

CHURCH DIRECTORY

METHODIST.
Sunday School at 9:30 A. M.
Pastor, E. WILSON, Suppt.
Preaching at 11 A. M., and 8 P. M.
every Sunday.
Prayer meeting Wednesday night.
Pastor, E. WILSON, Suppt.

BAPTIST.
Sunday School at 9:30 A. M.
Pastor, E. WILSON, Suppt.
Preaching at 11 A. M., and 8 P. M.
every Sunday.
Prayer meeting Thursday night.
Pastor, E. WILSON, Suppt.

EPISCOPAL.
Sunday School at 9:30.
Services, morning and night, on 1st, 3rd and 4th Sundays.
Evening Prayer, Friday afternoon.
ALBAN GIBBENS, Rector.

CHAMP CLARK'S LETTER

Fifty-seventh Congress Organized.

SCENE VERY IMPRESSIVE.

Most Powerful Legislative Body In The World.

SPEAKER A POTENT PERSONAGE.

Second in the Land in Governmental Affairs. Vice President of the Senate. Clerk of the House. Some of the most powerful men in the world. The Fifty-seventh Congress is organized and is now ready for business. It is an impressive scene to witness the organization of the most powerful legislative body in the world, for much of the nation is dependent upon its action and protection in the two ensuing years. Over in the house, where everything is burnished and new desks, new carpets, new furniture, promptly at high noon, Washington, Major McDowell of Pennsylvania, Mr. P. F. Watson of the speaker's pulpit, seized the speaker's gavel, calls the house to order and requests the blind chaplain, Dr. Couden, to pray, which he does fervently, pathetically and in extenso, after which General David Bremner Henderson of Iowa, upon being re-elected speaker, ascends to his lofty perch, lays hold of his gavel, delivers his inaugural, takes the oath and becomes the second most powerful personage in the land, for in point of power the vice president is not to be compared to the speaker. The V. P. is a more figurehead. Old Ben Franklin wittily proposed to name him "your superfluous highness." He is at best a waiter for a dead man's shoes, while the speaker is a most potent factor in legislative and governmental affairs. General Henderson is the picture of health as he returns his thanks for the high honor just bestowed.

ate that if all the ambitions, hopes and schemes harbored in the 450 heads of those two bodies, could be dragged forth and put into print, what an eye opener it would be! How many of that number are fabricating plans to supplant Colonel Roosevelt in the greatly coveted and garish mansion which he now occupies, for it is certain that he will not be nominated by default? How many are plotting to get the vice presidential nomination for a second time as two and two make four one result of President McKinley's death will be to increase the number of aspirants for special place. Of course, any man would rather be elected to this position than to inhabit it by death. It is better to reach the presidency in the latter way than not at all, so hereafter candidates for V. P. will be plentiful as berries in June. How many are plotting to win an honorable fame by accomplishing something notable for their country? All, I hope. How many are carrying concealed about their persons axes which they desire to grind? Too many, I fear. How many upon taking stock, on high noon March 4, 1903, will find that they have done their country any good or increased their own fame? None may tell. Let us hope that all will so find.

From the foregoing it will be observed that the speaker delivers his inaugural address before he takes the oath of office, which looks like the old and condemned performance of putting the cart before the horse. Wherefore, never heard of, but one explanation for this reversal of what appears to be the natural order of procedure, and that was by a cynic, who declared that by making his speech before he was sworn the speaker had greater latitude in making promises. It may be noted in passing that the president also delivers his inaugural and then takes the oath. It is a strange historic truth that at least two presidents took the oath of office privately before being sworn in publicly. They were Andrew Jackson and Arthur. Hayes because General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

CONDENSED STORIES.

When John Meech Carried His Audience With Him.

