true, whatever men of his own race may think of it:

"You say that men should be independent thinkers and vote their convictions—be it the Republican, Populist or Democratic ticket. But whenever a colored man dares to vote other than a ticket made by the machine, the 'bosses' denounce him and say he has sold out. Had the negro largely divided his vote when this division appeared in the Democratic ranks, six, four or two years ago, there would have been no color line drawn, no race riot in Wilmington, no mad men and corruption in the State, no bad men in office and no amendment proposed. I have at least maintained the right of voting for the best man in office, regardless of their party affiliations."

There can be no shadow of doubt as to the absolute correctness of that view. If the negroes had never so blindly, so unwisely, so viciously condescended against the true and best portions of the white voters there would never have occurred in the State the widespread frauds, peculations, scoundrelisms, oppressions and abuses, usurpations, cruelties that did occur. There would have been no murdering of "Chicken" Stephens to make capital against the Democrats, as Holden said to three Baptist ministers of the Gospel. There would have been no wholesale peculation and abuses such as marked the black radical party in the vile Reconstruction times. There would have been no public debt created by wholesale robberies, amounting to more than $30,000,000. There would have been no disgraces to the white skin put in office to pluck and ruin. There would have been no dirty fellows sent to the federal congress without honor or ability or character as some were. One was "kicked out of the house for bribery. But for the solid negro vote none of these iniquities, black with crime and mountain high in magnitude, would ever have stained the annals of the honest State. Says Principal Herring, the "brother in black":

"Had this been done throughout the State, only good men would have been elected—quietude in North Carolina, a friendly relation between the two races and no need of organizing colonization societies to take the negro away from among those who have proven to be his best friends—men who have 'stood' his bond," loaned him money, advanced him provisions, sent him provisions to his sick family, and given him friendly advice. Why this change? The one that gave orders to vote for a 'bobtail dog,' if your machine or boss nominated him, should bear the penalty, and not the whole race. This has widened the breach between the races. The class of people who cheered and applauded your colonization effort were the shiftless, capricious ones who have amassed nothing here—could leave the State between the setting and rising of the sun, and leave nothing behind them but their track."

That puts the case strongly, pointedly, exactly. But it is said to be, according to the adage, "never too late to mend." How will the better class of the negro race vote in 1900? Will they follow the wicked, selfish leadership of such greedy office seekers and teat swingers and trough traders and treacher slipers as those now conspiring and "connooding" and plotting and deceiving and posing before the amazed State of North Carolina to the utter disgust, contempt and abhorrence of all decent, self-respecting white men? How such "fellows of the baser sort" can presume to speak to reputable gentlemen, and how reputable gentlemen can speak to such fellows, is inexplicable and would be passing strange if not so common.

The man wearing a white skin who would dare to try and fasten negro rule upon his own race is a wretch unworthy of any honest man's regard or civilities. He is a traitor, base and unprincipled, to his own kind and kin and to his own skin, which snake-like he should quickly slough.

We will be glad if it shall be found that the following in Principal Herring's article shall be approved history instead of present prophecy:

"We plead to white Americans for law and order and fair play. The time has passed when abuse of the South finds favor with us. We pray and labor for peace and prosperity."

"Whatever is wrong in the South can be corrected in and by the South. The best black men and best white men or the South will surely move toward one common good. With the spirit of brotherly love we have a common and a glorious destiny, but with hatred and crime we drift toward the whirlpool of strife and death."

Mistakes of Life.

Somebody has tabulated for an English paper what it calls the "fourteen mistakes of life," and if you feel like taking a little food for serious thought, you could not do better than to give them attention. If you do not feel inclined that way now, put them away until you do. Here they are:

1. It is a mistake to set up our own standard of right and wrong, and judge people accordingly.

2. To measure the enjoyment of others by our own.

3. To expect uniformity of opinion in this world.

4. To look for judgment and experience in youth.

5. To endeavor to mold all dispositions alike.

6. To look for perfection in our own actions.

7. To worry ourselves and others with what cannot be remedied.

8. Not to yield to immaterial matters.

9. Not to alleviate, as far as lies in our power, all that needs alleviation.

10. Not to make allowance for the infirmities of others.

11. To consider everything impossible that we cannot do.

12. To believe only what our finite minds can grasp.

13. To expect to be able to understand everything.

14. To live for time, only, when any moment may launch us into eternity.

Now, that is about as near preaching a sermon as we have ever come, but is there anything in it that you do not approve? It seems to us that it pretty nearly covers that comprehensively thing called duty.

