[Special Washington Letter.] URRAH for J. R. Williams of Illinois, commonly known as "Bob!" A Republican legislature so gerrymandered the state as to put him into a district Republican by 2,200 majority.

They thought they had finally done for Bob, but-The best laid plans o' mice an' men Gang att agley. Just so in this case. Bob was to be snowed under, but Bob carried the district by nearly 300. Bully for Boh! Well done, Robert! Another caper or two like that and James Robert Williams will become a presidential possibility. He is able; he is courageous: he is clean; he is aggressive; he lives in Illinois, Everybody will rejoice at his great victory except the defeated plotters who supposed and hoped that they were well rid of him. His triumph shows what may be accomplished by a vigorous and well managed campaign. Out-Heroding Herod. No wonder that Senator John C. Spooner's vocal chords gave way. It's wonder he did not faint dead away. He has great reputation for wisdom, and I have exploited him somewhat for the Republican presidential nomination-the nomination, not the election, mind you-but he achieved "the bad eminence" of making the most thoroughly un-American utterance heard during the last campaign. He said—and it is most unfortunate for his fame that he said it-"If we could elect a good, strong Republican presibetter for the country. I believe the try. Even Alexander Hamilton, the father of the Republican party, the great advocate of an aristocratic feature in our governmental system, while he advocated life tenure for senators advocated only a seven year system for president. Senator Spooner "raises" to twenty for "a good, strong Republican president like Theodore Roosevelt." Reasonable men will regret that Senator Spooner said that Again Addicks. Once more the utter hypocrisy of the ware. Through the machinations of two years, and now Addicks comes up again, smiling serenely, with the grim determination of having for himself a most unfortunately, the Democrats ballot in the legislature. If they had elected one more man to the legislature, they would have elected two United States senators, a chance which comes to very few legislatures in this world. Just why the Democrats do not unite with the anti-Addicks Republicans, who presumably are the more decent of the two factions, and elect one Democrat and one Republican nobody except themselves seems to know, or, if the anti-Addicks Republicans are bonest in their desire to rid themselves of Addicks, it is hard to understand why they do not assist the Democrats to elect two Democratic senators. Republican Boodle.

Of course the use of boodle in elections is all wrong, by whomsoever practiced (that goes without saying). but just why it is a mortal sin in Democrats and a matter of jest for Republicans to practice it passeth all hu-Washington Post of Nov. 5 contains this squib: "That noise which came from the west early yesterday morning was caused by Hon. Charles Dick slamming down the cover of his checkbook." Now, there is a facetious reference to Republican boodling - it's funny in a Republican. Who is Hon. Charles Dick? He is General Charles Dick, an Ohio Republican representative in congress, chairman of the Ohio Republican state committee, the bosom crony and favorite pupil of Senator Marcus A. Hanna, chairman of the Republican national committee. If General Dick was slamming down the cover of his checkbook, it follows as the night the day that he had had itopen to influence the Buckeye voters, and if it was necessary for boodle to be used in Ohlo, which is generally considered a sure thing for the Repubilcans, it may be easily imagined what the Republican owners of checkbooks were doing in more doubtful states. Everybody is always howling about the corruption of Tammany, which is bad enough, no doubt, but rarely is a word said about the corruption of the Philadelphia and Pittsburg Republican hich can give Tammany cards and spades and beat it. Why make flesh of one and fowl of another?

The Best Re medy For Croup.