A standing joke for years among actors has been an expression about carrying an audience along with one's company. "I shall carry my own band and orchestra with me next season," says a manager in discussing his plans. "Better carry your own audience, too," replies a listener. "But there is no record one example of a manager's doing that very thing. Some years ago John H. Meech put on his son as a star in an old comedy called "Arabian Nights." The performance was bad, and the audience was grotesquely small. But Meech was undaunted. He had decided to bring his son before the public notice or die in the attempt. The last stand of the tour was Lancaster, N. Y., a village of about 3,000 population lying ten miles outside of Buffalo. The day of the performance Meech came to a young man in Buffalo named Everson and requested his presence at the performance. So Everson journeyed to Lancaster. When he entered the theater, there were about 200 persons in the evening dress, in the house. Everson afterward said that he never saw a worse performance in his life and never a more enthusiastic audience. Almost every line met with a hearty laugh or boisterous applause. At the conclusion of each act the performers were called before the curtain. Still wondering, Everson walked out to the front of the house after the performance. Meech met him and told him that two special trolley cars were waiting to take the audience home. "Are all these people going back to Buffalo tonight?" asked Everson. "Oh, yes," answered Meech. "I thought with me. I was bound to have an audience." "Well, what—what were the actual receipts tonight, if I may ask?" continued Everson. "Two dollars and twenty-five cents," replied Meech. "You see, I couldn't charge my guests." And the entire audience entered the cars that Meech had chartered and returned to Buffalo.

One More "Lass."

The Belle Plaine (Kan.) Defender remarks: "Horseless carriages, wireless telegraphy, smokeless powder, harmless cattle, seedless raisins and hairless dudes have long been the vogue, but this year the fad seems to have taken hold of the farmers all over the country, and they have raised carless cows."

ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Proper Way to Perform an Unpleasant Part of Housework.

By system and by making use of the many little helps now to be had at trifling cost even dishwashing, which most women pronounce the most onerous duty of the whole routine of housework—and one ceases to wonder at the verdict which contemplating the way the work is ordinarily done—may be robbed of its unpleasantness.

That there is a right way to accomplish this task should go without saying, and as it must go on indefinitely, to a greater or less extent, in all homes the right way is well worth knowing. The process should begin instead of end, as is the common practice, with the cooking vessels, says Katherine M'Gee. "Clean as you go" is the motto every cook should conscientiously follow. There is no wiser economy of time, to say nothing of labor.

As soon as the contents of a pot or pan are turned into the serving dish the waste should at once be washed, wiped and placed on the back of the range to dry thoroughly. This can be easily and speedily accomplished if a wire dishrag and pot scraper are used.

If, as is sometimes the case, this plan is not feasible, fill each vessel with water and cover closely, the greasy ones with hot water, but those in which eggs, potatoes or any flour mixture has been cooked with cold water. In the latter instance hot water would serve only to form a crust and make the work of cleansing doubly hard.

Iron or porcelain lined vessels are best for cooking purposes. Tin, brass and copper are liable to be affected by acids, oils and salt, and in the hands of the careless are very dangerous. Tin vessels should be kept free from rust. This can best be accomplished by rubbing them well when new with lard, then standing them in the oven until they are thoroughly heated. Wipe dry after each washing. When brass is used for cooking are in daily use, they require not only to be well washed in hot soda, but also in a hot solution of vinegar and salt, then to be rinsed well and carefully dried.

NICK A DOG

Kick a dog and he bites you! He bites you and you kick him. The more you kick the more he bites and the more he bites the more you kick. Each makes the other worse.

A thin body makes thin blood. Thin blood makes a thin body. Each makes the other worse. If there is going to be a change the help must come from outside.

Scott's Emulsion is the right help. It breaks up such a combination. First it sets the stomach right. Then it enriches the blood. That strengthens the body and it begins to grow new flesh.

A strong body makes rich blood and rich blood makes a strong body. Each makes the other better. This is the way Scott's Emulsion puts the thin body on its feet. Now it can get along by itself. No need of medicine.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS

D. R. S. BURT,
FRACTURING PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON.
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office in the Ford Building, corner Main and Nash streets. Up stairs—front.

