MANY IMMIGRANTS.

THOUSANDS OF SELF-SUSTAIN-ING PEOPLE BROUGHT TO THE SOUTH.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS OF THE SEABOARD AIR LINE'S INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT —STARTLINGLY SIGNIFICANT FIGURES OF PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT.

The remarkable showing made during the fiscal year just passed, by what is considered the greatest innovation ever undertaken by an American railway, is shown by the following extract from the annual report of Mr. E. St.
John, vice-president and general manager of the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

In that interesting paper, Mr. St.
John says: "The chief industrial agent reports that during the year ending June 30, 1900, 897 manufacturing establishments have been started upon lines therein reported upon, as against 284 the previous year.

He also reports 5,625 settlers, bringing with them $2,798,715, as against 3,750 with $1,627,800 during previous year; also 4,248 laborers as compared with 3,150 last year.

More than 500,000 packages of flower seeds, to beautify homes, have been distributed through our local industrial agents. The retail value of these seeds, at ten cents per package, would have been $50,000. Six hundred and thirty-eight thousand three hundred and eighty-one shade trees, fruit trees and fruit bearing vines have been planted during the year, an increase of 253,868 over preceding year.
These results have been largely brought about by the establishment of our Seaboard Air Line arbor day, and if we take the United States Government estimate that each shade tree is worth to a community $2 and each fruit tree $5, as a basis to figure on, the Seaboard Air Line has in this direction alone been of benefit to people in the various communities through which it passes, to the extent of a million dollars.

Six thousand four hundred and ninety-four houses were painted during the year on our line, an increase of 3,957 over last year, and as compared with 700 during first year and 10,937 homes and grounds were improved as the result of our efforts, an increase of 7,516, and as compared with less than 200 the first year we attempted anything in this line. The practical and efficient work accomplished through the efforts of our chief industrial agent, and his army of co-workers, is something that has not been done by any State or railroad, outside of the Seaboard Air Line, so far as we are advised, and it is undoubtedly a fact that the people along our lines appreciate our co-operation very much. The stock and poultry of the farmer has also been very greatly improved during the past few years as a result of the establishment of a stock department, in connection with our industrial work.

The establishment of our "volunteer army," "work day picnics," "canning school," "the training school on wheels," and the continued movement of the free traveling libraries from point to point, is undoubtedly working great good to our people, and the evidences of this are constantly coming in the shape of letters direct from people benefited, as well as notices through the press of the cities and towns through which we operate.

The experiments with kafir corn, hops, broom corn, etc., which was first brought by us to the attention of the farmers along our line; in fact, first experimented with upon the State and company's experimental farms, to demonstrate that there were other things of benefit to our farmers, have brought good results. We have also demonstrated to the farmer, through our industrial department, the value of fertilizers on crops and fruits, and incidentally have largely increased the sale of fertilizers, as well as benefitted the farmer by their use. We have demonstrated also that improved agricultural machinery was needed in almost every direction if he would get the best financial results from his labors, and in many cases, by showing him this machinery and how to use it, have convinced him that this was a fact. It is a matter of record in our industrial department, as one evidence of this, that 747 farmers have been induced to purchase modern machinery for their future use.

Our chief industrial agent's report covers about 3,000 pages of typewritten manuscript, and his statements are verified by individual reports from local industrial agents at the various points, showing that the amount of work accomplished is in excess even of that reported, which proves conclusively that the Seaboard Air Line has now, and has had for the past five

LOW HOMESEEKERS' RATES.

President Hill Will Attempt to Accomplish in a Few Years What, in the Ordinary Course of Events, Would Require a Life Time—Settlement Along Great Northern.

The action of the Great Northern in putting in effect a very low homeseeker's rate and extending the time until May 1 next is a legitimate and business-like move. It would not be so if adopted by many other roads of the country, for the conditions are not similar. The Northern roads have seen business that have been worked up by them for the settlement of the country diverted to the Southwest because the rates were made lower. The making of rates to intending settlers is an important factor, as experience has demonstrated. Again the objection in placing the limit for these excusions so far ahead is that the home-seeker may make his calculations in advance, knowing that when he is ready to move the low rates will be in force.

The homeseekers going to the far West are really in search of homes.
For two years little other travel has taken advantage of these rates. This would not be true of Eastern roads if such rates were adopted. The traveling public would monopolize such reduction, and perhaps the broker might benefit.