This is the searon when the woman who knows the best remedies for croup is in demand in every neighborhood. Case of the most terrible things in the world is to be awakened in the middle of the night by a whoop from one of the children. The group remedies are almost are sure to be lost, in case of oronp, as a revelver is sure to be lost in case of burglars. There used to be an oldfashiomed remedy for croup, known as hive syrup and tolu, but some modern, mothers say that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better, and does not cost so much. It causes the patient to 'throw up the phierm' quicker, and gives redief in a short time. Give this remedy as soon as the croupy cough appears and it will prevent the attack. would do so are now in a frame of mind to do some more or less vigorous cussing. The Globe-Democrat based its hopes on slandering the state and the majority of her citizens, but the foul slanders reacted on the head of the Globe-Democrat andeits party. It reiterated time and again in every conceivable form which its ingenuity could suggest that the Democrats had taken, stolen and carried away the entire public school fund, amounting to nearly $4,500,000, when the various school districts were drawing regularly the interest on the school funds year by year, and it takes an awful fool not to know that thieves do not pay interest on what they steal. The Globe-Democrat did not carry the state on its platform of slander, but in all human probability it kept several thousand people from settling in the state and kept out hundreds of millions of wealth which would have been brought into Missouri but for its malicious charges. 'It is a dirty bird that belouls its own nest" is a saying peculiarly applicable to the Globe-Democrat. The Washington Post, which all along has made fun of the Globe-Democrat's prophecies of Republican victory in Missouri, says in its issue of Nov. 5, "We hasten to

An Unnecessary Handicap.

In the recent campaign Democratic nominees had to carry an unnecessary handicap by reason of the jabber of dent like Theodore Roosevelt and a Senator John T. Morgan of Alabama to is the man that bloweth his own been, strong Republican senate and house the effect that it would be a bad thing for a term of twenty years, it would be for the Democrats to have the next house of representatives. Does anybody believe for one moment that Senator Morgan would have been enamored of that theory? Not a bit of it. Indeed he was willing to help sink them, for lack one of having a majority on joint | that is precisely the effect that his declarations had on all who were running for congress. By what right did he assume to say that a Democratic house would be detrimental to the party? There are those -by no means obscure Democrats elther-who believe that some of Senator Morgan's utterances in the senate and out of it have been more detrimental to the party than a Democratic house would have been. How does Hon. John Tyler Morgan relish that sort of talk? The senator should peruse "Put Yourself In His Place." Evidently it would do him good, and the next time 886 Democratic candidates are fighting an uphill battle he may at least be induced to extend to them if not a helping hand at least the charity of his silence, if silence is not with him an utter impossibility. If he must talk during a campaign, he should seek the seclusion of a primeval forest and not man understanding. For example, the the society of reporters. Then he will

The President's Status. The signs of the times indicate that only one man of eminence in the United States has improved his status this year, and that is President Roosevelt. He is a much more commanding figure now than he was when congress adjourned in July. Then his chances of securing the nomination, to say nothing of the election, were not more than one out of three. Now they are easily two to one. He may not have a cinch on it, but he comes very near it. A great opportunity came to him, and he seized if with resolute hand, thereby saving his party from utter rout and ruin in the eastern states. The next house is Republican because, and only because, Theodore Roosevelt settled the great anthracite coal strike, whereas his masterful great rival, Senator Marcas A. Hanna, tried to settle it and failed. It will be amusing now to watch the supple Republican courtiers fawn upon Roosevelt—the very same Republicans who in July and August were cursing him under their breath as a "marplot," "bull in the ching shop," etc. "To shout with the multitude conbit of cynical philosophy which the Republican leaders believe in and act upon. The world shouts for Colonel Roosevelt now. Ukewise the Republican chieftains. Three months ago they were against him almost to a man and were busy grooming Senator Hanna for the highest office in the world. At this time it seems that President Boosevelt. has his destiny in his own hands and unless he does something later on to the knock the fat into the fire will be nominated.

Amazing Cheek. For unadulterated and monumental fall commend us to Hon. John Barrett of Massachusetts, late minister to Biam and now world's fair commissioner general to the effete east. He had some sort of an audience with the emperor of China, and here is the way his secretary, Hon. Thesdore Harden, describes the august event to a gaptug and dumfounded world:

The unprecedented honor of being to the dais treelf of the Ron of Heaven's throne to engage in personal conversation with the emperor and empress downger of China has just been shown John Barrett, fortuerly American minister to Slam, new commissioner gen eral to Ania for the St. Louis world's fair and Minister Conger, who presented the commissioner general to their majesties on July 26. This innovation in repail propedure, where heretofore conservations has made the Chinese court known as the most exclusive in the world is strikingly interesting and significant.
Not content with granting Mr. Barrett

the first audience in the history of Peking ever given 40 a foreign commissioner on a similar mission, "the emperor and empress downger took advantage of the occasion to ask him numerous questions about American President Roosevelt and the character and extent of the Louisiann Purchase exposition. To do this they violated all precedents and setonished the array of princes and courtiers present by requesting Commissioner Harrett and Minister Conger to step upon the sacred throne platform itself. For ten minutes or more their majorties exchanged words with these two American representatives while the surrounding officials looked on In apparent surprise that no harm beful them for dering to approach so near to the Son of Heaven. Their majusties anforward our sympathy to the valued nounced that they not only would large an edlet that China should participate in the world's fair, but would send to imperial commissioner to represent them. specially, requested Commissioner General Barrett to convey to President Roosevell their deep approctation of the attitude of

> That remarkable excerpt recalls Mark Twain's famous dictum, "Blossed lest it be not blown." The best thing the Louisiana Purchase exposition managers could do would be to recall Commissioner General Barrett forthwith and to squeich his secretary Leze Majesty.

Senator Morgan cannot plead grabbers if he does not suddenly check ignorance, for he is not ignorant. It is himself in the mad career upon which very easy-indeed easy as falling off a be has entered, for in a recent editorial log, and a slippery log at that-for a commenting on England's war upon man who is just entering upon a six "the Mnd Mollah," he has the impodence to say this:

We suppose that the whole trouble is due to a conviction lodged somewhere the British mind that the Mad Molish s country and people are righty endowed with portable property of some kind. It feated. It is an easy thing to do; but | is a conviction which has always fired the every part of the world to which a retine and territories lay under this dark sixpicion. For more than four conturies the Anglo-Baxons have been ready at all times to go forth into the four numbers of the earth at the barest mention of a dividend in marketable plunder. They have overrun India for gold and fewels and builled and persecuted China by way of propagating the opium trade-with China: they have harried the Dutch in Africa since the beginning of the nineteenth diamonds twenty-five or thirty years ago. converted them into exterminators and set in motion armies such as England has not put affoat or afoot in all her circuleal career. They are the same old fleres and loody minded spoliators that sailed forth from Scandinavia in the dark ages and ravaged every land that could not help it-As for Somaliland and the Mad Mollah we wait for further information. May be, after all, they are worth looting.

Now I submit that things are coming to a pretty pass when an American editor right under the nose of Mr. Secretary of State Hay is permitted to talk in that strain about England, under the protection of whose guns, according to Joseph Chamberlain, we negotiated the calamitons treaty of Paris. It's misprision of treason at

Rather Severe. Every once in awhile some preacher takes a fall out of the secular press. and then once in awhile some editor of a secular newspaper takes a fall out of some particular preacher. The following editorial from the New York Press is more or less severe: The style of Wall street preaching has changed somewhat in the last century and Those fine old fellows-l'ayeon, Whitefield, Wesley, Jonathan Edwards, Caldwell, Witherspoon and Burr (father of Aaron and founder of Princeton university)-stood out in the clear light of heaven and flung the gospel lists the open board from the curbstone. They called things by their right names and saved sinners—possibly. The Rev. Dr. Morgan Dix, who has been preaching at one end of the street for forty-years, paid less at tention to its habitues than any other clergyman in town. To all intents and purposes he does not and never did know that such an institution as the Stock Exchange exists. No open air thunderings for him! He prefers his priestly robus in the quiet pulpit of old Trinity. More word of mouth would never convert a listen to preaching. But with a glasce of the eye as he hurries across the street he can take in the whole silent sermon preached by the venerable odifice of a religious corporation that owns property worth in round numbers $100,000,000 on which it has never paid $1 in taxes. What sort of sermon is it? The gospel of wealth hangs its benner on the outer wall, and the cry is, "Still they come!" We were a deeply plous community as long as the spire of Trinity pierced the sky, but since it now pierces only the upper atmosphere of a skyscraper we are grown wicked again. As Mammon ascends