D. R. P. YARBOROUGH,
PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office 2nd-3rd floor, building, phone 22. Night calls answered from 22, W. Bickett's residence, phone 74.

B. E. MASSENBURG,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Will practice in all the courts of the State. Office in Court House.

C. M. COOKE & SON,
ATTORNEYS AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Will attend the courts of Nash, Franklin, Granville, Warren and Wake counties, also the Supreme Court of North Carolina, and the U. S. Circuit and District Courts.

D. R. E. MALONE,
FRACTURING PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office over Stokes & Ferguson's.

D. R. E. POSTER,
FRACTURING PHYSICIAN & SURGEON,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office over Aycock Drug Company.

W. M. HAYWOOD RUFFIN,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Will practice in all the Courts of Franklin and adjoining counties, also in the Supreme Court, and in the United States District and Circuit Courts. Office in Cooper and Clifton Building.

T. HOS. B. WILDER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office on Main street, over Jones & Cooper's.

F. S. SPIRULLE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Will attend the courts of Franklin, Vance, Granville, Warren and Wake counties, also the Supreme Court of North Carolina. Prompt attention given to collections. Office over Aycock's Store.

T. W. BICKETT,
ATTORNEY AND COUNSELLOR AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Prompt and painstaking attention given to every matter intrusted to his hands. Refers to Chief Justice Stephens, Hon. John Manning, Hon. R. W. Winston, Hon. A. C. Saxon, Pres. First National Bank of W. Va., Hon. G. M. W. Timberlake, Pres. Wake Forest College, Hon. E. W. Timberlake, Hon. J. M. Pearson.

W. M. PEARSON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Practices in all courts. Office in Nash Building.

W. H. YARBOROUGH, JR.,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office in Opera House building, Court street. All legal business intrusted to him will receive prompt and careful attention.

D. R. B. KING,
DENTIST,
LOUISBURG, N. C.
Office over Aycock Drug Company.

Two Blind Chaplains.

Over in the senate, which is a continuing body, President Pro Tem. William P. Frye of Maine called to order the eighty-eight senators from forty-four states, the forty-fifth—Delaware—being unrepresented—because of Adick's and his boodles. Senator Frye asked the blind chaplain, Dr. Milburn, to pray, which he did with greatunction, eloquence, learning and not power. One of Dr. Milburn's most elaborate prayers is equal in comprehensiveness to a president's message. His prayer at the opening of the session was a great function.

It is observed from the foregoing that both the chaplain of the house and his brother of the senate are blind as bats. I have often wondered whether it is another case of the blind leading the blind and all tumbling into the ditch together. We get there often enough anyway. Dr. Milburn has a queer light—whenever he meets a person whom he knows, or when he is introduced to a stranger, he shakes hands cordially and says in a most cheery voice, "I am glad to see you" just as though he had two good eyes. He also has a very entertaining book entitled "What a Blind Man Saw in Europe." In passing it may be stated that both Dr. Milburn and Dr. Couden are most delightful companions and manage to extract much pleasure from the notwithstanding that they cannot see the beauties of this earth.

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

HOTELS.

FRANKLINTON HOTEL
FRANKLINTON, N. C.
SAML MERRILL, Prop.
Good accommodation for the traveling public.
Good Livery Attached.

MASSENBURG HOTEL
J. P. Massenburgh Prop.
Good accommodations. Good fare. Polite and attentive servants.

NORWOOD HOUSE
W. J. NORWOOD, Proprietor.
Favorable of Commercial Tourists and traveling stable Soldiers.
Good Sample Room.

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is to eat breakfast, dinner and supper with his guns beside him and his cartridge belt buckled about his waist. Quaker pacification, that!

Signs of Disintegration.

It is high time that Otto, MacArthur or some other commanding general issue another pronouncement declaring for the seventh time that the war is over in the Philippines; otherwise people will wonder at the curious order of General Smith, which makes it necessary for every soldier in the islands of Samar and Leyte to see to it that he is never separated from his arms, even at mealtime. No matter how inconvenient it may be, he is