As a business proposition it is but in line with J. J. Hill's shrewd foresight.
His road differs materially from others.
It is operated and controlled largely by one man, and is conducted as he would conduct a private business. He knows that when the country along his road is settled up he will have more business. If no inducements were offered to the settlement of the millions of acres of land along the Great Northern it might be a great many years before the traffic of the road would equal its facilities.

The only way to make any business pay is to work it to its fullest capacity, and nowhere is this more apparent than in railroad. If twenty trains can find work where now only one is operated the proportionate increase in revenue will be more than twenty times as great, and the production of revenue is the fundamental and final object in operating a railroad. All the traffic it can handle is none too much.

This is evidently Mr. Hill's object in settling up the vacant lands. He is long-headed enough to see that by sacrificing a few dollars in railroad fare now he will reap thousands in the near future through the industry of these same homeseekers in the development of the country.

Ordinary methods would be too slow. There are long stretches on the Great Northern, as there are on all of the transcontinental roads, where there is no business whatever for the road. There are sections where, if they could be separated from the system, would show great loss. Many miles of unprofitable trackage is often represented in a district which as a whole returns a profit, and there is no way to make every mile profitable except by increasing the traffic. The traffic can only be increased by settlement and development.

The growth of the great West may go on for a century. Its vacant lands may all be taken up in twenty years, or they may be absorbed in five years, depending upon the energy displayed in settlement; but if the land is brought under cultivation in five years instead of twenty years it is quite apparent that the railroads will have the advantage of fifteen years of increased traffic, every year increasing over the other, and with the diversity of interests represented, decreasing the liability to crop failures.

That is what the Great Northern proposes to do, and this is what other roads will do if the management can ever see beyond the immediate returns of revenue and adopt a more liberal policy. For further information, address A. C. Harvey, 536 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa.

SENATOR SIMMONS.

The Raleigh News-Observer has the following nice and truthful article about our next senator:

The senatorial primary resulted in the election of Hon. Furnifold M. Simmons to the United States senate. The majority is so large that there can be no doubt in any man's mind that he is the choice of the Democratic party of the State. It shows that the people carried out the resolution that was general after the victory of 1898 to give the State chairman the high honor of the senatorial toga as a reward for the ability and generalship he displayed in leading the party hosts in the strenuous campaign that redeemed the State from Radical rule.

Mr. Simmons will go into the senate well equipped by former legislative experience, having served with ability two terms in the house of representatives. He is an able lawyer, a successful party leader, a prodigious worker, an astute politician, an eloquent debator and a man of versatile talent. Since he reached manhood, Mr. Simmons has been a consistent and active Democrat. He has always stood true to the Democratic principles and policies, and in sunshine and in shadow has never failed to work for the success of his party.

In the higher field to which he has been called, Mr. Simmons will represent the best sentiment of the State and stand by Democratic policies, of which Bryan is the best exponent.

RANG THE WRONG BELL.

"I never felt so mortified in my life," said the South side girl to her friend on her return to Chicago. "I'm not used to the big hotels, you know, and we had rooms at the Palmer House. We got in at night, four of us, three women that I didn't know very well and myself. They are married to members of papa's post, and that is why we were together. One of them wanted to send a postal card home to tell of her safe arrival," quotes the Pittsburg News. "She said she would go down stairs for it. To show them that I had often stopped at big hotels, which I didn't, I said we would call a boy and have a postal card brought to our room. I rang the bell, and in a little while a knock came. I went to the door, and the boy gave me a pitcher of ice water and hurried away. I thought that wasn't the boy answering the bell. So I waited and rang again. Another pitcher of ice water came. The boy got away again. I was determined to have the postal and rang the third time. This time I waited at the door for the boy. He came, and before I could open my mouth he handed me a pitcher of ice water and scooted away. I got angry and I just made that old bell ring the fourth time. He had another pitcher of ice water.

"Lady," he said, "if you want any more ice water you'll have to send back some of those pitchers; we're running short of them."

A Village Blacksmith Saved His Little Son's Life.

Mr. H. H. Black, the well-known village blacksmith at Grahamville, Sullivan Co., N. Y., says: "Our little son, five years old, has always been subject to croup, and so bad have the attacks been that we have feared many times that he would die. We have had the doctor and used many medicines, but Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is now our sole reliance. It seems to dissolve the tough mucous and by giving frequent doses when the croupy symptoms appear we have found that the divided croup is cured before it gets settled." There is no danger in giving this remedy for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a babe as to an adult. For sale by

END OF THE CENTURY.