Boy Wanted.

Who does not smoke or drink. Who knows that the position for his hat is on the middle of his head.

Who does not wear a necktie with more than one dozen colors in it.

Who is not seen standing on the street corners at any time of the day or night.

Who is not afraid to be seen helping his mother with the dishes.

Who can be as courteous to his own sister as he is to other boys' sisters.

Who can chop a cord of wood as well as he can tie a four-in-hand.

Who so much dislikes to see the grass on the lawn long and untidy that he will get out the lawn mow and cut it.

Who can sing a hymn with as much feeling as he does all the latest popular songs.

Who will occasionally treat his sister to soda and ice cream, and take her to church on Sunday night.—Ex.

University Notes.

Dr. Alderman is absent on a trip north.

The Library is one of the most popular resorts here. Several improvements have been made in it recently. Boilers are being arranged in the basement for furnishing steam heat, two bicycle ladders for getting down books have been put in, and a new desk for the Librarian has been added. All of the latest books are received regularly.

Rev. Dr. Stagg, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Charlotte, and the first preacher to the University for the Collegiate year, has been here for the past week. He preached at the Chapel on Sunday and Thursday nights. There was a large audience present at both times.

On Thursday night, the 26th ult., Rev. D. A. Long, A. M., D. D., LL. D., former President of Antioch College, Ohio, lectured to a large body of students and towns people at Gerrard Hall, on "Science and Religion."

The total enrollment to date is about 500. New students will be added occasionally throughout the year.

The greatest foot-ball game of the season, in North Carolina, was played here on Tuesday afternoon between 'Varsity and the University of Maryland. The resulting score was: U. N. C., 6; Maryland, 0. The game was played in a steady rain, on a very muddy and sloppy field. The Maryland men had a good team, and played fine ball, but they were not able to hold down the "Champions of the South."

Our foot-ball eleven left on Friday for their Northern tour. They played the Naval Cadets at Annapolis on Saturday. The score is 12 to 0 in favor of the Naval Cadets was a pleasant surprise to us. They played Princeton on Wednesday. A great deal of interest has been taken in the class games this year. Coach Reynolds offered a handsome class championship banner to the class team that should win from all of the others. It looks very much now as if the Fresh team will win the banner. Freshmen won the game with Sophs, 10 to 0; Sophs won from Juniors, 6 to 5; so as a natural consequence Freshmen are quite jubilant.

THANKSGIVING.

Governor Daniel L. Russell Issues the Annual Proclamation.

State of North Carolina: Executive Department, Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 3, 1899.

Whereas, the people of this Republic have long been accustomed to set apart one day in each year as a day for public thanksgiving and rejoicing for the blessings of liberty and the gracious care of divine providence:

And, whereas, the year though which we have just passed has been one characterized by great industrial and civic prosperity;

And, whereas, it is fitting and proper that the people should turn aside from their usual employments and render thanksgiving and praise to All Mighty God for his manifold blessings to them.

Now, therefore, I, Daniel L. Russell, Governor of the Commonwealth of North Carolina, do issue this my Proclamation, appointing and setting apart Thursday, the 30th day of November, 1899, as a day of public and general Thanksgiving, and recommend to all our people that they lay aside the cares of their secular employments and assemble in their respective places of public worship to render thanksgiving and praise to God for the blessings of the past and to implore a continuation of his mercies to us as a people.

I recommend that at the several services held upon this day thus set apart, our people endeavor to remember their less fortunate fellow citizens who are dependent for the comforts of life upon the beneficence of public and private charity by contributing of their means for the assistance of these unfortunate.

Done at our city of Raleigh, this 3rd day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-nine, and in the one hundred and twenty-fourth year of our American Independence.

By the Governor.

DANIEL L. RUSSELL.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Denison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Gaidis. Under date of Nov. 4th, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on my last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by W. G. Thomas, druggist.

Cares are often more difficult to throw off than sorrows; the latter die with time; the former grow upon it.—Richter.

Overwork, either physical or mental, will produce weakness and loss of energy. Too many business or family cares, overwork in the harvest field, an excess of woman's work and worry, will produce months of misery. To prevent this the exhausted system should be relieved immediately. Dr. J. H. Malone's Strengthening Cordials, a Blood Purifier is an appropriate remedy. Price 50 cents and $1 a bottle.