The Exit of the Old and the Advent of the New to Be Celebrated Baltimore Sun.

As only a few weeks of the nineteenth century remain, it is of interest to note that the twentieth is to be welcomed in Paris and elsewhere with appropriate ceremonies. Paris has decided that the present year belongs to the nineteenth century and will not dismiss it without a masked ball, December 31, in which each participant will by his costume personify, so to speak, one of the great inventions or events of a marvelous century. There is to be a series of festivities, but the dance of the symbolic characters will doubtless be the most entertaining. A German, in which the railway, automobile, phonograph, typewriter, sewing machine, street car and telephone waltz through giddy mazes with the steamboat, telegraph, cotton gin, Boer war, Mergenthaler's linotype, relief of Pekin, antioxin, aseptic surgery, battle of Bull Run, Waterloo, liquid air, Sedan, the lithograph, daguerretype and Hoe printing press would be entertaining, if not instructive.

The century now ending has been full of sad events, but it has also produced more than all preceding centuries to make human life easier and happier. Discovery, invention, education and culture have at the same time multiplied the food supply and the comforts of life for the masses of the people and have developed philanthropic sentiment to such an extent that the hard conditions of former times are largely obsolete.
Ignorance, poverty, suffering and imprisonment are now mitigated greatly by the increased material prosperity of most civilized races and by the increased disposition of individuals and states to share with the unfortunate the proceeds of the increased productivity of labor helped by machinery. The luxuries of the rich in 1800 are the necessities of life for the poor in 1900. There has been in this regard a large amount of progress in the century now ending. So far as the happiness of life depends upon material conditions it has been greatly promoted. Looking back over the changes of 100 years one cannot but see reason to expect further desirable changes in the condition of mankind in the century to come.

NEEDS NO RECONSTRUCTION.

Senator Morgan.

The Democratic party needs no reconstruction. It needs fidelity to its creed, which has stood for 100 years.
At present it demands the payment of the national debt and a return to the "specie basis" for banking. It demands the restoration to the States of the exclusive right to determine the qualifications of voters. It demands that all Federal taxation shall be equal and uniform in places within the limits of the United States. It demands the suppression of trusts, especially the corporations, in respect of all articles of commerce, that are subjects of interstate and foreign commerce. If Democracy adheres to these demands our present defeat will be only temporary.

If we could get a consensus of honest opinions from foreigners we should not doubt be told that our dominant national trait is—bad manners. We probably never shall live down the effect produced by the swaggering rich "trippers" and striking girls who first represented us in Europe. They still are believed to be the true American types. "The American vulgarizes all that he touches has everywhere passed into an adage—"An American mother," in the November Ladies' Home Journal.

TO WASH FLANNEL.

The washing of flannels is a very serious and important undertaking unless one can afford to throw them aside and buy new after they have been washed a few times. The first washing makes or mars their future usefulness, and if great care is taken with the first bath they will not be apt to shrink so much afterward.
There is a diversity of opinion as to the temperature of the water to be used, but I have seen the best results obtained when flannels are washed in warm, sudsy water. Have all the changes of water of the same temperature and also the air in which they are dried; dry them in the house by the warm sunshine, as sudden changes will shrink any woolen fabric.

Flannels should always be washed by themselves, and not after the usual weekly washing, but in nice clean suds of warm soft water, prepared especially for them. Shake the garments well to free them from dust and lint before laying them in the water. Prepare the suds by making a good lather, then wash as quickly as possible by rubbing between the hands.
Wash in a second suds prepared like the first, then rinse in clear warm water. Wring as dry as possible and shake well before hanging out to dry.
If the garments are stretched and pulled into shape several times during the drying process they will dry with few wrinkles, and will be much easier to press smooth. They should be ironed on the wrong side before they are quite dry with a moderately hot iron. Flannel always washed in this way will keep white and soft as long as it lasts.

Flannel waists and dress goods, either white or colored, can be washed in the suds with equally as good results. After they have been carefully rinsed, brush and shake the pieces and remove all grease spots before putting the cloth in the suds. French chalk, fuller's earth and gasoline are all excellent for removing grease spots.
For any delicate colors add one tablespoonful of beef gall to the wash and rinse water and dry in the shade.
Iron on the wrong side lengthwise of the goods over a piece of thin muslin and perfectly dry and smooth before the iron is removed.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible for you, rest in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boeche's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but always inflammation causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world.
